58,000 Loss For Reds Is UN Report

Report Covers 150-Mile Front; Losses Counted Since Aug. 18 When Battle Began

UN Totals Light

Deaths, Wounds Are Light, Is Report; No Ground Lost

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sept. 24 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet today said his Eighth Army has killed or wounded 58,000 Communist soldiers in Korea since Aug. 18.

The report covered the entire 150-mile front.

About 80 per cent of the Red losses were in the bloody "battle of the Hills" in eastern Korea.

The figure represents almost six Red divisions.

Van Fleet said 2,800 Reds were taken prisoner in the same period.

The casualty tolls of killed or wounded have been "evaluated." That is the army's term for the final estimate after all field accounts and reports have been discounted for possible duplication or exaggeration.

Since the Allies pushed off on limited offensives in eastern Korea they have captured enough materiel to equip nearly a full Red division, the Eighth Army said.

Most of the Red losses were incurred after the Reds broke off the Kaesong truce talks Aug. 23.

UN Losses Light

During this period United Nations losses have been comparatively light. UN troops have smashed forward up to 15 miles and captured scores of important hills on the eastern front.

The Allies have not lost a yard of ground in either North or South Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said more than 800 Communist trucks were destroyed or damaged on the west central front in predawn attacks Monday.

Pilots said they spotted about 2,000 vehicles. They reported 375 blown up or burned and 426 damaged.

A pooled dispatch said the Fifth Air Force also reported an estimated 200 Red troop casualties. The largest group was found southwest of Chorwon where troops in deep bunkers were plastered with flaming napalm.

Two Sweeps Made

F-84 Thunder jets made two sweeps of MIG Alley in northwest Korea but found no Communist jets. Other allied warplanes cut rail tracks in 58 places.

The allied picture was not so bright in Monday's ground action. North Korean Reds launched a fierce counterattack and drove American infantrymen off the highest peak on "Heartbreak Ridge" in eastern Korea.

The Americans had gained control of the peak late Sunday night. Three doughboys—remnants of a platoon (about 40 men)—had stormed to the top. Reinforcements came up fast and threw back a Red charge.

But, AP Correspondent Stan Carter said, "an overwhelming mass" of Reds then struck from behind a curtain of grenade explosions.

For the second time in seven days the Reds recaptured the strategic height overlooking Communist supply lines to the north.

Tapped at Allies

Elsewhere on the east-central sector the Reds tapped at Allied lines in a series of stiff probing attacks. All were thrown back.

The remainder of the 150-mile battlefront was relatively inactive Monday, although scattered patrol clashes were reported.

A leaden sky with warmer temperatures covered most of the front.

Loss of the Heartbreak Peak was a bitter blow to the weary doughboys. They first captured the height Sept. 17 after a bitter hand to hand battle. They lost it the next day.

Monday's setback came just as it seemed the Allies were rounding out their five-week conquest of strategic high ground on the east-central front.

It left the United Nations with a hard choice: Hurl still heavier attacks against the deadly slope, or end the offensive without one of its greatest prizes.

Proximity To Red Line Is Factor

Called Regrettable

Red Failure to Accept Ridgway Proposal Is Cited

Tokyo, Sept. 24 (AP)—The United Nations command today told the Communists that Kaesong is unsuitable as a site for any future Korean armistice negotiations.

Allied liaison officers gave these reasons in a note handed Red liaison officers at Kaesong:

1. Kaesong is too close to the main Red supply line, under attack by allied warplanes.

2. Red and allied ground forces are in constant maneuver around the five-mile Kaesong neutral zone.

3. Uncontrolled partisan groups, responsible to neither command, are active in the area and could take action at any time which would again cause a breakup of talks.

The Reds called off the talks Aug. 23, charging an allied plane tried to "murder" the Red cease-fire delegation with a bomb the day before.

Called 'Regrettable'

"It is regrettable," the allies said, that the Reds didn't accept the original suggestion of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander, that the negotiations be held aboard the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia.

Ridgway proposed some other, more incident-proof site for the conference in a note to the Communists Sept. 6. He since has made clear that he wants better working conditions established for negotiators before he agrees to resumption of the conference.

UN and Red liaison officers met in Kaesong Monday morning to set up arrangements under which talks, if resumed, could make the most rapid progress possible.

About six hours later the Reds sent the allies a memorandum, contents of which were not disclosed by allied headquarters.

The liaison groups are scheduled to meet again Tuesday at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. Monday, E.S.T.).

Few Minutes Removed

Allied headquarters here said the Reds were told that "from the viewpoint of the military aviator, the Kaesong neutral zone is but a few minutes removed from the most important military line of supply in your rear area. Thousands of aircraft sorties are directed against this line of supply. The likelihood of an accidental occurrence involving Kaesong is obvious.

"The Communist commanders have alleged that a number of violations of the Kaesong neutral zone approaching the figure 200 have occurred. Could any fact argue more persuasively that Kaesong is unsuitable as a conference site?"

When the hour-long meeting ended, a Red officer left the conference room with a wide grin. UN officers were poker-faced.

Later an allied spokesman in Munsan, the UN advance base, said he did not know whether any progress had been made.

Earlier Monday the Reds said they wanted to discuss only a time and date for resuming negotiations.

The meeting brought together the same four men who met in Kaesong July 8 to arrange the first full dress armistice conference that began there two days later.

Delegates Named

Air Force Col. Andrew J. Kinney and Marine Col. James C. Murray represented the UN. Red delegates were North Korean Col. Chang Chun San and Chinese Lt. Col. Tsai Cheng-wen.

The conference came 32 days after the Reds broke off the talks Aug. 23. They charged then that an allied warplane had strafed Kaesong the night before. Allied headquarters rejected the charge. In the battle of invective which followed the Reds aired many similar charges. All but two were denied by the UN command.

Monday's meeting was scheduled for Panmunjon, Red outpost on the outer fringe of the Kaesong five-mile neutral zone. The Reds balked at waiting for the allied delegation to set up a tent.

Ill Luck Plagues Bag Factory Man

Car Stolen, Business Place Entered, Ransacked During Weekend

Ill luck became double trouble for Stanley Kaplan, of 775 Broadway, of the A. Kaplan Sons bag plant, Hasbrouck avenue and Catherine street, over the weekend.

Kaplan reported his car stolen at 11:35 a. m., Sunday, and today he learned that the downtown building housing the bag factory had been entered and ransacked.

Investigation at this point indicates no connection between the two incidents, however. The car which was stolen from in front of the Franklin Apartments on upper Broadway, was recovered yesterday in New York at York avenue and 77th street. The vandalism is believed to be the work of youngsters.

Police were notified this morning that the Kaplan building had been entered, apparently sometime Sunday, through a hole made near the loading door by removing brick.

The report said a jug of acid had been spilled on a case of thread, 10 quarts of oil in quart cans had been broken open with a ball pein hammer and spilled on the floor, fumigating chemicals had been spilled on some of the bags, and several bags were scattered over the place.

Police were notified that several youngsters had been chased away from the place at about 3 p. m. Sunday.

Two Men Are Sought

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Albany county jail guards and police were looking for two missing inmates today—inside the jail. Warden Rensselaer Taylor said last night he believed the men had not scaled the institution's 30-foot wall. He said the search was concentrated in the buildings and grounds. Thomas A. Curry, 29, of Newburgh, and Ronald E. Allaire, 24, of Bolton Landing, had been working in the paint shop. McCurry was serving a one-year term for non-support and for threatening his wife. Jail officials said Allaire had three weeks remaining of a six-month sentence for disorderly conduct.

Gambling Boss Insists He 'Can't Remember' How He Became Wealthy Man

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Acting on orders of Governor Dewey, the attorney general today appointed William B. Herlands as special prosecutor to handle matters related to the State Crime Commission's probe of Staten Island crime and corruption.

Herlands, 46, of New York city, was assistant U. S. attorney for the southern district of New York and a chief assistant to Dewey in the Governor's Manhattan racket-busting probe of 1935-37.

Dalessio Insists

New York, Sept., 24 (AP)—Reputed Staten Island gambling boss Michael Dalessio stubbornly insisted today that he "can't remember" the source of income that has made him a wealthy man.

Questioned by New York State's Crime Commission about where he got the money to pay for numerous properties he had bought, the nervous witness said repeatedly:

"I forget."

Dalessio—known as "Mickey Dee" and alleged ringmaster of Staten Island bookmaking—bluntly refused to answer some questions.

The commission is probing links between politics and crime in Richmond county (Staten Island).

The witness, who had clashed with investigators in a previous appearance Saturday, admitted that he paid $75,000 for the Bay Realty Company in 1942. Asked where he got the money, he said he could not remember because "it might intimidate me."

He said he understood that the company—which he still owns—now is worth $3,000,000.

He also testified that he had paid $75,000 for his 3,000-acre estate in Pennsylvania, but declined to say where he got the money. He also admitted owning half interest in the Great Kills Yacht Club.

Didn't Have Books

He said he couldn't answer questions about sources of his capital without his financial books, which he said were in the hands of his accountant.

Dalessio has failed to comply with commission orders to produce the books.

In answer to questions, he said he had borrowed money from the Staten Island National Bank and from a bank in East Stroudsburg, Pa.

"I owe the banks hundreds of thousands of dollars," he said. "I have borrowed thousands and thousands of dollars."

The commission's chief counsel, John Harlan, produced state in-

De Gasperi Says United Europe Can Maintain Defense

Italian Premier Addresses Joint Session of Congress — Will Relieve U. S.

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi of Italy told Congress today a united Europe would be able to take care of its own defense.

He addressed a joint session of the Senate and House a few hours after arriving for three days of talks with President Truman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other top officials.

"Europe once solidly united," the 70-year-old premier said, "will relieve you of your sacrifices in men and arms, for she will herself contrive the defense of her peace and common freedom."

De Gasperi reaffirmed Italy's desire that Trieste be returned to Italy as recommended by the Big Three in 1948. But this does not mean, he said, that Italians "are victims of a narrow nationalism."

Rather, he explained, it was evidence of Italy's wish "to consolidate our western coalition in Europe."

Expresses Appreciation

De Gasperi expressed appreciation for the stand taken by several members of congress in favor of revision of the Italian peace treaty.

"As free men," he said, "we wish to tell you we are grateful to you because, by demanding revision of our unfair peace treaty, you have acknowledged that an effective and staunch alliance can not exist without equality of rights and full recognition of the

Gildersleeve May Sell Business

Negotiations are in progress for the sale of the business of A. H. Gildersleeve & Son, 615 Broadway, wholesalers of fruits and vegetables, it was learned today.

Details of the transaction are not expected to be completed for several days, a spokesman for the concern said, and the name of the prospective new owner was withheld.

It was reported unofficially, however, that a Newburgh party is interested. It also has been reported that the transfer of title will not include the property.

Registration Is Scheduled Four Days in October

Registration for voters in the city will be held on four days next month, the Ulster County Board of Elections announced today.

The registration days here are the same as for all cities and villages in the state of 5,000 or more population. The dates and hours are: Oct. 5 and 6 from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. The date and hours are the same for Oct. 12, but on Oct. 13, the last day of registration, the hours are from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The dates and hours for non-personal registration outside cities or villages of 5,000 or more population are: Oct. 6 from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., and Oct. 13 from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Uranium Discovery in Texas Starts Official U. S. Probe

Albuquerque, Sept. 24 (AP)—The only thing known for sure about nearly 100 pounds of refined uranium found in two chunks at Dalhart, Tex., is that very little is known for sure.

The FBI and the Atomic Energy Commission presumably know something about it. But they're not talking.

One piece was found buried early this summer by three boys playing in a tree. The FBI found the second later on a scrap heap. The finds were announced Saturday night by University of New Mexico scientists who established that the metal was uranium.

This much is known: One piece weighs 33 pounds, the other 65 pounds. The metal has 18.6 times the density of water. It's black and tough and it's commercially pure uranium. And the AEC has it.

But the big questions remain unanswered:

Where did it come from? The AEC says probably from a government installation. The nearest one to Dalhart is top-secret, heavily guarded Los Alamos, N. M., some 300 miles away.

How much is it worth? Anywhere from $6 a pound (AEC estimate) to nearly $3500 a pound (commercial chemist estimate).

How did it get to Dalhart? Theories range from theft by an atom spy to the falling of a flaming green "fireball" of uranium. Some think a souvenir hunter may have ditched it in Dalhart.

Was the uranium stolen? The AEC prefers the word "taken."

If stolen, who took it? The FBI is investigating.

The AEC places the age of the pieces at seven or eight years. That would make them current

King Is Confident Of Final Recovery

Queen Sees George, No Others Can; Nation Reported Reassured

London, Sept. 24 (AP)—King George VI was reported in good spirits today and confident of recovery from a major lung operation.

A palace spokesman said Queen Elizabeth spent the morning with her husband, but that no other members of the royal family have been permitted to see him.

The spokesman was much more cheery than an earlier medical bulletin which merely reported that the king's condition was "as satisfactory as can be expected."

He told a reporter:

"The king is in good spirits, as far as one can be after an operation like this. He seems confident of his recovery.

"The queen has been with him this morning."

Reade Theatres Picketed Locally

Action Begins Saturday by Group Seeking Union Election

Cashiers, ushers, candy attendants and porters are picketing the three local Walter Reade theatres. The issue of a union election is reported to be the cause.

The three theatres affected are the Kingston, the Broadway and the 9W Drive-In.

Information as to the number of striking employes could not be obtained this morning from either management or union officials. A third source, however, estimated the number of striking employes at the three theatres at between 14 and 18. Mrs. Phoebe Van Wagenen, president of the union said this afternoon there are between 24 and 26 members affected by the situation at the local theatres.

Picket lines were thrown in front of the movie houses early Saturday afternoon, and matinee performances that day were canceled. Evening performances at the drive-in and the Broadway Theatre were canceled on Saturday, although the show went on as usual at the Kingston.

All performances were run according to schedule Sunday and Fred Bartholdi, city manager for Walter Reade's theatres, said today the usual schedule of shows will be followed at all three theatres.

Membership Claimed

Striking employes claim membership in Local B-42, I.A.T.S.E., affiliated with the A.F.L. Phoebe Van Wagenen is president of the local. Its membership includes cashiers, candy attendants, porters, cleaners, ticket takers and ushers.

(According to law, an employer may require a National Labor Relations Board election be held before accepting a union as representative for his employes for collective bargaining purposes. In order to designate a union as the collective bargaining agent, a majority of the employes must vote in favor of that union).

Reade Statement

The following statement relative to the dispute has been issued by Walter Reade, Jr.:

"Walter Reade Theatres have always been fair to its many employes. We have always employed union stage hands and motion picture operators from Local 637. The remainder of our employes have requested an independent union consisting of porters, ushers, doormen, cashiers and candy attendants. Even though we do not have such a union in any of our other enterprises we agreed to have an election under the supervision of the New York State Labor Board. This was not acceptable to some of our employes who struck without notice Saturday, September 22.

"We are ready and willing to employ any of our employes under

Three Families Are Made Homeless in West Shokan Fire

North End of Building Is Left Standing, but Suffers From Smoke, Water

Two properties in the lower Catskill mountain area were damaged by fire over the weekend, one at West Shokan and one at Phoenicia.

As a result of the fire at West Shokan three families were made homeless when a blaze, which started on an upper floor of the Colange apartment building at West Shokan, spread throughout a large portion of the building before it was brought under control by members of the West Shokan, Olive Bridge, Shokan and Woodstock fire departments.

Fire was discovered about 7:30 o'clock Saturday night in the large tenement building which prior to being converted to apartments, had been used for a boarding house. The fire at first was confined to a couple of rooms but spread rapidly and before the firemen had brought the flames under control the entire south end of the three-story frame building had

Moling Tells of Gifts

Says He Borrowed $6,100 From Official of Lithofold; Left Air Force

Washington Sept. 24 (AP)—A former government employe told today of receiving expensive gifts and borrowing $6,100 from an official of American Lithofold Corp. when that company was seeking printing contracts with the air force.

The testimony at a Senate inquiry came from Charles B. Moling, who said he left his $6,400-a-year publications job with the air forces last March to become the $25,000-a-year eastern division sales manager for American Lithofold.

Moling said Lithofold, a St. Louis printing firm, obtained a number of contracts from the air force but that he couldn't estimate how many or of what value. He declared that he never influenced, or tried to influence, the awarding of contracts.

Moling said he received gifts including a television set, a movie camera and projector, a ham and a turkey from a Lithofold official, Robert A. Blauner.

Blauner is the son of the company's president, R. J. Blauner. The younger Blauner is now in Cuba.

The Senate investigations subcommittee is looking into charges that American Lithofold used political influence to get $565,000 in loans from the government's Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

Incendiary Origin Blamed For $150,000 Hotel Blaze

Fire which damaged the Pinewood Hotel at Fleischmanns early Saturday morning was of incendiary origin, according to investigating officials of Delaware county and state police. It is also charged that the sprinkler system in the hotel was not in operating condition at the time the fire started. Shortly after arriving at the scene Saturday state police from the Margaretville station recovered evidence which was taken to their station for further study.

It was reported Saturday morning after the fire in the large summer hotel had been brought under control, that evidence of an incendiary origin had been uncovered on the premises and state police and the Delaware county district attorney would make an investigation.

Shortly after the fire was discovered in the hotel which was undergoing closing operations for the winter, it was reported fires had been discovered in two separate areas.

No official estimate of the loss was available but those who knew the premises claim the loss may reach $150,000. The newer portion of the hotel was not destroyed.

Deaths, Wounds Are Light, Is Report; No Ground Lost

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sept. 24 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet today said his Eighth Army has killed or wounded 58,000 Communist soldiers in Korea since Aug. 18.

The report covered the entire 150-mile front.

About 80 per cent of the Red losses were in the bloody "battle of the Hills" in eastern Korea.

The figure represents almost six Red divisions.

Van Fleet said 2,800 Reds were taken prisoner in the same period.

The casualty tolls of killed or wounded have been "evaluated." That is the army's term for the final estimate after all field accounts and reports have been discounted for possible duplication or exaggeration.

Since the Allies pushed off on limited offensives in eastern Korea they have captured enough materiel to equip nearly a full Red division, the Eighth Army said.

Most of the Red losses were incurred after the Reds broke off the Kaesong truce talks Aug. 23.

UN Losses Light

During this period United Nations losses have been comparatively light. UN troops have smashed forward up to 15 miles and captured scores of important hills on the eastern front.

The Allies have not lost a yard of ground in either North or South Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said more than 800 Communist trucks were destroyed or damaged on the west central front in predawn attacks Monday.

Pilots said they spotted about 2,000 vehicles. They reported 375 blown up or burned and 426 damaged.

A pooled dispatch said the Fifth Air Force also reported an estimated 200 Red troop casualties. The largest group was found southwest of Chorwon where troops in deep bunkers were plastered with flaming napalm.

Two Sweeps Made

F-84 Thunder jets made two sweeps of MIG Alley in northwest Korea but found no Communist jets. Other allied warplanes cut rail tracks in 58 places.

The allied picture was not so bright in Monday's ground action. North Korean Reds launched a fierce counterattack and drove American infantrymen off the highest peak on "Heartbreak Ridge" in eastern Korea.

The Americans had gained control of the peak late Sunday night. Three doughboys—remnants of a platoon (about 40 men)—had stormed to the top. Reinforcements came up fast and threw back a Red charge.

But, AP Correspondent Stan Carter said, "an overwhelming mass" of Reds then struck from behind a curtain of grenade explosions.

Tapped at Allies

Elsewhere on the east-central sector the Reds tapped at Allied lines in a series of stiff probing attacks. All were thrown back.

The remainder of the 150-mile battlefront was relatively inactive Monday, although scattered patrol clashes were reported.

A leaden sky with warmer temperatures covered most of the front.

Loss of the Heartbreak Peak was a bitter blow to the weary doughboys. They first captured the height Sept. 17 after a bitter hand to hand battle. They lost it the next day.

Monday's setback came just as it seemed the Allies were rounding out their five-week conquest of strategic high ground on the east-central front.

It left the United Nations with a hard choice: Hurl still heavier attacks against the deadly slope, or end the offensive without one of its greatest prizes.

Queen Sees George, No Others Can; Nation Reported Reassured

London, Sept. 24 (AP)—King George VI was reported in good spirits today and confident of recovery from a major lung operation.

A palace spokesman said Queen Elizabeth spent the morning with her husband, but that no other members of the royal family have been permitted to see him.

The spokesman was much more cheery than an earlier medical bulletin which merely reported that the king's condition was "as satisfactory as can be expected."

He told a reporter:

"The king is in good spirits, as far as one can be after an operation like this. He seems confident of his recovery.

Reade Theatres Picketed Locally

Action Begins Saturday by Group Seeking Union Election

Cashiers, ushers, candy attendants and porters are picketing the three local Walter Reade theatres. The issue of a union election is reported to be the cause.

The three theatres affected are the Kingston, the Broadway and the 9W Drive-In.

Information as to the number of striking employes could not be obtained this morning from either management or union officials. A third source, however, estimated the number of striking employes at the three theatres at between 14 and 18. Mrs. Phoebe Van Wagenen, president of the union said this afternoon there are between 24 and 26 members affected by the situation at the local theatres.

Picket lines were thrown in front of the movie houses early Saturday afternoon, and matinee performances that day were canceled. Evening performances at the drive-in and the Broadway Theatre were canceled on Saturday, although the show went on as usual at the Kingston.

All performances were run according to schedule Sunday and Fred Bartholdi, city manager for Walter Reade's theatres, said today the usual schedule of shows will be followed at all three theatres.

Membership Claimed

Striking employes claim membership in Local B-42, I.A.T.S.E., affiliated with the A.F.L. Phoebe Van Wagenen is president of the local. Its membership includes cashiers, candy attendants, porters, cleaners, ticket takers and ushers.

(According to law, an employer may require a National Labor Relations Board election be held before accepting a union as representative for his employes for collective bargaining purposes. In order to designate a union as the collective bargaining agent, a majority of the employes must vote in favor of that union).

Reade Statement

The following statement relative to the dispute has been issued by Walter Reade, Jr.:

"Walter Reade Theatres have always been fair to its many employes. We have always employed union stage hands and motion picture operators from Local 637. The remainder of our employes have requested an independent union consisting of porters, ushers, doormen, cashiers and candy attendants. Even though we do not have such a union in any of our other enterprises we agreed to have an election under the supervision of the New York State Labor Board. This was not acceptable to some of our employes who struck without notice Saturday, September 22.

Three Families Are Made Homeless in West Shokan Fire

Two properties in the lower Catskill mountain area were damaged by fire over the weekend, one at West Shokan and one at Phoenicia.

As a result of the fire at West Shokan three families were made homeless when a blaze, which started on an upper floor of the Colange apartment building at West Shokan, spread throughout a large portion of the building before it was brought under control by members of the West Shokan, Olive Bridge, Shokan and Woodstock fire departments.

Fire was discovered about 7:30 o'clock Saturday night in the large tenement building which prior to being converted to apartments, had been used for a boarding house. The fire at first was confined to a couple of rooms but spread rapidly and before the firemen had brought the flames under control the entire south end of the three-story frame building had

Washington Sept. 24 (AP)—A former government employe told today of receiving expensive gifts and borrowing $6,100 from an official of American Lithofold Corp. when that company was seeking printing contracts with the air force.

The testimony at a Senate inquiry came from Charles B. Moling, who said he left his $6,400-a-year publications job with the air forces last March to become the $25,000-a-year eastern division sales manager for American Lithofold.

Moling said Lithofold, a St. Louis printing firm, obtained a number of contracts from the air force but that he couldn't estimate how many or of what value. He declared that he never influenced, or tried to influence, the awarding of contracts.

Moling said he received gifts including a television set, a movie camera and projector, a ham and a turkey from a Lithofold official, Robert A. Blauner.

Blauner is the son of the company's president, R. J. Blauner. The younger Blauner is now in Cuba.

The Senate investigations subcommittee is looking into charges that American Lithofold used political influence to get $565,000 in loans from the government's Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

Incendiary Origin Blamed For $150,000 Hotel Blaze

Fire which damaged the Pinewood Hotel at Fleischmanns early Saturday morning was of incendiary origin, according to investigating officials of Delaware county and state police. It is also charged that the sprinkler system in the hotel was not in operating condition at the time the fire started. Shortly after arriving at the scene Saturday state police from the Margaretville station recovered evidence which was taken to their station for further study.

It was reported Saturday morning after the fire in the large summer hotel had been brought under control, that evidence of an incendiary origin had been uncovered on the premises and state police and the Delaware county district attorney would make an investigation.

Shortly after the fire was discovered in the hotel which was undergoing closing operations for the winter, it was reported fires had been discovered in two separate areas.

No official estimate of the loss was available but those who knew the premises claim the loss may reach $150,000. The newer portion of the hotel was not destroyed.

Proximity To Red Line Is Factor

Called Regrettable

Red Failure to Accept Ridgway Proposal Is Cited

Tokyo, Sept. 24 (AP)—The United Nations command today told the Communists that Kaesong is unsuitable as a site for any future Korean armistice negotiations.

Allied liaison officers gave these reasons in a note handed Red liaison officers at Kaesong:

1. Kaesong is too close to the main Red supply line, under attack by allied warplanes.

2. Red and allied ground forces are in constant maneuver around the five-mile Kaesong neutral zone.

3. Uncontrolled partisan groups, responsible to neither command, are active in the area and could take action at any time which would again cause a breakup of talks.

The Reds called off the talks Aug. 23, charging an allied plane tried to "murder" the Red cease-fire delegation with a bomb the day before.

Called 'Regrettable'

"It is regrettable," the allies said, that the Reds didn't accept the original suggestion of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander, that the negotiations be held aboard the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia.

Ridgway proposed some other, more incident-proof site for the conference in a note to the Communists Sept. 6. He since has made clear that he wants better working conditions established for negotiators before he agrees to resumption of the conference.

UN and Red liaison officers met in Kaesong Monday morning to set up arrangements under which talks, if resumed, could make the most rapid progress possible.

About six hours later the Reds sent the allies a memorandum, contents of which were not disclosed by allied headquarters.

The liaison groups are scheduled to meet again Tuesday at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. Monday, E.S.T.).

Few Minutes Removed

Allied headquarters here said the Reds were told that "from the viewpoint of the military aviator, the Kaesong neutral zone is but a few minutes removed from the most important military line of supply in your rear area. Thousands of aircraft sorties are directed against this line of supply. The likelihood of an accidental occurrence involving Kaesong is obvious.

"The Communist commanders have alleged that a number of violations of the Kaesong neutral zone approaching the figure 200 have occurred. Could any fact argue more persuasively that Kaesong is unsuitable as a conference site?"

When the hour-long meeting ended, a Red officer left the conference room with a wide grin. UN officers were poker-faced.

Later an allied spokesman in Munsan, the UN advance base, said he did not know whether any progress had been made.

Earlier Monday the Reds said they wanted to discuss only a time and date for resuming negotiations.

The meeting brought together the same four men who met in Kaesong July 8 to arrange the first full dress armistice conference that began there two days later.

Delegates Named

Air Force Col. Andrew J. Kinney and Marine Col. James C. Murray represented the UN. Red delegates were North Korean Col. Chang Chun San and Chinese Lt. Col. Tsai Cheng-wen.

The conference came 32 days after the Reds broke off the talks Aug. 23. They charged then that an allied warplane had strafed Kaesong the night before. Allied headquarters rejected the charge. In the battle of invective which followed the Reds aired many similar charges. All but two were denied by the UN command.

Monday's meeting was scheduled for Panmunjom, Red outpost on the outer fringe of the Kaesong five-mile neutral zone. The Reds balked at waiting for the allied delegation to set up a tent.

Ex-Dewey Aide Will Probe Staten Island Crime Ring

Gambling Boss Insists He 'Can't Remember' How He Became Wealthy Man

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Acting on orders of Governor Dewey, the attorney general today appointed William B. Herlands as special prosecutor to handle matters related to the State Crime Commission's probe of Staten Island crime and corruption.

Herlands, 46, of New York city, was assistant U. S. attorney for the southern district of New York and a chief assistant to Dewey in the Governor's Manhattan racket-busting probe of 1935-37.

Dalessio Insists

New York, Sept., 24 (AP)—Reputed Staten Island gambling boss Michael Dalessio stubbornly insisted today that he "can't remember" the source of income that has made him a wealthy man.

Questioned by New York State's Crime Commission about where he got the money to pay for numerous properties he had bought, the nervous witness said repeatedly:

"I forget."

Dalessio—known as "Mickey Dee" and alleged ringmaster of Staten Island bookmaking—bluntly refused to answer some questions.

The commission is probing links between politics and crime in Richmond county (Staten Island).

The witness, who had clashed with investigators in a previous appearance Saturday, admitted that he paid $75,000 for the Bay Realty Company in 1942. Asked where he got the money, he said he could not remember because "it might intimidate me."

He said he understood that the company—which he still owns—now is worth $3,000,000.

He also testified that he had paid $75,000 for his 3,000-acre estate in Pennsylvania, but declined to say where he got the money. He also admitted owning half interest in the Great Kills Yacht Club.

Didn't Have Books

He said he couldn't answer questions about sources of his capital without his financial books, which he said were in the hands of his accountant.

Dalessio has failed to comply with commission orders to produce the books.

In answer to questions, he said he had borrowed money from the Staten Island National Bank and from a bank in East Stroudsburg, Pa.

"I owe the banks hundreds of thousands of dollars," he said. "I have borrowed thousands and thousands of dollars."

Car Stolen, Business Place Entered, Ransacked During Weekend

Ill luck became double trouble for Stanley Kaplan, of 775 Broadway, of the A. Kaplan Sons bag plant, Hasbrouck avenue and Catherine street, over the weekend.

Kaplan reported his car stolen at 11:35 a. m., Sunday, and today he learned that the downtown building housing the bag factory had been entered and ransacked.

Investigation at this point indicates no connection between the two incidents, however. The car which was stolen from in front of the Franklin Apartments on upper Broadway, was recovered yesterday in New York at York avenue and 77th street. The vandalism is believed to be the work of youngsters.

Police were notified this morning that the Kaplan building had been entered, apparently sometime Sunday, through a hole made near the loading door by removing brick.

The report said a jug of acid had been spilled on a case of thread, 10 quarts of oil in quart cans had been broken open with a ball pein hammer and spilled on the floor, fumigating chemicals had been spilled on some of the bags, and several bags were scattered over the place.

Police were notified that several youngsters had been chased away from the place at about 3 p. m. Sunday.

Two Men Are Sought

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Albany county jail guards and police were looking for two missing inmates today—inside the jail. Warden Rensselaer Taylor said last night he believed the men had not scaled the institution's 30-foot wall. He said the search was concentrated in the buildings and grounds. Thomas A. Curry, 29, of Newburgh, and Ronald E. Allaire, 24, of Bolton Landing, had been working in the paint shop. McCurry was serving a one-year term for non-support and for threatening his wife. Jail officials said Allaire had three weeks remaining of a six-month sentence for disorderly conduct.

The date and hours are the same for Oct. 12, but on Oct. 13, the last day of registration, the hours are from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The dates and hours for non-personal registration outside cities or villages of 5,000 or more population are: Oct. 6 from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., and Oct. 13 from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

De Gasperi Says United Europe Can Maintain Defense

Italian Premier Addresses Joint Session of Congress — Will Relieve U. S.

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi of Italy told Congress today a united Europe would be able to take care of its own defense.

He addressed a joint session of the Senate and House a few hours after arriving for three days of talks with President Truman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other top officials.

"Europe once solidly united," the 70-year-old premier said, "will relieve you of your sacrifices in men and arms, for she will herself contrive the defense of her peace and common freedom."

De Gasperi reaffirmed Italy's desire that Trieste be returned to Italy as recommended by the Big Three in 1948. But this does not mean, he said, that Italians "are victims of a narrow nationalism."

Rather, he explained, it was evidence of Italy's wish "to consolidate our western coalition in Europe."

Expresses Appreciation

De Gasperi expressed appreciation for the stand taken by several members of congress in favor of revision of the Italian peace treaty.

"As free men," he said, "we wish to tell you we are grateful to you because, by demanding revision of our unfair peace treaty, you have acknowledged that an effective and staunch alliance can not exist without equality of rights and full recognition of the

Uranium Discovery in Texas Starts Official U. S. Probe

Albuquerque, Sept. 24 (AP)—The only thing known for sure about nearly 100 pounds of refined uranium found in two chunks at Dalhart, Tex., is that very little is known for sure.

The FBI and the Atomic Energy Commission presumably know something about it. But they're not talking.

One piece was found buried early this summer by three boys playing in a tree. The FBI found the second later on a scrap heap. The finds were announced Saturday night by University of New Mexico scientists who established that the metal was uranium.

This much is known: One piece weighs 33 pounds, the other 65 pounds. The metal has 18.6 times the density of water. It's black and tough and it's commercially pure uranium. And the AEC has it.

But the big questions remain unanswered:

Where did it come from? The AEC says probably from a government installation. The nearest one to Dalhart is top-secret, heavily guarded Los Alamos, N. M., some 300 miles away.

How much is it worth? Anywhere from $6 a pound (AEC estimate) to nearly $3500 a pound (commercial chemist estimate).

How did it get to Dalhart? Theories range from theft by an atom spy to the falling of a flaming green "fireball" of uranium. Some think a souvenir hunter may have ditched it in Dalhart.

Was the uranium stolen? The AEC prefers the word "taken."

If stolen, who took it? The FBI is investigating.

The AEC places the age of the pieces at seven or eight years. That would make them current

58,000 Loss For Reds Is UN Report

2. Red and allied ground forces are in constant maneuver around the five-mile Kaesong neutral zone.

3. Uncontrolled partisan groups, responsible to neither command, are active in the area and could take action at any time which would again cause a breakup of talks.

The Reds called off the talks Aug. 23, charging an allied plane tried to "murder" the Red cease-fire delegation with a bomb the day before.

Called 'Regrettable'

"It is regrettable," the allies said, that the Reds didn't accept the original suggestion of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander, that the negotiations be held aboard the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia.

Ridgway proposed some other, more incident-proof site for the conference in a note to the Communists Sept. 6. He since has made clear that he wants better working conditions established for negotiators before he agrees to resumption of the conference.

UN and Red liaison officers met in Kaesong Monday morning to set up arrangements under which talks, if resumed, could make the most rapid progress possible.

About six hours later the Reds sent the allies a memorandum, contents of which were not disclosed by allied headquarters.

The liaison groups are scheduled to meet again Tuesday at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. Monday, E.S.T.).

Few Minutes Removed

Allied headquarters here said the Reds were told that "from the viewpoint of the military aviator, the Kaesong neutral zone is but a few minutes removed from the most important military line of supply in your rear area. Thousands of aircraft sorties are directed against this line of supply. The likelihood of an accidental occurrence involving Kaesong is obvious.

"The Communist commanders have alleged that a number of violations of the Kaesong neutral zone approaching the figure 200 have occurred. Could any fact argue more persuasively that Kaesong is unsuitable as a conference site?"

When the hour-long meeting ended, a Red officer left the conference room with a wide grin. UN officers were poker-faced.

Later an allied spokesman in Munsan, the UN advance base, said he did not know whether any progress had been made.

Earlier Monday the Reds said they wanted to discuss only a time and date for resuming negotiations.

The meeting brought together the same four men who met in Kaesong July 8 to arrange the first full dress armistice conference that began there two days later.

Delegates Named

Air Force Col. Andrew J. Kinney and Marine Col. James C. Murray represented the UN. Red delegates were North Korean Col. Chang Chun San and Chinese Lt. Col. Tsai Cheng-wen.

The conference came 32 days after the Reds broke off the talks Aug. 23. They charged then that an allied warplane had strafed Kaesong the night before. Allied headquarters rejected the charge. In the battle of invective which followed the Reds aired many similar charges. All but two were denied by the UN command.

Monday's meeting was scheduled for Panmunjom, Red outpost on the outer fringe of the Kaesong five-mile neutral zone. The Reds balked at waiting for the allied delegation to set up a tent.

Three Families Are

been destroyed and that portion of the building left standing was considerably damaged by water and smoke. The building is owned by Mrs. William Colange.

Help Is Given

Shortly after the fire was discovered, and before the fire department responded, members of the Beta Sigma Phi, a Kingston women's sorority, and their husbands who were enjoying a steak roast in the area at the Martino summer camp, learned of the fire and went to the scene and removed, a large amount of furnishings from the apartments until driven from the building by fire and smoke and the danger of injury from exploding bottled gas tanks and oil drums.

Driven from their apartments by fire were Mr. and Mrs. D. Giuliano and their son; Mrs. Isabel Kessler and her children and Mrs. Flora Green. They were cared for by relatives and friends in the vicinity.

Corporal Ray Dunn of Phoenicia was at the scene and reported the fire had started from an undetermined cause and he stated the investigation would be continued today.

Fire Gains Headway

The fire had gained considerable headway before the Olive Fire Department under Chief Albert Fox arrived. Water was put on the fire by the fire companies from the Bushkill creek along which the house stands and from a pond on route 28-a some distance from the fire.

The flames spread rapidly from the upper rear apartment where it started and the firemen were required to turn their attention to the store building which stands on the corner of the Watson Hollow road and the South Ashokan boulevard. The store was kept wet down and was not damaged.

It was not until several hours after the fire started that it was brought under control and finally extinguished.

The second fire was at 2:10 a. m. Sunday morning when flames gutted the barn and garage back of the Central Hotel in Phoenicia. This fire was of incendiary origin, Corporal Ray Dunn said. Phoenicia firemen prevented the blaze from communicating to the hotel and to the Folkert Brothers store, both of which were kept wet down by the firemen.

An investigation was conducted by state troopers and later Sergeant A. A. Reilly of the B.C.I. unit of the state police placed Wilbur Kirk, 17, Phoenicia, under arrest on a charge of arson, second degree. Kirk was taken before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush of the town of Ulster and held in jail pending completion of an investigation. Corporal Dunn reported that a statement had been secured from Kirk in regard to the fire. Kirk, son of George and Florence Kirk of Phoenicia, is unemployed, and when booked at the county jail said he had three prior convictions.

Macholdt Attends Justices' Parley

Harold E. Macholdt, justice of the peace of the town of Ulster, attended the 42nd annual conference of the New York State Association of Magistrates at Westport last Wednesday through Friday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Macholdt.

The three-day conference featured discussions on combatting drug addition. James R. Dumpson, child care consultant for the Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies and technical consultant to the Committee of Narcotics, Welfare Council of New York, outlined A Co-ordinated Attack on Narcotic Addiction. Other information on drug addiction was given by Frank J. Smith, chief of Narcotic Control, New York State Department of Health.

Other talks were given by an FBI agent, state troopers, district attorneys, and city judges. Scheduled events included a boat trip on Lake Champlain, a conducted tour of Republic Steel Company's iron mines and a trip to "North Pole" on Whiteface Mountain.

Macholdt said on his return here that "the excellent speakers plus the many discussions make a session of this sort conductive to the better rendering of justice in the Justice Courts and maintain the high standards of court procedure and efficiency for which these Courts of Special Sessions are praised by the higher courts of New York state.

Reade Theatres

the same conditions as before this misled action."

Union Statement

A counter-statement issued this morning by Local B-24, I.A.T.S.E., follows:

"We are on strike at Reade's theatres in Kingston, because some of us can no longer exist on 50 cents per hour. Our working conditions are below the accepted standard of any industry or business. We belong to I.A.T.S.E. which is affiliated with the A.F. of L.

"We have agreed to an election on two occasions but each time Reade's management has changed the rules.

"Our union is poor and we are poor, how could we be otherwise when our wages start as low as 50 cents per hour?"

Support Pledged

George E. Yerry, Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, today pledged the support of that council to striking theatre employes. His statement:

"Statements issued by Walter Reade Theatres to the effect that the striking employes of their Kingston theatres had formed an independent union are misleading and untrue. I assisted in the formation of the union and at the time their charter was granted the Kingston Freeman printed a photograph of the officers. The employes are all affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"The Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters will support this union in every way possible not only because of their being members of the AFL, but because the local manager employed non-union carpenters in violation of his promise to me. They also employed non-union plumbers. This action of the Reade chain of theatres is an obvious attempt to reduce wages in the area. Some of their striking employes receive as little as 50 cents an hour."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 24 (AP) — The stock market lost ground today in about every category excepting rails. As the prices drifted downward volume fell from the levels of recent sessions.

Most of the losses were in fractions with declines of a point or more comparatively rare.

Railroad stocks were the exceptions to the decline as they bucked the tide and posted gains of fractions to around a point.

New Haven was up a point at one time as the road announced it had received a $7,225,958 refund of federal income and excess profits taxes with interest for the years 1939 through 1947.

American Can and Philip Morris was fractions higher but such other manufacturing stocks as Westinghouse, American Woolen and International Paper dipped a little.

King Is Confident

prayed for the safety of their beloved monarch, found the announcement reassuring.

"Thank God for that!" one woman shouted.

"We're so glad for the queen," said another.

A tall police inspector read the bulletin aloud over the heads of the jostling throng, outside the palace.

Queen Elizabeth spent the night in a room near her desperately ill husband. The rest of the royal family was also nearby. Queen Mother Mary, 84, kept in touch by telephone from her residence at Marlborough House.

Hurries to London

The Duke of Windsor, whose abdication in 1936 made George king, hurried to London from Paris.

There was still no change, however, in the plans of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to leave next week for Canada.

The 55-year-old king spent the critical night under the watchful eyes of doctors and nurses. Watchers were understood to include five of the eight doctors who took part in the two-hour operation yesterday morning. Dr. Clement Price-Thomas, who performed the actual lung resection, did not remain in the palace.

Lung resection is the term used for surgical removal of the whole lung or part of it. It has not been indicated how extensive the operation was or which lung was affected.

In General Agreement

Medical authorities are in general agreement that the first four or five days after the operation are the crucial period.

Good wishes poured in from all parts of the empire. Most British newspapers ran editorial expressing hopes for a speedy recovery. Opinions vary on how long recovery may take, but most authorities hold out for from seven to ten weeks.

The king's illness overshadowed political campaigning for the general election set for Oct. 25. Political quarters, however, gave little credence to suggestions that the election might be postponed.

They pointed out that Prime Minister Clement Attlee, who set the Oct. 25 date, did so after consulting the king just a few days before the operation was decided on.

There were indications that a council of state might be set up to take over the king's duties if his recovery were to lose momentum.

Members would probably include Queen Elizabeth, Princess Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the Duke of Gloucester and Princess Mary, the princess royal. The latter two are the king's brother and sister.

Katrine Couple Hurt In Bridge Accident

Three persons were taken to Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie after an accident early today at the westerly end of the Mid-Hudson Bridge, state police at Highland reported.

Troopers said the injured were Arthur Royael, 44, and his wife, Adeline, of Lake Katrine, and Carmen Bosse, 19, of U. S. Naval Air Station, Memphis, Tenn. Royael received injuries to the right elbow and knee, his wife received a laceration to the right leg and near the left eye, and Bosse received a fracture of the hand, according to the state police report.

The accident occurred at 5:10 a. m. on the sharp curve at the bridge approach, troopers said. Royael was driving towards Poughkeepsie and the other automobile, driven by Bosse, was going in the opposite direction, troopers reported.

Harry Revel in Hospital

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Hit songwriter Harry Revel, 45, was taken to a hospital today after he was found in the bathroom of his Manhattan apartment partly overcome by gas fumes. Police said a building agent smelled the fumes, traced them to Revel's apartment where a jet on a kitchen range was open.

Calls Are Answered

Firemen answered calls for a dump fire near Devil's Lake, First avenue, and a false alarm over the weekend. The First avenue call was at 6:15 p. m., Sunday and the false alarm was sounded from a box at Smith avenue and O'Neil street at 7:40 p. m., Saturday.

New Appeal Made For Crusade Funds

Another appeal was made today by Richard M. Kalish, local chairman of the Crusade for Freedom drive, for contributions to help truth fight communism.

"All free peoples are joining the ranks in this fight," Kalish pointed out, "and local residents may send their contributions to the local postmaster in Kingston."

A one-day drive is planned for Kingston the night of Monday, Oct. 8.

$389,000 Awards Are Announced for Water Works Area

Commissioners of Appraisal recently made awards totalling $389,000 for properties taken in conjunction with the New York city water works projects in the Pepacton-Shavertown area, it was learned today.

Those serving on the commission are County Judge Walter Terry, Walton, chairman; Nelson Johnston, Roscoe and Charles Bacon, Brooklyn. The awards were on 20 properties.

Highest award for any property in these proceedings was made to Scott Barnhart. He owned a farm on the southerly side of the East Branch of the Delaware river between Pepacton and Shavertown, and received $46,000. About half the property of his 210-acre farm was taken. This included a large barn and several outbuildings.

Among the other higher awards were $33,350 to Adar Merill, owner of a farm near Pepacton; $24,500 to Mrs. Ina Shaver, owner of a farm in Coles Clove, and $24,000 to Mrs. Learia Sprague, for 169-acre farm along the Neal Hollow road.

The claimants were represented by Herman E. Gottfried, of Margaretville, former counsel in charge of water supply proceedings for New York.

Three Families Are

been destroyed and that portion of the building left standing was considerably damaged by water and smoke. The building is owned by Mrs. William Colange.

Help Is Given

Shortly after the fire was discovered, and before the fire department responded, members of the Beta Sigma Phi, a Kingston women's sorority, and their husbands who were enjoying a steak roast in the area at the Martino summer camp, learned of the fire and went to the scene and removed a large amount of furnishings from the apartments until driven from the building by fire and smoke and the danger of injury from exploding bottled gas tanks and oil drums.

Driven from their apartments by fire were Mr. and Mrs. D. Giuliano and their son; Mrs. Isabel Kessler and her children and Mrs. Flora Green. They were cared for by relatives and friends in the vicinity.

Corporal Ray Dunn of Phoenicia was at the scene and reported the fire had started from an undetermined cause and he stated the investigation would be continued today.

Fire Gains Headway

The fire had gained considerable headway before the Olive Fire Department under Chief Albert Fox arrived. Water was put on the fire by the fire companies from the Bushkill creek along which the house stands and from a pond on route 28-a some distance from the fire.

The flames spread rapidly from the upper rear apartment where it started and the firemen were required to turn their attention to the store building which stands on the corner of the Watson Hollow road and the South Ashokan boulevard. The store was kept wet down and was not damaged.

It was not until several hours after the fire started that it was brought under control and finally extinguished.

The second fire was at 2:10 a. m. Sunday morning when flames gutted the barn and garage back of the Central Hotel in Phoenicia. This fire was of incendiary origin, Corporal Ray Dunn said. Phoenicia firemen prevented the blaze from communicating to the hotel and to the Folkert Brothers store, both of which were kept wet down by the firemen.

An investigation was conducted by state troopers and later Sergeant A. A. Reilly of the B.C.I. unit of the state police placed Wilbur Kirk, 17, Phoenicia, under arrest on a charge of arson, second degree. Kirk was taken before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush of the town of Ulster and held in jail pending completion of an investigation. Corporal Dunn reported that a statement had been secured from Kirk in regard to the fire. Kirk, son of George and Florence Kirk of Phoenicia, is unemployed, and when booked at the county jail said he had three prior convictions.

Macholdt Attends Justices' Parley

Harold E. Macholdt, justice of the peace of the town of Ulster, attended the 42nd annual conference of the New York State Association of Magistrates at Westport last Wednesday through Friday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Macholdt.

The three-day conference featured discussions on combatting drug addition. James R. Dumpson, child care consultant for the Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies and technical consultant to the Committee of Narcotics, Welfare Council of New York, outlined A Co-ordinated Attack on Narcotic Addiction. Other information on drug addiction was given by Frank J. Smith, chief of Narcotic Control, New York State Department of Health.

Other talks were given by an FBI agent, state troopers, district attorneys, and city judges. Scheduled events included a boat trip on Lake Champlain, a conducted tour of Republic Steel Company's iron mines and a trip to "North Pole" on Whiteface Mountain.

Macholdt said on his return here that "the excellent speakers plus the many discussions make a session of this sort conductive to the better rendering of justice in the Justice Courts and maintain the high standards of court procedure and efficiency for which these Courts of Special Sessions are praised by the higher courts of New York state.

Reade Theatres

the same conditions as before this misled action."

Union Statement

A counter-statement issued this morning by Local B-24, I.A.T.S.E., follows:

"We are on strike at Reade's theatres in Kingston, because some of us can no longer exist on 50 cents per hour. Our working conditions are below the accepted standard of any industry or business. We belong to I.A.T.S.E. which is affiliated with the A.F. of L.

"We have agreed to an election on two occasions but each time Reade's management has changed the rules.

"Our union is poor and we are poor, how could we be otherwise when our wages start as low as 50 cents per hour?"

Support Pledged

George E. Yerry, Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, today pledged the support of that council to striking theatre employes. His statement:

"Statements issued by Walter Reade Theatres to the effect that the striking employes of their Kingston theatres had formed an independent union are misleading and untrue. I assisted in the formation of the union and at the time their charter was granted the Kingston Freeman printed a photograph of the officers. The employes are all affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"The Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters will support this union in every way possible not only because of their being members of the AFL, but because the local manager employed non-union carpenters in violation of his promise to me. They also employed non-union plumbers. This action of the Reade chain of theatres is an obvious attempt to reduce wages in the area. Some of their striking employes receive as little as 50 cents an hour."

Katrine Couple Hurt In Bridge Accident

Three persons were taken to Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie after an accident early today at the westerly end of the Mid-Hudson Bridge, state police at Highland reported.

Troopers said the injured were Arthur Royael, 44, and his wife, Adeline, of Lake Katrine, and Carmen Bosse, 19, of U. S. Naval Air Station, Memphis, Tenn. Royael received injuries to the right elbow and knee, his wife received a laceration to the right leg and near the left eye, and Bosse received a fracture of the hand, according to the state police report.

The accident occurred at 5:10 a. m. on the sharp curve at the bridge approach, troopers said. Royael was driving towards Poughkeepsie and the other automobile, driven by Bosse, was going in the opposite direction, troopers reported.

Harry Revel in Hospital

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Hit songwriter Harry Revel, 45, was taken to a hospital today after he was found in the bathroom of his Manhattan apartment partly overcome by gas fumes. Police said a building agent smelled the fumes, traced them to Revel's apartment where a jet on a kitchen range was open.

Calls Are Answered

Firemen answered calls for a dump fire near Devil's Lake, First avenue, and a false alarm over the weekend. The First avenue call was at 6:15 p. m., Sunday and the false alarm was sounded from a box at Smith avenue and O'Neil street at 7:40 p. m., Saturday.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 24 (AP) — The stock market lost ground today in about every category excepting rails. As the prices drifted downward volume fell from the levels of recent sessions.

Most of the losses were in fractions with declines of a point or more comparatively rare.

Railroad stocks were the exceptions to the decline as they bucked the tide and posted gains of fractions to around a point.

New Haven was up a point at one time as the road announced it had received a $7,225,958 refund of federal income and excess profits taxes with interest for the years 1939 through 1947.

American Can and Philip Morris was fractions higher but such other manufacturing stocks as Westinghouse, American Woolen and International Paper dipped a little.

King Is Confident

prayed for the safety of their beloved monarch, found the announcement reassuring.

"Thank God for that!" one woman shouted.

"We're so glad for the queen," said another.

A tall police inspector read the bulletin aloud over the heads of the jostling throng, outside the palace.

Queen Elizabeth spent the night in a room near her desperately ill husband. The rest of the royal family was also nearby. Queen Mother Mary, 84, kept in touch by telephone from her residence at Marlborough House.

Hurries to London

The Duke of Windsor, whose abdication in 1936 made George king, hurried to London from Paris.

There was still no change, however, in the plans of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to leave next week for Canada.

The 55-year-old king spent the critical night under the watchful eyes of doctors and nurses. Watchers were understood to include five of the eight doctors who took part in the two-hour operation yesterday morning. Dr. Clement Price-Thomas, who performed the actual lung resection, did not remain in the palace.

Lung resection is the term used for surgical removal of the whole lung or part of it. It has not been indicated how extensive the operation was or which lung was affected.

In General Agreement

Medical authorities are in general agreement that the first four or five days after the operation are the crucial period.

Good wishes poured in from all parts of the empire. Most British newspapers ran editorial expressing hopes for a speedy recovery. Opinions vary on how long recovery may take, but most authorities hold out for from seven to ten weeks.

The king's illness overshadowed political campaigning for the general election set for Oct. 25. Political quarters, however, gave little credence to suggestions that the election might be postponed.

They pointed out that Prime Minister Clement Attlee, who set the Oct. 25 date, did so after consulting the king just a few days before the operation was decided on.

There were indications that a council of state might be set up to take over the king's duties if his recovery were to lose momentum.

Members would probably include Queen Elizabeth, Princess Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the Duke of Gloucester and Princess Mary, the princess royal. The latter two are the king's brother and sister.

ROUTINE

The Summer confusion is over,
We're back in the harness again:
Vacation delight has vanished from sight
As Autumn creeps over the glen.

The classrooms are busy with youngsters
Who lately were seeking the sun:
They're racing to school instead of the pool,
For Summer's excitement is done.
We're glancing at coal in the cellar
And packing our linens away,
For Summer is spent and now we're content
To rest at the close of the day.

The friendships we cherished in August
When moonlight illumined the shore
Have faded it seems, like yesterday's dreams
As routine is welcomed once more.
We're chatting again with the neighbors
When twilight brings freedom and rest,
And sipping our tea we're quick to agree
That home . . . after all . . . is the best.

$389,000 Awards Are Announced for Water Works Area

This included a large barn and several outbuildings.

Among the other higher awards were $33,350 to Adar Merill, owner of a farm near Pepacton; $24,500 to Mrs. Ina Shaver, owner of a farm in Coles Clove, and $24,000 to Mrs. Learia Sprague, for 169-acre farm along the Neal Hollow road.

Three Families Are

been destroyed and that portion of the building left standing was considerably damaged by water and smoke. The building is owned by Mrs. William Colange.

Help Is Given

Shortly after the fire was discovered, and before the fire department responded, members of the Beta Sigma Phi, a Kingston women's sorority, and their husbands who were enjoying a steak roast in the area at the Martino summer camp, learned of the fire and went to the scene and removed a large amount of furnishings from the apartments until driven from the building by fire and smoke and the danger of injury from exploding bottled gas tanks and oil drums.

Driven from their apartments by fire were Mr. and Mrs. D. Giuliano and their son; Mrs. Isabel Kessler and her children and Mrs. Flora Green. They were cared for by relatives and friends in the vicinity.

Corporal Ray Dunn of Phoenicia was at the scene and reported the fire had started from an undetermined cause and he stated the investigation would be continued today.

Fire Gains Headway

The fire had gained considerable headway before the Olive Fire Department under Chief Albert Fox arrived. Water was put on the fire by the fire companies from the Bushkill creek along which the house stands and from a pond on route 28-a some distance from the fire.

The flames spread rapidly from the upper rear apartment where it started and the firemen were required to turn their attention to the store building which stands on the corner of the Watson Hollow road and the South Ashokan boulevard. The store was kept wet down and was not damaged.

It was not until several hours after the fire started that it was brought under control and finally extinguished.

The second fire was at 2:10 a. m. Sunday morning when flames gutted the barn and garage back of the Central Hotel in Phoenicia. This fire was of incendiary origin, Corporal Ray Dunn said. Phoenicia firemen prevented the blaze from communicating to the hotel and to the Folkert Brothers store, both of which were kept wet down by the firemen.

An investigation was conducted by state troopers and later Sergeant A. A. Reilly of the B.C.I. unit of the state police placed Wilbur Kirk, 17, Phoenicia, under arrest on a charge of arson, second degree. Kirk was taken before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush of the town of Ulster and held in jail pending completion of an investigation. Corporal Dunn reported that a statement had been secured from Kirk in regard to the fire. Kirk, son of George and Florence Kirk of Phoenicia, is unemployed, and when booked at the county jail said he had three prior convictions.

Chief Hails Troops

Hannover, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP)—Allied troops have wound up Operation "Counterthrust" and began preparations today for Operations "Cirrus" and "Jupiter" in the continuing drive to be ready for any Russian attack. Field Marshall Sir William Slim, chief of the British Imperial staff, hailed the 150,000 troops of seven Atlantic Pact nations who took part as "the best we've ever had."

Potato Crop Off

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Weather—both dry and damp—hit hard at New York state's 1951 potato crop. The State Agriculture Department predicts the harvest will total 28,880,000 bushels—nearly 5,500,000 less than 1950's yield.

Macholdt Attends Justices' Parley

Harold E. Macholdt, justice of the peace of the town of Ulster, attended the 42nd annual conference of the New York State Association of Magistrates at Westport last Wednesday through Friday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Macholdt.

The three-day conference featured discussions on combatting drug addition. James R. Dumpson, child care consultant for the Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies and technical consultant to the Committee of Narcotics, Welfare Council of New York, outlined A Co-ordinated Attack on Narcotic Addiction. Other information on drug addiction was given by Frank J. Smith, chief of Narcotic Control, New York State Department of Health.

Other talks were given by an FBI agent, state troopers, district attorneys, and city judges. Scheduled events included a boat trip on Lake Champlain, a conducted tour of Republic Steel Company's iron mines and a trip to "North Pole" on Whiteface Mountain.

Macholdt said on his return here that "the excellent speakers plus the many discussions make a session of this sort conductive to the better rendering of justice in the Justice Courts and maintain the high standards of court procedure and efficiency for which these Courts of Special Sessions are praised by the higher courts of New York state.

Reade Theatres

the same conditions as before this misled action."

Union Statement

A counter-statement issued this morning by Local B-24, I.A.T.S.E., follows:

"We are on strike at Reade's theatres in Kingston, because some of us can no longer exist on 50 cents per hour. Our working conditions are below the accepted standard of any industry or business. We belong to I.A.T.S.E. which is affiliated with the A.F. of L.

"We have agreed to an election on two occasions but each time Reade's management has changed the rules.

"Our union is poor and we are poor, how could we be otherwise when our wages start as low as 50 cents per hour?"

Support Pledged

George E. Yerry, Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, today pledged the support of that council to striking theatre employes. His statement:

"Statements issued by Walter Reade Theatres to the effect that the striking employes of their Kingston theatres had formed an independent union are misleading and untrue. I assisted in the formation of the union and at the time their charter was granted the Kingston Freeman printed a photograph of the officers. The employes are all affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"The Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters will support this union in every way possible not only because of their being members of the AFL, but because the local manager employed non-union carpenters in violation of his promise to me. They also employed non-union plumbers. This action of the Reade chain of theatres is an obvious attempt to reduce wages in the area. Some of their striking employes receive as little as 50 cents an hour."

Katrine Couple Hurt In Bridge Accident

Three persons were taken to Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie after an accident early today at the westerly end of the Mid-Hudson Bridge, state police at Highland reported.

Troopers said the injured were Arthur Royael, 44, and his wife, Adeline, of Lake Katrine, and Carmen Bosse, 19, of U. S. Naval Air Station, Memphis, Tenn. Royael received injuries to the right elbow and knee, his wife received a laceration to the right leg and near the left eye, and Bosse received a fracture of the hand, according to the state police report.

The accident occurred at 5:10 a. m. on the sharp curve at the bridge approach, troopers said. Royael was driving towards Poughkeepsie and the other automobile, driven by Bosse, was going in the opposite direction, troopers reported.

Harry Revel in Hospital

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Hit songwriter Harry Revel, 45, was taken to a hospital today after he was found in the bathroom of his Manhattan apartment partly overcome by gas fumes. Police said a building agent smelled the fumes, traced them to Revel's apartment where a jet on a kitchen range was open.

Calls Are Answered

Firemen answered calls for a dump fire near Devil's Lake, First avenue, and a false alarm over the weekend. The First avenue call was at 6:15 p. m., Sunday and the false alarm was sounded from a box at Smith avenue and O'Neil street at 7:40 p. m., Saturday.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 24 (AP) — The stock market lost ground today in about every category excepting rails. As the prices drifted downward volume fell from the levels of recent sessions.

Most of the losses were in fractions with declines of a point or more comparatively rare.

Railroad stocks were the exceptions to the decline as they bucked the tide and posted gains of fractions to around a point.

New Haven was up a point at one time as the road announced it had received a $7,225,958 refund of federal income and excess profits taxes with interest for the years 1939 through 1947.

American Can and Philip Morris was fractions higher but such other manufacturing stocks as Westinghouse, American Woolen and International Paper dipped a little.

King Is Confident

prayed for the safety of their beloved monarch, found the announcement reassuring.

"Thank God for that!" one woman shouted.

"We're so glad for the queen," said another.

A tall police inspector read the bulletin aloud over the heads of the jostling throng, outside the palace.

Queen Elizabeth spent the night in a room near her desperately ill husband. The rest of the royal family was also nearby. Queen Mother Mary, 84, kept in touch by telephone from her residence at Marlborough House.

Hurries to London

The Duke of Windsor, whose abdication in 1936 made George king, hurried to London from Paris.

There was still no change, however, in the plans of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to leave next week for Canada.

The 55-year-old king spent the critical night under the watchful eyes of doctors and nurses. Watchers were understood to include five of the eight doctors who took part in the two-hour operation yesterday morning. Dr. Clement Price-Thomas, who performed the actual lung resection, did not remain in the palace.

Lung resection is the term used for surgical removal of the whole lung or part of it. It has not been indicated how extensive the operation was or which lung was affected.

In General Agreement

Medical authorities are in general agreement that the first four or five days after the operation are the crucial period.

Good wishes poured in from all parts of the empire. Most British newspapers ran editorial expressing hopes for a speedy recovery. Opinions vary on how long recovery may take, but most authorities hold out for from seven to ten weeks.

The king's illness overshadowed political campaigning for the general election set for Oct. 25. Political quarters, however, gave little credence to suggestions that the election might be postponed.

They pointed out that Prime Minister Clement Attlee, who set the Oct. 25 date, did so after consulting the king just a few days before the operation was decided on.

There were indications that a council of state might be set up to take over the king's duties if his recovery were to lose momentum.

Members would probably include Queen Elizabeth, Princess Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the Duke of Gloucester and Princess Mary, the princess royal. The latter two are the king's brother and sister.

Pay Boost Appeal Due to Be Made

An application to appeal an Appellate Division decision on the police-fireman pay boost proposal was scheduled to be made by Frank Martocci, counsel for the petitioners, in the Court of Appeals this afternoon.

The move seeks to reverse the Appellate Division opinion which upheld a prior decision by Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm to the effect that the petitioners are not legally entitled to have their pay boost proposition on the November ballot, because it fails in mention of a specific plan for raising the required money.

Attorney Martocci must first apply for permision to appeal, and if the high court grants him the right to appeal, argument probably will be presented today and it is also possible that the court may arrive at its decision today, because tomorrow is the scheduled deadline for the petitioners to file with the election board.

The Court of Appeals was scheduled to meet in a special session on another matter. The Martocci application for appeal is scheduled to be heard at 2 p. m. The high court might delay its answer until tomorrow, but if time allows it may present its opinion today. If Martocci's application for appeal is denied, it will be tantamount to ruling that the pay boost proposition will not go on the November ballot.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly, who ruled when the petion was first presented, that it was illegal because of the lack of mention of a specific plan for raising the money, will appear before the high court to oppose the petitioners' application.

Pay Boost Appeal Due to Be Made

An application to appeal an Appellate Division decision on the police-fireman pay boost proposal was scheduled to be made by Frank Martocci, counsel for the petitioners, in the Court of Appeals this afternoon.

The move seeks to reverse the Appellate Division opinion which upheld a prior decision by Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm to the effect that the petitioners are not legally entitled to have their pay boost proposition on the November ballot, because it fails in mention of a specific plan for raising the required money.

Attorney Martocci must first apply for permision to appeal, and if the high court grants him the right to appeal, argument probably will be presented today and it is also possible that the court may arrive at its decision today, because tomorrow is the scheduled deadline for the petitioners to file with the election board.

The Court of Appeals was scheduled to meet in a special session on another matter. The Martocci application for appeal is scheduled to be heard at 2 p. m. The high court might delay its answer until tomorrow, but if time allows it may present its opinion today. If Martocci's application for appeal is denied, it will be tantamount to ruling that the pay boost proposition will not go on the November ballot.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly, who ruled when the petion was first presented, that it was illegal because of the lack of mention of a specific plan for raising the money, will appear before the high court to oppose the petitioners' application.

Now, more than ever, the price tags sum it up:

You're paying for a Packard....why not own one?

Packard is holding the line on prices!

We can't tell, of course, what may happen in later months. But in the face of industry-wide price boosts, Packard has made today's decision: No price increases now!

And why is it possible for Packard to continue holding the line on prices?

Answer: Because Packard "got in under the wire" on its latest (and greatest) new-model changeover.

That was a wise move for Packard to make—and it points to a wise move for you to make . . .

You're paying for a Packard . . . why not own one?

One easy step never took you so far!

Just compare the slight difference in your monthly payments (after 1/3 down payment), between one of the lightly built "low-priced" cars and a new 1951 Packard . . . the newest new car of them all:

If you've been planning to pay... ...The extra monthly payments for a Packard can be as low as...

$2200	7*
$2400	0*

*And remember: a generous trade-in allowance can make these figures even smaller. Note: Figures above are based on Detroit-delivered prices—but cash differences are comparable throughout the country.

RAKING LEAVES

Raking the leaves which fall from the trees may seem to be an endless task. Taken by the wind, they fill the gutter and litter the lawn, and scarcely has a man cleared the ground of some of them when a gust of wind stirs the trees and another echelon drifts down to mock his labor. But there is certain compensation for his pains.

The man who rakes the lawn gets the good feeling of moving his feet over a carpet of newly fallen leaves. As he works he can philosophize about the leaves on the ground as a symbol of the departed summer. He can recall how many bright dreams were his when the summer began, and as he observes the burnt gold and yellow colors of the leaves he can reflect how much brighter was the realization of some of the dreams than he had even dared to hope. He can look at the fallen leaves and be saddened by the thought that all things pass, and yet can remember that after a while the trees will be green again. There on his lawn the man who turns his thoughts in that direction can get a glimpse of the cycle and continuity of existence.

There is compensation, too, in the feel of the leaves in his hands as he gathers them for burning. The crackling of the first leaves as they catch fire and the pungent odor as they burn are a sort of recompense for his trouble. Gathering leaves and burning them is not a job to be done lightly and in a hurry. It is almost a ritual that marks the end of summer.

AIR OF SANCTUARY

There is something about a church which inspires reverence. It matters little whether it is a one-room building with hard-backed benches or a great cathedral with tall spires which point heavenward. The fact that men come to this building to gather in worship establishes it special character.

It may be so because people come to a church to leave their sorrow. Perhaps it is because people lower their voices when they enter, and greed and avarice are forgotten at the door. Inside the church are spoken the words and thoughts which have guided men for centuries. Inside it a person instinctively turns his eyes and his heart toward the altar of greater power and wisdom.

Church is a place set aside by man as a sanctuary where he can retreat when care and trouble press too heavily on his shoulders. It is a place to which he can bring joy which is so great that it seems the heart must burst with it. Church is a place where one comes to talk with his God, and leaves with a lifted spirit and lighter heart. The one who returns to his daily life from the atmosphere of a church takes with him a little of the reverence and peace he found there.

IRAN AND RUSSIA

One of the threats which was prominent in the early progress of the Iranian oil nationalization crisis has now been repeated. It is that if Britain will not buy the oil on Iran's terms a deal will be made to sell the oil to Russia. When the matter first came up there was fear that it might provide an opportunity for Russia to step in and take over his rich source of oil.

The early fear subsided to some extent when experts on the area pointed out that a formidable range of mountains lies between Russia and the oil refineries, which with their pipelines from the oil fields were planned to serve ports on the Persian Gulf. In order to obtain the oil, Russia would have to get a fleet of tankers to those ports. Now that Iran again threatens a deal with Russia, it would be worth something to know whether Russia has figured out a way to carry the oil away.

The hot-rod craze among the teen-age set has picked up scores of devoted followers. But it is hoped they will keep their talents and tools away from power lawn mowers. The things are hard enough to keep up with as it is.

Known only to those who have been deprived of it is the greatness of the blessing of merely being able to breathe normally.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

REPUBLICANS WITHOUT PROGRAM

The struggle for power within the Republican Party may result in another Democratic triumph. It needs to be faced honestly that although General Eisenhower holds the imagination of large segments of the population, particularly among businessmen and the middle class, for the politicians he is a stalking horse.

All the prospective candidates, and there are oodles of them, realize that in a clinch between General Eisenhower and Senator Robert A. Taft, someone might be a compromise—drafted, they call it.

The prospective draftees are Thomas E. Dewey, Harold Stassen, Earl Warren, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, to mention a few. As a matter of cold political fact, anyone with the rank of governor or United States senator would enjoy being drafted for the presidential nomination and some are even hopeful for the vice-presidential.

It is, of course, a natural and legal right for any native-born American, of the proper age, to be a candidate for President. And some of our Presidents in the past have been no better than some that offer themselves today. Yet, these are critical times and the country requires a wise, experienced, moral leadership. It requires a personality of the highest calibre.

General Eisenhower could noly run by consent of Harry Truman. Specifically that means that if Harry Truman does not wish Eisenhower to run, he can, quietly, unostentatiously, stack the cards to have it that way. He can keep him so busy that Eisenhower's withdrawal from Europe to run for office could be a public scandal.

On the other hand, if Harry Truman did the wholly unexpected, he might favor Eisenhower, even as a Republican, should the general so declare himself, assured that Eisenhower would, for a while, be merciful toward the record and personalities of the Democratic regime, of which he is now a part and has been since World War II.

However, should Eisenhower run, he might discover the cumulative wrath of General MacArthur, who, realizing that the years have probably eliminated him as a candidate—although his friends do not hold to that notion—seeks for his country a moral resurrection. Douglas MacArthur does not regard Ike Eisenhower as a resurrector. He is likely to make it difficult for any candidate, particularly for Eisenhower, by bringing before the public the realistic issues facing the American people. This, none of the politicians desires for the next campaign.

Thomas E. Dewey is an anti-Taft candidate. He resents Taft's leadership and stature. He also dislikes being pushed to one side. Dewey is an able man, but not too graceful in his political relationships. His opposition to Taft is without meaning, except that the defeat of Taft has become a monomania with him.

He may succeed in preventing Taft from being nominated. His combination with Senator Duff of Pennsylvania and Governor Warren of California will give Dewey great force in the convention, but it will split their party wide open. The Taft followers will not accept again a Willkie-type Republican nor will they take Dewey. They will either stay away from the polls, as many Republicans have done during the past three elections, or they will vote for Harry Truman as a protest against "me-tooism."

The essential difference in following is that a generation of Republicans has appeared who are either seeking an end to the immoralities, corruption, deceit and connivings that have characterized the Truman second term or they are Liberals, as confused as left wing Liberals and with equal lack of definition as to a program. This split is real.

Senator Wayne Morse, for instance, is in no manner related to the Republican Party except for the legalism of running under its banner. Once elected, he associates himself with the prime minister, Dean Acheson. Morse is not without a following and acceptance among some Republicans. The same could be said for Governor Driscoll of New Jersey and Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts. These are important political personalities whose attitudes do count. As they cannot be ignored, the Republicans are split.

The time has probably passed for an effective coalition between the conservative Republicans and the conservative Democrats. Had such a coalition come into existence, it would, in the present mood of the people, have swept the country. What it amounts to is that there is a popular wish for a decent, constructive, conservative candidacy and administration. But the politicians, who control delegations and conventions, are playing solitaire—at which they rarely win.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

PROTEINS BUILDING STONES OF BODY

I have written before of the 300 medical students, flown from the University of Edinburgh to the starving women and children of Europe, who injected rich derivations of proteins into the veins of these suffering and starving victims. The results were so startlingly effective that all over the world today animal proteins—meats, eggs, fish—are being used in cases of shipwreck, train and airplane accidents, to help build up the starving and injured in the shortest possible time.

In a bulletin from the University of Chicago, Dr. R. W. Wissler, assistant professor of pathology, discusses the effects of diet on the recovery of rats from a variety of injuries. Dr. Wissler reminds us that rats are the traditional experimental animals used in food or diet experiments because of the similarity between their responses to foods and that of humans. Where injuries or accidents to rats occurred such as burns, X-ray burns, bleeding, or broken bones, similar to those occurring in humans, and the rats were fed with an insufficient supply of proteins, they recovered slowly. Then the rats were shifted to diets containing high quantities of proteins.

Immediately they gained weight and the proteins in their blood, bodies and livers increased rapidly.

It has been known that both animal and human victims of injury lose large amounts of the "building stones" of proteins immediately following their injuries. Dr. Wissler and his co-workers have been attempting to find out whether this loss results from a breakdown of proteins in the body or from the inability of the body to use proteins in the food properly to maintain the body tissues. The experiments on injured rats show that much protein is lost from the body following injury and the amount of protein lost (excreted or thrown off) was in direct proportion to the severity of the injury.

These research workers found that when rats on a low protein diet (not enough protein for body building purposes) were put on a diet rich in protein, they excreted or lost far smaller amounts of protein products.

The lesson from the above is that while protein is not stored in the body, as is fat, nevertheless a sufficient supply for health should be eaten daily to maintain a reserve, so that much will not be lost to the body when emergencies such as starvation and injuries occur.

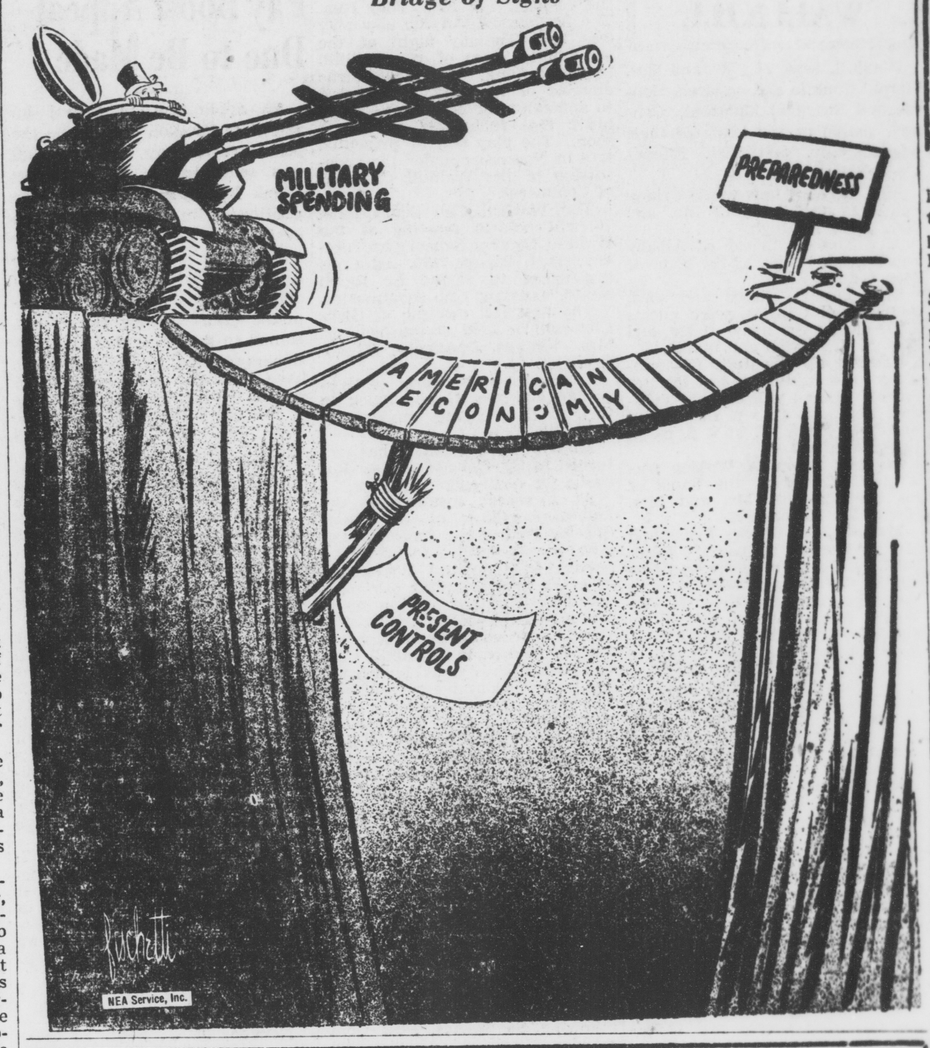

Remember, proteins are the "building stones" of the body.

Bridge of Sighs

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Five years ago I was in the Luxembourg Palace in Paris when a delegation representing defeated Italy entered. The entire peace conference sat stolid and chilly. Even the American and Russian delegates, who disagreed on many things, agreed in their frostiness toward the nation which had spawned Mussolini and extended his Fascist brand of tyranny over the Mediterranean.

Japan and Germany were not permitted to send delegates to the peace conference and doubtless would not have dared to do so even had they been permitted. In contrast, a thin-faced, frail Italian wearing spectacles walked timidly up to the rostrum and made a plea.

"I raise my voice for a new republic which is striving toward the lasting and constructive peace which you also are seeking," he said. "A nation of toilers is ready and determined to work with you in the foundation of a more just and humane world."

There was no applause when the thin-faced Italian finished—no indication that he had won support for the cooperation he was seeking. Nor was there any thought that this man could long remain at the helm of the turbulent, wavering coalition of parties which then governed Italy.

Today, however, that man Premier De Gasperi of Italy, still frail, still thin-faced, still wearing horn-rimmed spectacles, is in the United States, not as a suppliant representing a conquered nation, but as a friend and partner in the defense cooperative for western Europe.

And having just come from Ottawa and a discussion of mutual NATO defense, De Gasperi knows better than most how drastically the diplomats have reversed themselves since that frigid day in the palace of Luxembourg in 1946.

Homespun Premier

It is quite possible that Italy would not be playing this role of full partnership had it not been for the man who arrives in Washington today. He is not a prepossessing figure. In fact, you can't imagine anyone more the opposite of Mussolini than Alcide De Gasperi—drab, demure, modest, homespun.

But the exact opposite of Mussolini—in more ways then one—is what Italy has needed in these harassed postwar years. And De Gasperi's life has been the reverse of Mussolini's almost from the day it began.

It began, incidentally, not in Italy but in Austria. De Gasperi was born—70 years ago—on the wrong side of the tracks. The son of a minor Austrian government official in the Tyrolean Alps, where Austria and Italy meet and where slices of territory have changed hands over the years.

De Gasperi studied at the University of Vienna; got into the labor movement, was elected to the Austrian Parliament as an Italian separationist, battled against both the Austrian aristocracy and Italian Communists, and finally, after World War 1 had shifted his part of the Alps from Austria over to Italy, was elected to the Italian Parliament.

Christianity and Politics

It was in this period when the first seeds of Italian fascism were sprouting that De Gasperi helped found the Popular party, later the Christian Democratic party, based on the principle of applying Christianity to social and political welfare.

The foundation of that party came too late. Also the train on which De Gasperi first rode to Rome to take his seat in Parliament arrived too late. Ahead of him arrived Benito Mussolini and his Fascist Black Shirts. De Gasperi's train had been shunted aside to make way for Mussolini's in the night.

It was inevitable that a man with De Gasperi's liberal leanings be jailed by Mussolini. After a year and a half, however, he was rescued by the Archbishop of Trento and later given a job as librarian for the Vatican.

Incidentally, it was an interview with King Victor Emmanuel which led to De Gasperi's jail sentence. He and other Popular party deputies had called on the king to demand the ousting of Mussolini—a conversation which the king promptly relayed back to Il Duce.

There were those who claimed Victor Emmanuel had never approved of Mussolini and wanted to keep him after World War 2. But De Gasperi knew better. And it was that conversation he had with the king 30 years ago which contributed to the fact that Victor Emmanuel died in exile and Italy is a Republic today.

De Gasperi emerged from the Vatican library after 14 years in exile to take part in guerrilla fighting against the Germans and to be elected premier of Italy in 1946.

It is a tribute to his commonsense political sagacity—and some people say to his youthful training in balancing above Alpine precipices—that De Gasperi is still in office today. A dozen cabinets have come and gone in France. A new election is about to be held in England. But DeGasperi continues at the helm in Italy.

The reasons include: First, his sense of fairness; second his deep religious conviction that Christianity must be applied to politics.

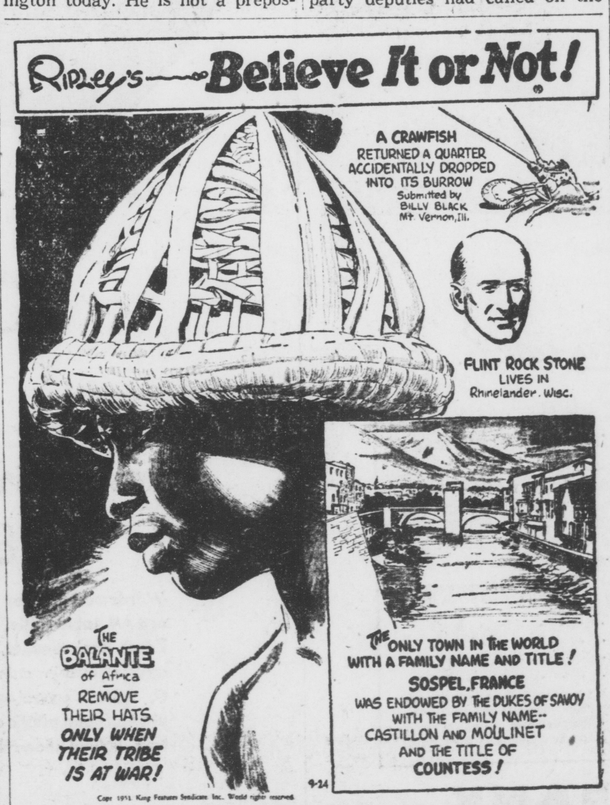

The first was demonstrated after he won the national elections in April, 1948. The victory was considered a resounding defeat for the Communists, and many leaders in De Gasperi's party demanded that the cabinet be filled entirely from the ranks of Christian Democrats. He refused.

"It wouldn't be fair," he said. "This was a victory for democracy, not for any one political party."

And he proceeded to appoint to his cabinet some of the strongest men from the Republican, Liberal, and Socialist parties.

Such is the man who has pulled Italy through the rigorous postwar period with a pro-American government, despite the fact that the largest segment of the Communist party outside Russia is under his rule.

The Only Town in the World with a Family Name and Title

Sospel, France, is the only town in the world with a title and a family name. While it was being ruled by the Dukes of Savoy, in the 18th century, it was given the title of Countess and the family name of Castillon and Moulinet. The full name of the town therefore is Sospel, Countess of Castillon and Moulinet.

Today in Washington

Various Points Are Summed Up Nine Months Before National Political Conventions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 24—The outlook nine months before the national political conventions of both parties can be summed up as follows:

1. General Eisenhower and Senator Taft are the two main rivals at the moment for the Republican nomination. If the convention were held today, Taft would win the nomination.

2. The strength of General Eisenhower is not as extensive as has been supposed by many of his supporters and admirers here. For while the general's name has a magic appeal to numerous Republicans who think he is a sure winner, the fact remains that the regular party organizations throughout the country are either weighted heavily for Taft or are so uncertain about the general's intentions as to hesitate in making commitments and pledges.

3. If General Eisenhower permits his name to be used as an active candidate by next January, he will face considerable opposition. If he waits for the draft process, he will be stronger at convention time. If the general leaves Europe to be an active candidate, he will need a much stronger political organization than has yet been developed for him. The chances are that the Eisenhower movement under those circumstances will become a "stop Taft" movement and it is conceivable then that a "dark horse" could win the race as has happened often when two strong factions are in conflict and neither one has enough strength to gain the victory without the aid of the other.

4. Senator Taft is a weaker candidate today than he will be next January. The Ohio senator is particularly weak among independent voters who do not feel he is safe enough on international policy and that he may revert to his own sort of "isolationism." The senator has been writing a book on foreign policy and is presumably aware of the criticisms. Between now and the convention he doubtless will make an effort to clarify his position on world policy, though there are many elements in the electorate so strongly opposed to him that they say they would rather vote for any Democrat than vote for Taft. It is always difficult to know how strong the tendency of such a group is to shift parties anyway. Many Democrats professed to be for Willkie on the day he was nominated in 1940 but they didn't stick with him.

5. The Democratic national situation is more confused than the Republican. President Truman has made up his mind what he will do about the nomination, but has told nobody. In his ambiguous statements he refers to the fact that he will cross the nominating bridge when he comes to it. His tendency is to avoid any solicitation of delegations. This could mean that he wants to be drafted, or that he is really angling for a complimentary nomination that he could decline. He can have the nomination if he wants it and there will be no contenders till he takes himself out of the race. He may surprise everybody by announcing that he will run for U. S. senator from Missouri. John Quincy Adams served for many years as U. S. senator from Massachusetts after he was president.

6. Most discussions of politics usually lead to inquiries about a writer's personal feelings. There is none, so far as this writer is concerned, in presenting objectively what seems to him to be the present outlook for the candidacies of both parties.

As a registered Democrat with residence in Virginia, this correspondent has regularly voted for Democratic members of Congress and the Democratic state ticket, but is an independent in presidential elections. To illustrate: If Chief Justice Fred Vinson were the next Democratic presidential nominee, this writer would consider voting for him in preference to any Republican. If President Truman is renominated, the writer's vote would probably go to the Republican nominee whoever he may be.

To conclude: It is this writer's belief that any Republican—Taft, Eisenhower or a "dark horse"—will win easily over President Truman if he runs again. This prediction is made on the same basis that an opposite prediction was made nine months before the 1948 election when this correspondent was convinced Mr. Truman would win and wrote that prediction in these dispatches. The writer maintained that view until October 1948 when he overestimated the Republican strength in the farm areas and forecast a Republican victory by a close margin. After an intimate experience with ten consecutive presidential elections in 40 years—in which eight predictions made a week before Election Day turned out correctly and two didn't—the writer has come to believe that a better line on what is going to happen can be gotten by appraising carefully the trend of party strength several months before a campaign starts rather than during the confusion of the campaign itself. Despite the popular belief that speechmaking and stumping the country mean something, the trend usually sets in long before the campaign begins and is rarely changed by subsequent events.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 23 — Press agents of the union racket, operating in the guise of "labor columnists," have been holding forth mournfully on hardships and swindles inflicted on American structural workmen in Alaska and other defensive outposts. These press agents of the great corruption conceal the fact that the unions, themselves, are co-conspirators with the padrones who defraud the workmen with false promises of comfortable quarters and good food at moderate prices.

It may be noted, but only in passing, that these men are drawing exorbitant pay and overtime benefits and are not entitled to fixed low prices for the facilities which they use and, the things which they buy. But that is a parenthetical point. The important truth is that the unions also extort money from these workers on the defenses and do nothing for them. The unions could put a stop to the oppressions instantly if the racketeers were of a mind to.

The union press-agents complain that these workers are forced to buy their jobs from employment agencies in New York, Chicago and far western labor areas. But the sale of jobs has been a union racket for many years and is protected and defended by the American Federation of labor and the union's methods of collection are much more direct and brutal than those of the employment agencies. But the racket is a protege of the crooked Democratic administration in Washington, and is therefore immune.

Let me quote an authentic letter published by the Fairbanks Newsminer last June 14:

"I write to explain another method employed by unions to keep the leaders in complete control and the members well disciplined," says a communication from Matt L. Kamper, who should have used the word "bosses" or "racketeers" instead of "leaders," throughout.

"This letter will consider job disposal. This is one of the most efficient, ruthless and dastardly means of discipline available to the union leaders." Mr. Kamper is a one-man revolution who personally wrecked a union hall and kicked the ears off a union boss by way of remonstrance and was fined by a typical New Deal court.

"Under the union hiring practice, all men must hire out through the union and must have a dispatch slip from the union boss to present at job site.

"The employer cannot and will not hire a man without this dispatch slip.

"So by withholding this dispatch slip, either openly or on some pretext, these later leaders, regularly, starve into submission members who advocate a course of action contrary to their wishes.

"Also members out of favor with the union leader are given dispatch slips to distant job sites (to keep them away from meetings), or to short or otherwise undesirable jobs with a lot of lost time between jobs.

"The majority of members are family men, and all members have their financial problems to meet. It takes a stout hearted person to buck the union leaders.

"By granting continually the dispatch slips to the best jobs to the members who back the policies of the union boss, by dividing the jobs in slack periods among these same men and keeping them working for a far greater period of each year, by ignoring the non-supporters of union policies, and by fining, abusing, and starving the dissenters, the labor leader soon surrounds himself with a hierarchy of stooges and ward heelers, whose zeal and efficiency in carrying out the dictates of the union boss, is rivaled only by a complete lack of principle and regard for the welfare of the other union members.

"Another practice is to have an

RAKING LEAVES

Raking the leaves which fall from the trees may seem to be an endless task. Taken by the wind, they fill the gutter and litter the lawn, and scarcely has a man cleared the ground of some of them when a gust of wind stirs the trees and another echelon drifts down to mock his labor. But there is certain compensation for his pains.

The man who rakes the lawn gets the good feeling of moving his feet over a carpet of newly fallen leaves. As he works he can philosophize about the leaves on the ground as a symbol of the departed summer. He can recall how many bright dreams were his when the summer began, and as he observes the burnt gold and yellow colors of the leaves he can reflect how much brighter was the realization of some of the dreams than he had even dared to hope. He can look at the fallen leaves and be saddened by the thought that all things pass, and yet can remember that after a while the trees will be green again. There on his lawn the man who turns his thoughts in that direction can get a glimpse of the cycle and continuity of existence.

There is compensation, too, in the feel of the leaves in his hands as he gathers them for burning. The crackling of the first leaves as they catch fire and the pungent odor as they burn are a sort of recompense for his trouble. Gathering leaves and burning them is not a job to be done lightly and in a hurry. It is almost a ritual that marks the end of summer.

AIR OF SANCTUARY

There is something about a church which inspires reverence. It matters little whether it is a one-room building with hard-backed benches or a great cathedral with tall spires which point heavenward. The fact that men come to this building to gather in worship establishes it special character.

It may be so because people come to a church to leave their sorrow. Perhaps it is because people lower their voices when they enter, and greed and avarice are forgotten at the door. Inside the church are spoken the words and thoughts which have guided men for centuries. Inside it a person instinctively turns his eyes and his heart toward the altar of greater power and wisdom.

Church is a place set aside by man as a sanctuary where he can retreat when care and trouble press too heavily on his shoulders. It is a place to which he can bring joy which is so great that it seems the heart must burst with it. Church is a place where one comes to talk with his God, and leaves with a lifted spirit and lighter heart. The one who returns to his daily life from the atmosphere of a church takes with him a little of the reverence and peace he found there.

IRAN AND RUSSIA

One of the threats which was prominent in the early progress of the Iranian oil nationalization crisis has now been repeated. It is that if Britain will not buy the oil on Iran's terms a deal will be made to sell the oil to Russia. When the matter first came up there was fear that it might provide an opportunity for Russia to step in and take over his rich source of oil.

The early fear subsided to some extent when experts on the area pointed out that a formidable range of mountains lies between Russia and the oil refineries, which with their pipelines from the oil fields were planned to serve ports on the Persian Gulf. In order to obtain the oil, Russia would have to get a fleet of tankers to those ports. Now that Iran again threatens a deal with Russia, it would be worth something to know whether Russia has figured out a way to carry the oil away.

The hot-rod craze among the teen-age set has picked up scores of devoted followers. But it is hoped they will keep their talents and tools away from power lawn mowers. The things are hard enough to keep up with as it is.

Known only to those who have been deprived of it is the greatness of the blessing of merely being able to breathe normally.

'These Days'

REPUBLICANS WITHOUT PROGRAM

The struggle for power within the Republican Party may result in another Democratic triumph. It needs to be faced honestly that although General Eisenhower holds the imagination of large segments of the population, particularly among businessmen and the middle class, for the politicians he is a stalking horse.

All the prospective candidates, and there are oodles of them, realize that in a clinch between General Eisenhower and Senator Robert A. Taft, someone might be a compromise—drafted, they call it.

The prospective draftees are Thomas E. Dewey, Harold Stassen, Earl Warren, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, to mention a few. As a matter of cold political fact, anyone with the rank of governor or United States senator would enjoy being drafted for the presidential nomination and some are even hopeful for the vice-presidential.

It is, of course, a natural and legal right for any native-born American, of the proper age, to be a candidate for President. And some of our Presidents in the past have been no better than some that offer themselves today. Yet, these are critical times and the country requires a wise, experienced, moral leadership. It requires a personality of the highest calibre.

General Eisenhower could noly run by consent of Harry Truman. Specifically that means that if Harry Truman does not wish Eisenhower to run, he can, quietly, unostentatiously, stack the cards to have it that way. He can keep him so busy that Eisenhower's withdrawal from Europe to run for office could be a public scandal.

On the other hand, if Harry Truman did the wholly unexpected, he might favor Eisenhower, even as a Republican, should the general so declare himself, assured that Eisenhower would, for a while, be merciful toward the record and personalities of the Democratic regime, of which he is now a part and has been since World War II.

However, should Eisenhower run, he might discover the cumulative wrath of General MacArthur, who, realizing that the years have probably eliminated him as a candidate—although his friends do not hold to that notion—seeks for his country a moral resurrection. Douglas MacArthur does not regard Ike Eisenhower as a resurrector. He is likely to make it difficult for any candidate, particularly for Eisenhower, by bringing before the public the realistic issues facing the American people. This, none of the politicians desires for the next campaign.

Thomas E. Dewey is an anti-Taft candidate. He resents Taft's leadership and stature. He also dislikes being pushed to one side. Dewey is an able man, but not too graceful in his political relationships. His opposition to Taft is without meaning, except that the defeat of Taft has become a monomania with him.

He may succeed in preventing Taft from being nominated. His combination with Senator Duff of Pennsylvania and Governor Warren of California will give Dewey great force in the convention, but it will split their party wide open. The Taft followers will not accept again a Willkie-type Republican nor will they take Dewey. They will either stay away from the polls, as many Republicans have done during the past three elections, or they will vote for Harry Truman as a protest against "me-tooism."

The essential difference in following is that a generation of Republicans has appeared who are either seeking an end to the immoralities, corruption, deceit and connivings that have characterized the Truman second term or they are Liberals, as confused as left wing Liberals and with equal lack of definition as to a program. This split is real.

Senator Wayne Morse, for instance, is in no manner related to the Republican Party except for the legalism of running under its banner. Once elected, he associates himself with the prime minister, Dean Acheson. Morse is not without a following and acceptance among some Republicans. The same could be said for Governor Driscoll of New Jersey and Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts. These are important political personalities whose attitudes do count. As they cannot be ignored, the Republicans are split.

The time has probably passed for an effective coalition between the conservative Republicans and the conservative Democrats. Had such a coalition come into existence, it would, in the present mood of the people, have swept the country. What it amounts to is that there is a popular wish for a decent, constructive, conservative candidacy and administration. But the politicians, who control delegations and conventions, are playing solitaire—at which they rarely win.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

PROTEINS BUILDING STONES OF BODY

I have written before of the 300 medical students, flown from the University of Edinburgh to the starving women and children of Europe, who injected rich derivations of proteins into the veins of these suffering and starving victims. The results were so startlingly effective that all over the world today animal proteins—meats, eggs, fish—are being used in cases of shipwreck, train and airplane accidents, to help build up the starving and injured in the shortest possible time.

In a bulletin from the University of Chicago, Dr. R. W. Wissler, assistant professor of pathology, discusses the effects of diet on the recovery of rats from a variety of injuries. Dr. Wissler reminds us that rats are the traditional experimental animals used in food or diet experiments because of the similarity between their responses to foods and that of humans. Where injuries or accidents to rats occurred such as burns, X-ray burns, bleeding, or broken bones, similar to those occurring in humans, and the rats were fed with an insufficient supply of proteins, they recovered slowly. Then the rats were shifted to diets containing high quantities of proteins.

Immediately they gained weight and the proteins in their blood, bodies and livers increased rapidly.

It has been known that both animal and human victims of injury lose large amounts of the "building stones" of proteins immediately following their injuries. Dr. Wissler and his co-workers have been attempting to find out whether this loss results from a breakdown of proteins in the body or from the inability of the body to use proteins in the food properly to maintain the body tissues. The experiments on injured rats show that much protein is lost from the body following injury and the amount of protein lost (excreted or thrown off) was in direct proportion to the severity of the injury.

These research workers found that when rats on a low protein diet (not enough protein for body building purposes) were put on a diet rich in protein, they excreted or lost far smaller amounts of protein products.

The lesson from the above is that while protein is not stored in the body, as is fat, nevertheless a sufficient supply for health should be eaten daily to maintain a reserve, so that much will not be lost to the body when emergencies such as starvation and injuries occur.

Remember, proteins are the "building stones" of the body.

Bridge of Sighs

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Five years ago I was in the Luxembourg Palace in Paris when a delegation representing defeated Italy entered. The entire peace conference sat stolid and chilly. Even the American and Russian delegates, who disagreed on many things, agreed in their frostiness toward the nation which had spawned Mussolini and extended his Fascist brand of tyranny over the Mediterranean.

Japan and Germany were not permitted to send delegates to the peace conference and doubtless would not have dared to do so even had they been permitted. In contrast, a thin-faced, frail Italian wearing spectacles walked timidly up to the rostrum and made a plea.

"I raise my voice for a new republic which is striving toward the lasting and constructive peace which you also are seeking," he said. "A nation of toilers is ready and determined to work with you in the foundation of a more just and humane world."

There was no applause when the thin-faced Italian finished—no indication that he had won support for the cooperation he was seeking. Nor was there any thought that this man could long remain at the helm of the turbulent, wavering coalition of parties which then governed Italy.

Today, however, that man Premier De Gasperi of Italy, still frail, still thin-faced, still wearing horn-rimmed spectacles, is in the United States, not as a suppliant representing a conquered nation, but as a friend and partner in the defense cooperative for western Europe.

And having just come from Ottawa and a discussion of mutual NATO defense, De Gasperi knows better than most how drastically the diplomats have reversed themselves since that frigid day in the palace of Luxembourg in 1946.

Homespun Premier

It is quite possible that Italy would not be playing this role of full partnership had it not been for the man who arrives in Washington today. He is not a prepossessing figure. In fact, you can't imagine anyone more the opposite of Mussolini than Alcide De Gasperi—drab, demure, modest, homespun.

But the exact opposite of Mussolini—in more ways then one—is what Italy has needed in these harassed postwar years. And De Gasperi's life has been the reverse of Mussolini's almost from the day it began.

It began, incidentally, not in Italy but in Austria. De Gasperi was born—70 years ago—on the wrong side of the tracks. The son of a minor Austrian government official in the Tyrolean Alps, where Austria and Italy meet and where slices of territory have changed hands over the years.

De Gasperi studied at the University of Vienna; got into the labor movement, was elected to the Austrian Parliament as an Italian separationist, battled against both the Austrian aristocracy and Italian Communists, and finally, after World War 1 had shifted his part of the Alps from Austria over to Italy, was elected to the Italian Parliament.

Christianity and Politics

It was in this period when the first seeds of Italian fascism were sprouting that De Gasperi helped found the Popular party, later the Christian Democratic party, based on the principle of applying Christianity to social and political welfare.

The foundation of that party came too late. Also the train on which De Gasperi first rode to Rome to take his seat in Parliament arrived too late. Ahead of him arrived Benito Mussolini and his Fascist Black Shirts. De Gasperi's train had been shunted aside to make way for Mussolini's in the night.

It was inevitable that a man with De Gasperi's liberal leanings be jailed by Mussolini. After a year and a half, however, he was rescued by the Archbishop of Trento and later given a job as librarian for the Vatican.

Incidentally, it was an interview with King Victor Emmanuel which led to De Gasperi's jail sentence. He and other Popular party deputies had called on the king to demand the ousting of Mussolini—a conversation which the king promptly relayed back to Il Duce.

There were those who claimed Victor Emmanuel had never approved of Mussolini and wanted to keep him after World War 2. But De Gasperi knew better. And it was that conversation he had with the king 30 years ago which contributed to the fact that Victor Emmanuel died in exile and Italy is a Republic today.

De Gasperi emerged from the Vatican library after 14 years in exile to take part in guerrilla fighting against the Germans and to be elected premier of Italy in 1946.

It is a tribute to his commonsense political sagacity—and some people say to his youthful training in balancing above Alpine precipices—that De Gasperi is still in office today. A dozen cabinets have come and gone in France. A new election is about to be held in England. But DeGasperi continues at the helm in Italy.

The reasons include: First, his sense of fairness; second his deep religious conviction that Christianity must be applied to politics.

The first was demonstrated after he won the national elections in April, 1948. The victory was considered a resounding defeat for the Communists, and many leaders in De Gasperi's party demanded that the cabinet be filled entirely from the ranks of Christian Democrats. He refused.

"It wouldn't be fair," he said. "This was a victory for democracy, not for any one political party."

And he proceeded to appoint to his cabinet some of the strongest men from the Republican, Liberal, and Socialist parties.

Such is the man who has pulled Italy through the rigorous postwar period with a pro-American government, despite the fact that the largest segment of the Communist party outside Russia is under his rule.

The Only Town in the World with a Family Name and Title

Sospel, France, is the only town in the world with a title and a family name. While it was being ruled by the Dukes of Savoy, in the 18th century, it was given the title of Countess and the family name of Castillon and Moulinet. The full name of the town therefore is Sospel, Countess of Castillon and Moulinet.

Today in Washington

Various Points Are Summed Up Nine Months Before National Political Conventions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 24—The outlook nine months before the national political conventions of both parties can be summed up as follows:

1. General Eisenhower and Senator Taft are the two main rivals at the moment for the Republican nomination. If the convention were held today, Taft would win the nomination.

2. The strength of General Eisenhower is not as extensive as has been supposed by many of his supporters and admirers here. For while the general's name has a magic appeal to numerous Republicans who think he is a sure winner, the fact remains that the regular party organizations throughout the country are either weighted heavily for Taft or are so uncertain about the general's intentions as to hesitate in making commitments and pledges.

3. If General Eisenhower permits his name to be used as an active candidate by next January, he will face considerable opposition. If he waits for the draft process, he will be stronger at convention time. If the general leaves Europe to be an active candidate, he will need a much stronger political organization than has yet been developed for him. The chances are that the Eisenhower movement under those circumstances will become a "stop Taft" movement and it is conceivable then that a "dark horse" could win the race as has happened often when two strong factions are in conflict and neither one has enough strength to gain the victory without the aid of the other.

4. Senator Taft is a weaker candidate today than he will be next January. The Ohio senator is particularly weak among independent voters who do not feel he is safe enough on international policy and that he may revert to his own sort of "isolationism." The senator has been writing a book on foreign policy and is presumably aware of the criticisms. Between now and the convention he doubtless will make an effort to clarify his position on world policy, though there are many elements in the electorate so strongly opposed to him that they say they would rather vote for any Democrat than vote for Taft. It is always difficult to know how strong the tendency of such a group is to shift parties anyway. Many Democrats professed to be for Willkie on the day he was nominated in 1940 but they didn't stick with him.

5. The Democratic national situation is more confused than the Republican. President Truman has made up his mind what he will do about the nomination, but has told nobody. In his ambiguous statements he refers to the fact that he will cross the nominating bridge when he comes to it. His tendency is to avoid any solicitation of delegations. This could mean that he wants to be drafted, or that he is really angling for a complimentary nomination that he could decline. He can have the nomination if he wants it and there will be no contenders till he takes himself out of the race. He may surprise everybody by announcing that he will run for U. S. senator from Missouri. John Quincy Adams served for many years as U. S. senator from Massachusetts after he was president.

6. Most discussions of politics usually lead to inquiries about a writer's personal feelings. There is none, so far as this writer is concerned, in presenting objectively what seems to him to be the present outlook for the candidacies of both parties.

As a registered Democrat with residence in Virginia, this correspondent has regularly voted for Democratic members of Congress and the Democratic state ticket, but is an independent in presidential elections. To illustrate: If Chief Justice Fred Vinson were the next Democratic presidential nominee, this writer would consider voting for him in preference to any Republican. If President Truman is renominated, the writer's vote would probably go to the Republican nominee whoever he may be.

To conclude: It is this writer's belief that any Republican—Taft, Eisenhower or a "dark horse"—will win easily over President Truman if he runs again. This prediction is made on the same basis that an opposite prediction was made nine months before the 1948 election when this correspondent was convinced Mr. Truman would win and wrote that prediction in these dispatches. The writer maintained that view until October 1948 when he overestimated the Republican strength in the farm areas and forecast a Republican victory by a close margin. After an intimate experience with ten consecutive presidential elections in 40 years—in which eight predictions made a week before Election Day turned out correctly and two didn't—the writer has come to believe that a better line on what is going to happen can be gotten by appraising carefully the trend of party strength several months before a campaign starts rather than during the confusion of the campaign itself. Despite the popular belief that speechmaking and stumping the country mean something, the speechmaking usually sets in only before the campaign begins and is rarely changed by subsequent events.

RAKING LEAVES

Raking the leaves which fall from the trees may seem to be an endless task. Taken by the wind, they fill the gutter and litter the lawn, and scarcely has a man cleared the ground of some of them when a gust of wind stirs the trees and another echelon drifts down to mock his labor. But there is certain compensation for his pains.

The man who rakes the lawn gets the good feeling of moving his feet over a carpet of newly fallen leaves. As he works he can philosophize about the leaves on the ground as a symbol of the departed summer. He can recall how many bright dreams were his when the summer began, and as he observes the burnt gold and yellow colors of the leaves he can reflect how much brighter was the realization of some of the dreams than he had even dared to hope. He can look at the fallen leaves and be saddened by the thought that all things pass, and yet can remember that after a while the trees will be green again. There on his lawn the man who turns his thoughts in that direction can get a glimpse of the cycle and continuity of existence.

There is compensation, too, in the feel of the leaves in his hands as he gathers them for burning. The crackling of the first leaves as they catch fire and the pungent odor as they burn are a sort of recompense for his trouble. Gathering leaves and burning them is not a job to be done lightly and in a hurry. It is almost a ritual that marks the end of summer.

AIR OF SANCTUARY

There is something about a church which inspires reverence. It matters little whether it is a one-room building with hard-backed benches or a great cathedral with tall spires which point heavenward. The fact that men come to this building to gather in worship establishes it special character.

It may be so because people come to a church to leave their sorrow. Perhaps it is because people lower their voices when they enter, and greed and avarice are forgotten at the door. Inside the church are spoken the words and thoughts which have guided men for centuries. Inside it a person instinctively turns his eyes and his heart toward the altar of greater power and wisdom.

Church is a place set aside by man as a sanctuary where he can retreat when care and trouble press too heavily on his shoulders. It is a place to which he can bring joy which is so great that it seems the heart must burst with it. Church is a place where one comes to talk with his God, and leaves with a lifted spirit and lighter heart. The one who returns to his daily life from the atmosphere of a church takes with him a little of the reverence and peace he found there.

IRAN AND RUSSIA

One of the threats which was prominent in the early progress of the Iranian oil nationalization crisis has now been repeated. It is that if Britain will not buy the oil on Iran's terms a deal will be made to sell the oil to Russia. When the matter first came up there was fear that it might provide an opportunity for Russia to step in and take over his rich source of oil.

The early fear subsided to some extent when experts on the area pointed out that a formidable range of mountains lies between Russia and the oil refineries, which with their pipelines from the oil fields were planned to serve ports on the Persian Gulf. In order to obtain the oil, Russia would have to get a fleet of tankers to those ports. Now that Iran again threatens a deal with Russia, it would be worth something to know whether Russia has figured out a way to carry the oil away.

The hot-rod craze among the teen-age set has picked up scores of devoted followers. But it is hoped they will keep their talents and tools away from power lawn mowers. The things are hard enough to keep up with as it is.

Known only to those who have been deprived of it is the greatness of the blessing of merely being able to breathe normally.

'These Days'

REPUBLICANS WITHOUT PROGRAM

The struggle for power within the Republican Party may result in another Democratic triumph. It needs to be faced honestly that although General Eisenhower holds the imagination of large segments of the population, particularly among businessmen and the middle class, for the politicians he is a stalking horse.

All the prospective candidates, and there are oodles of them, realize that in a clinch between General Eisenhower and Senator Robert A. Taft, someone might be a compromise—drafted, they call it.

The prospective draftees are Thomas E. Dewey, Harold Stassen, Earl Warren, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, to mention a few. As a matter of cold political fact, anyone with the rank of governor or United States senator would enjoy being drafted for the presidential nomination and some are even hopeful for the vice-presidential.

It is, of course, a natural and legal right for any native-born American, of the proper age, to be a candidate for President. And some of our Presidents in the past have been no better than some that offer themselves today. Yet, these are critical times and the country requires a wise, experienced, moral leadership. It requires a personality of the highest calibre.

General Eisenhower could noly run by consent of Harry Truman. Specifically that means that if Harry Truman does not wish Eisenhower to run, he can, quietly, unostentatiously, stack the cards to have it that way. He can keep him so busy that Eisenhower's withdrawal from Europe to run for office could be a public scandal.

On the other hand, if Harry Truman did the wholly unexpected, he might favor Eisenhower, even as a Republican, should the general so declare himself, assured that Eisenhower would, for a while, be merciful toward the record and personalities of the Democratic regime, of which he is now a part and has been since World War II.

However, should Eisenhower run, he might discover the cumulative wrath of General MacArthur, who, realizing that the years have probably eliminated him as a candidate—although his friends do not hold to that notion—seeks for his country a moral resurrection. Douglas MacArthur does not regard Ike Eisenhower as a resurrector. He is likely to make it difficult for any candidate, particularly for Eisenhower, by bringing before the public the realistic issues facing the American people. This, none of the politicians desires for the next campaign.

Thomas E. Dewey is an anti-Taft candidate. He resents Taft's leadership and stature. He also dislikes being pushed to one side. Dewey is an able man, but not too graceful in his political relationships. His opposition to Taft is without meaning, except that the defeat of Taft has become a monomania with him.

He may succeed in preventing Taft from being nominated. His combination with Senator Duff of Pennsylvania and Governor Warren of California will give Dewey great force in the convention, but it will split their party wide open. The Taft followers will not accept again a Willkie-type Republican nor will they take Dewey. They will either stay away from the polls, as many Republicans have done during the past three elections, or they will vote for Harry Truman as a protest against "me-tooism."

The essential difference in following is that a generation of Republicans has appeared who are either seeking an end to the immoralities, corruption, deceit and connivings that have characterized the Truman second term or they are Liberals, as confused as left wing Liberals and with equal lack of definition as to a program. This split is real.

Senator Wayne Morse, for instance, is in no manner related to the Republican Party except for the legalism of running under its banner. Once elected, he associates himself with the prime minister, Dean Acheson. Morse is not without a following and acceptance among some Republicans. The same could be said for Governor Driscoll of New Jersey and Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts. These are important political personalities whose attitudes do count. As they cannot be ignored, the Republicans are split.

The time has probably passed for an effective coalition between the conservative Republicans and the conservative Democrats. Had such a coalition come into existence, it would, in the present mood of the people, have swept the country. What it amounts to is that there is a popular wish for a decent, constructive, conservative candidacy and administration. But the politicians, who control delegations and conventions, are playing solitaire—at which they rarely win.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

PROTEINS BUILDING STONES OF BODY

I have written before of the 300 medical students, flown from the University of Edinburgh to the starving women and children of Europe, who injected rich derivations of proteins into the veins of these suffering and starving victims. The results were so startlingly effective that all over the world today animal proteins—meats, eggs, fish—are being used in cases of shipwreck, train and airplane accidents, to help build up the starving and injured in the shortest possible time.

In a bulletin from the University of Chicago, Dr. R. W. Wissler, assistant professor of pathology, discusses the effects of diet on the recovery of rats from a variety of injuries. Dr. Wissler reminds us that rats are the traditional experimental animals used in food or diet experiments because of the similarity between their responses to foods and that of humans. Where injuries or accidents to rats occurred such as burns, X-ray burns, bleeding, or broken bones, similar to those occurring in humans, and the rats were fed with an insufficient supply of proteins, they recovered slowly. Then the rats were shifted to diets containing high quantities of proteins.

Immediately they gained weight and the proteins in their blood, bodies and livers increased rapidly.

It has been known that both animal and human victims of injury lose large amounts of the "building stones" of proteins immediately following their injuries. Dr. Wissler and his co-workers have been attempting to find out whether this loss results from a breakdown of proteins in the body or from the inability of the body to use proteins in the food properly to maintain the body tissues. The experiments on injured rats show that much protein is lost from the body following injury and the amount of protein lost (excreted or thrown off) was in direct proportion to the severity of the injury.

These research workers found that when rats on a low protein diet (not enough protein for body building purposes) were put on a diet rich in protein, they excreted or lost far smaller amounts of protein products.

The lesson from the above is that while protein is not stored in the body, as is fat, nevertheless a sufficient supply for health should be eaten daily to maintain a reserve, so that much will not be lost to the body when emergencies such as starvation and injuries occur.

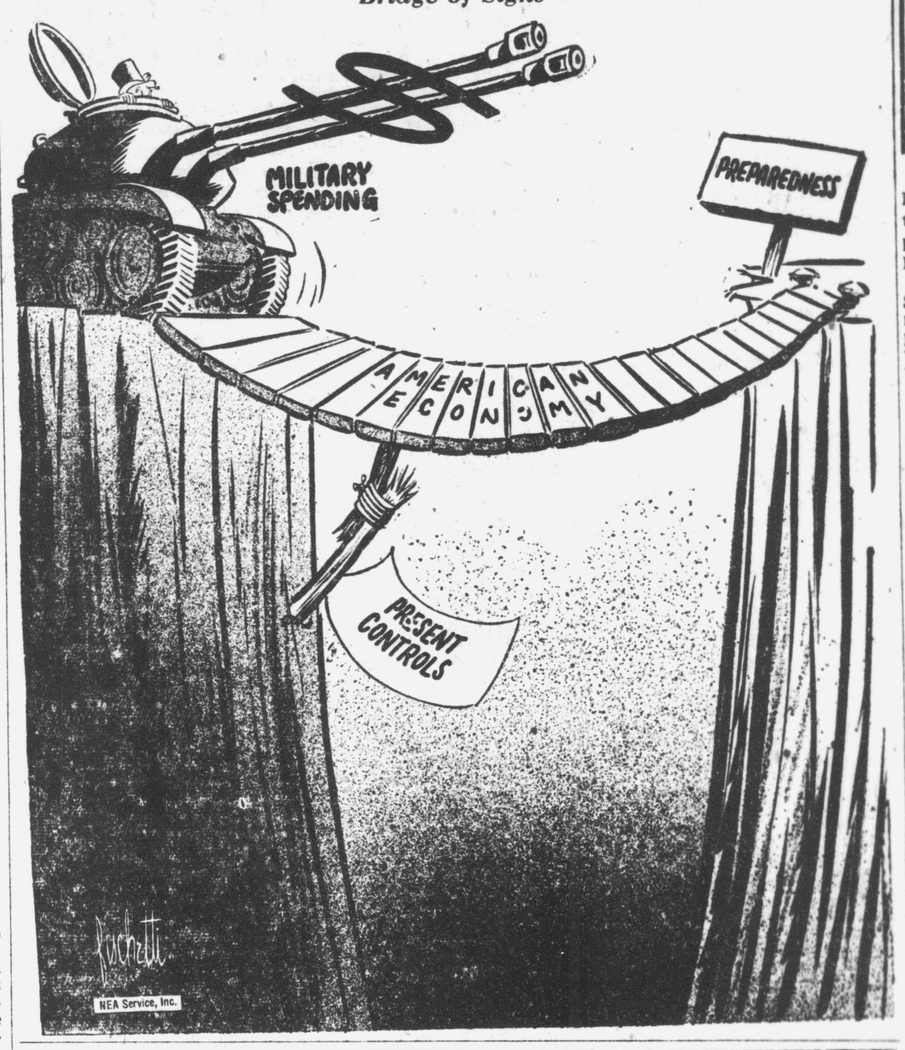

Remember, proteins are the "building stones" of the body.

Bridge of Sighs

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Five years ago I was in the Luxembourg Palace in Paris when a delegation representing defeated Italy entered. The entire peace conference sat stolid and chilly. Even the American and Russian delegates, who disagreed on many things, agreed in their frostiness toward the nation which had spawned Mussolini and extended his Fascist brand of tyranny over the Mediterranean.

Japan and Germany were not permitted to send delegates to the peace conference and doubtless would not have dared to do so even had they been permitted. In contrast, a thin-faced, frail Italian wearing spectacles walked timidly up to the rostrum and made a plea.

"I raise my voice for a new republic which is striving toward the lasting and constructive peace which you also are seeking," he said. "A nation of toilers is ready and determined to work with you in the foundation of a more just and humane world."

There was no applause when the thin-faced Italian finished—no indication that he had won support for the cooperation he was seeking. Nor was there any thought that this man could long remain at the helm of the turbulent, wavering coalition of parties which then governed Italy.

Today, however, that man Premier De Gasperi of Italy, still frail, still thin-faced, still wearing horn-rimmed spectacles, is in the United States, not as a suppliant representing a conquered nation, but as a friend and partner in the defense cooperative for western Europe.

And having just come from Ottawa and a discussion of mutual NATO defense, De Gasperi knows better than most how drastically the diplomats have reversed themselves since that frigid day in the palace of Luxembourg in 1946.

Homespun Premier

It is quite possible that Italy would not be playing this role of full partnership had it not been for the man who arrives in Washington today. He is not a prepossessing figure. In fact, you can't imagine anyone more the opposite of Mussolini than Alcide De Gasperi—drab, demure, modest, homespun.

But the exact opposite of Mussolini—in more ways then one—is what Italy has needed in these harassed postwar years. And De Gasperi's life has been the reverse of Mussolini's almost from the day it began.

It began, incidentally, not in Italy but in Austria. De Gasperi was born—70 years ago—on the wrong side of the tracks. The son of a minor Austrian government official in the Tyrolean Alps, where Austria and Italy meet and where slices of territory have changed hands over the years.

De Gasperi studied at the University of Vienna; got into the labor movement, was elected to the Austrian Parliament as an Italian separationist, battled against both the Austrian aristocracy and Italian Communists, and finally, after World War 1 had shifted his part of the Alps from Austria over to Italy, was elected to the Italian Parliament.

Christianity and Politics

It was in this period when the first seeds of Italian fascism were sprouting that De Gasperi helped found the Popular party, later the Christian Democratic party, based on the principle of applying Christianity to social and political welfare.

The foundation of that party came too late. Also the train on which De Gasperi first rode to Rome to take his seat in Parliament arrived too late. Ahead of him arrived Benito Mussolini and his Fascist Black Shirts. De Gasperi's train had been shunted aside to make way for Mussolini's in the night.

It was inevitable that a man with De Gasperi's liberal leanings be jailed by Mussolini. After a year and a half, however, he was rescued by the Archbishop of Trento and later given a job as librarian for the Vatican.

Incidentally, it was an interview with King Victor Emmanuel which led to De Gasperi's jail sentence. He and other Popular party deputies had called on the king to demand the ousting of Mussolini—a conversation which the king promptly relayed back to Il Duce.

There were those who claimed Victor Emmanuel had never approved of Mussolini and wanted to keep him after World War 2. But De Gasperi knew better. And it was that conversation he had with the king 30 years ago which contributed to the fact that Victor Emmanuel died in exile and Italy is a Republic today.

De Gasperi emerged from the Vatican library after 14 years in exile to take part in guerrilla fighting against the Germans and to be elected premier of Italy in 1946.

It is a tribute to his commonsense political sagacity—and some people say to his youthful training in balancing above Alpine precipices—that De Gasperi is still in office today. A dozen cabinets have come and gone in France. A new election is about to be held in England. But DeGasperi continues at the helm in Italy.

The reasons include: First, his sense of fairness; second his deep religious conviction that Christianity must be applied to politics.

The first was demonstrated after he won the national elections in April, 1948. The victory was considered a resounding defeat for the Communists, and many leaders in De Gasperi's party demanded that the cabinet be filled entirely from the ranks of Christian Democrats. He refused.

"It wouldn't be fair," he said. "This was a victory for democracy, not for any one political party."

And he proceeded to appoint to his cabinet some of the strongest men from the Republican, Liberal, and Socialist parties.

Such is the man who has pulled Italy through the rigorous postwar period with a pro-American government, despite the fact that the largest segment of the Communist party outside Russia is under his rule.

The Only Town in the World with a Family Name and Title

Sospel, France, is the only town in the world with a title and a family name. While it was being ruled by the Dukes of Savoy, in the 18th century, it was given the title of Countess and the family name of Castillon and Moulinet. The full name of the town therefore is Sospel, Countess of Castillon and Moulinet.

Today in Washington

Various Points Are Summed Up Nine Months Before National Political Conventions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 24—The outlook nine months before the national political conventions of both parties can be summed up as follows:

1. General Eisenhower and Senator Taft are the two main rivals at the moment for the Republican nomination. If the convention were held today, Taft would win the nomination.

2. The strength of General Eisenhower is not as extensive as has been supposed by many of his supporters and admirers here. For while the general's name has a magic appeal to numerous Republicans who think he is a sure winner, the fact remains that the regular party organizations throughout the country are either weighted heavily for Taft or are so uncertain about the general's intentions as to hesitate in making commitments and pledges.

3. If General Eisenhower permits his name to be used as an active candidate by next January, he will face considerable opposition. If he waits for the draft process, he will be stronger at convention time. If the general leaves Europe to be an active candidate, he will need a much stronger political organization than has yet been developed for him. The chances are that the Eisenhower movement under those circumstances will become a "stop Taft" movement and it is conceivable then that a "dark horse" could win the race as has happened often when two strong factions are in conflict and neither one has enough strength to gain the victory without the aid of the other.

4. Senator Taft is a weaker candidate today than he will be next January. The Ohio senator is particularly weak among independent voters who do not feel he is safe enough on international policy and that he may revert to his own sort of "isolationism." The senator has been writing a book on foreign policy and is presumably aware of the criticisms. Between now and the convention he doubtless will make an effort to clarify his position on world policy, though there are many elements in the electorate so strongly opposed to him that they say they would rather vote for any Democrat than vote for Taft. It is always difficult to know how strong the tendency of such a group is to shift parties anyway. Many Democrats professed to be for Willkie on the day he was nominated in 1940 but they didn't stick with him.

5. The Democratic national situation is more confused than the Republican. President Truman has made up his mind what he will do about the nomination, but has told nobody. In his ambiguous statements he refers to the fact that he will cross the nominating bridge when he comes to it. His tendency is to avoid any solicitation of delegations. This could mean that he wants to be drafted, or that he is really angling for a complimentary nomination that he could decline. He can have the nomination if he wants it and there will be no contenders till he takes himself out of the race. He may surprise everybody by announcing that he will run for U. S. senator from Missouri. John Quincy Adams served for many years as U. S. senator from Massachusetts after he was president.

6. Most discussions of politics usually lead to inquiries about a writer's personal feelings. There is none, so far as this writer is concerned, in presenting objectively what seems to him to be the present outlook for the candidacies of both parties.

As a registered Democrat with residence in Virginia, this correspondent has regularly voted for Democratic members of Congress and the Democratic state ticket, but is an independent in presidential elections. To illustrate: If Chief Justice Fred Vinson were the next Democratic presidential nominee, this writer would consider voting for him in preference to any Republican. If President Truman is renominated, the writer's vote would probably go to the Republican nominee whoever he may be.

To conclude: It is this writer's belief that any Republican—Taft, Eisenhower or a "dark horse"—will win easily over President Truman if he runs again. This prediction is made on the same basis that an opposite prediction was made nine months before the 1948 election when this correspondent was convinced Mr. Truman would win and wrote that prediction in these dispatches. The writer maintained that view until October 1948 when he overestimated the Republican strength in the farm areas and forecast a Republican victory by a close margin. After an intimate experience with ten consecutive presidential elections in 40 years—in which eight predictions made a week before Election Day turned out correctly and two didn't—the writer has come to believe that a better line on what is going to happen can be gotten by appraising carefully the trend of party strength several months before a campaign starts rather than during the confusion of the campaign itself. Despite the popular belief that speechmaking and stumping the country mean something, the trend usually sets in long before the campaign begins and is rarely changed by subsequent events.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 23 — Press agents of the union racket, operating in the guise of "labor columnists," have been holding forth mournfully on hardships and swindles inflicted on American structural workmen in Alaska and other defensive outposts. These press agents of the great corruption conceal the fact that the unions, themselves, are co-conspirators with the padrones who defraud the workmen with false promises of comfortable quarters and good food at moderate prices.

It may be noted, but only in passing, that these men are drawing exorbitant pay and overtime benefits and are not entitled to fixed low prices for the facilities which they use and, the things which they buy. But that is a parenthetical point. The important truth is that the unions also extort money from these workers on the defenses and do nothing for them. The unions could put a stop to the oppressions instantly if the racketeers were of a mind to.

Eating Up the Future

By FRANK TRIPP

This is a story of a man who understands inflation better than all of the economists in the world. He is an authority on it; and a victim of it, with no trick solution to offer.

He has come to the conclusion that all the common man can do about inflation is to produce enough to keep up with it. Expert manipulation to control and correct it has accomplished little for him.

Instead he believes that the dog-house in which he abides in his old age was created by man's meddling with the laws of nature and supply and demand. There are no charts, graphs or promises in his analysis. His is a simple, cruel experience story; a course in inflation that anybody can understand.

He once owned a profitable business of many years standing. When he reached 60 the country's economy was stable. What has since happened to it was unforeseen. He had accumulated as much as he felt he needed to see him through.

He didn't aspire to be wealthy; had a wife but no family and enough to live comfortably, he thought. So he sold his business and retired. His friends envied him the life of leisure and travel that he planned.

His then sufficient nest egg consisted of investments, ready cash, a little modest rental real estate and his home. It all looked as secure and enduring as Gibraltar. Today, well past 80, only his home is left and he lived meagerly off the controlled rent that he gets from its second floor. He had to eat up his future.

HE SAW the dollars he had saved halved in purchasing power, then halved again while things he bought soared higher and higher, many beyond his reach. He saw his life's competence disappear four times as fast as he expected and was helpless to prevent it.

He sold his car, quit his clubs, stored his beloved golf sticks, sat on his porch and saw the changing world pass by. When you ask this man who learned the hard way, a way that would have crushed a lesser philosopher; when you ask him for the answer, he gives a simple one. He doesn't fly off in a tirade; he rationalizes his predicament and takes half the blame upon himself.

He just says that in our pyramiding economy no man can preserve what he has without producing a considerable part of what he meantime consumes. He says that these days, when a man thinks he has enough to retire is the time he should stay in the harness and accumulate four times as much.

This man's plan failed because he was producing nothing in a period that cost him his dollars many times faster than he had earned them. His plan had worked in America for 100 years—back when people didn't think that society owed them a living.

His plight should make people think; those who care not how little they produce for the dollars they are paid; who loll in serene confidence that the government will support them.

IT IS their ilk who ruined this man; they and the self-seeking politicians who want their votes. Inflation is a child of the welfare state; of its waste and the high prices that its taxes create; plus the moral irresponsibility it has engendered among the people, says this man who paid, and knows.

It is a fraud that comfort and security can come from anything but one's labor, he says; that America can survive on anything but the productivity of its people; a swindle that the way to beat the rap is to cheat the boss, revile and pester him.

Already men are retiring on social security and old-age pensions to learn the sad facts of this story. Men who didn't plan long enough and big enough on their own; who trusted their fate to government and thought it didn't cost them a cent. Millions will fall for the hoax.

They forget that they are the government and pay the shot, down to the bread they eat; that that's what inflation is. They forget that every day they do not produce more than they consume, another has to do it for them; while they eat up their own future and that of their children.

The humbug cannot go on forever. Some day everybody's future will have been consumed—like the man in the story. Because too many are living off the labor of too few.

Miss Addie Pleuss of New York was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tyan and family have returned to New York for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fallon have moved into one of the Tonnesen apartments.

The Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Sawitzky have both recovered from recent illnesses.

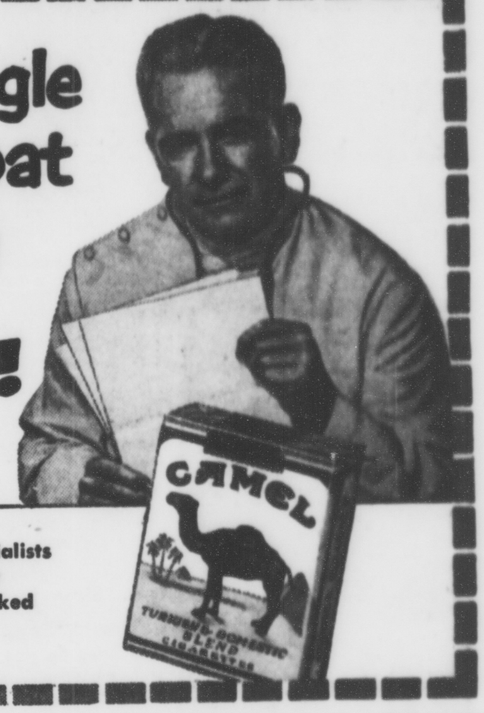

Mrs. Arthur Russell, Sr., was taken to the Robert Parker Hospital in Sayre, Pa., Thursday.

The annual turkey dinner of the church will be served in the parish hall Oct. 25.

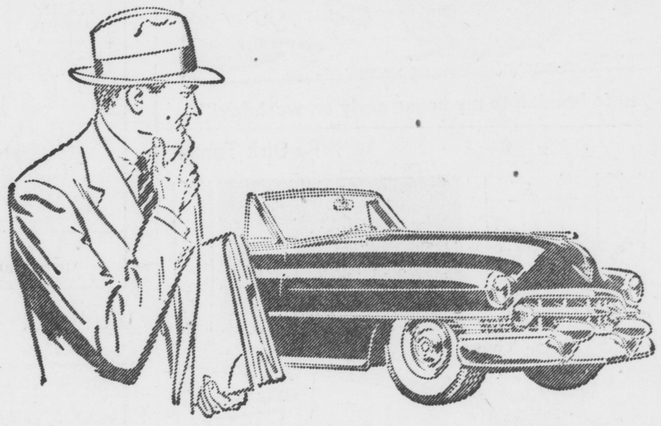

More Static in Cold Weather

In warm and humid weather there is so much moisture in the air that static electrical charges are carried away and not accumulate. Static electric effects, therefore, occur most readily in cold, dry weather.

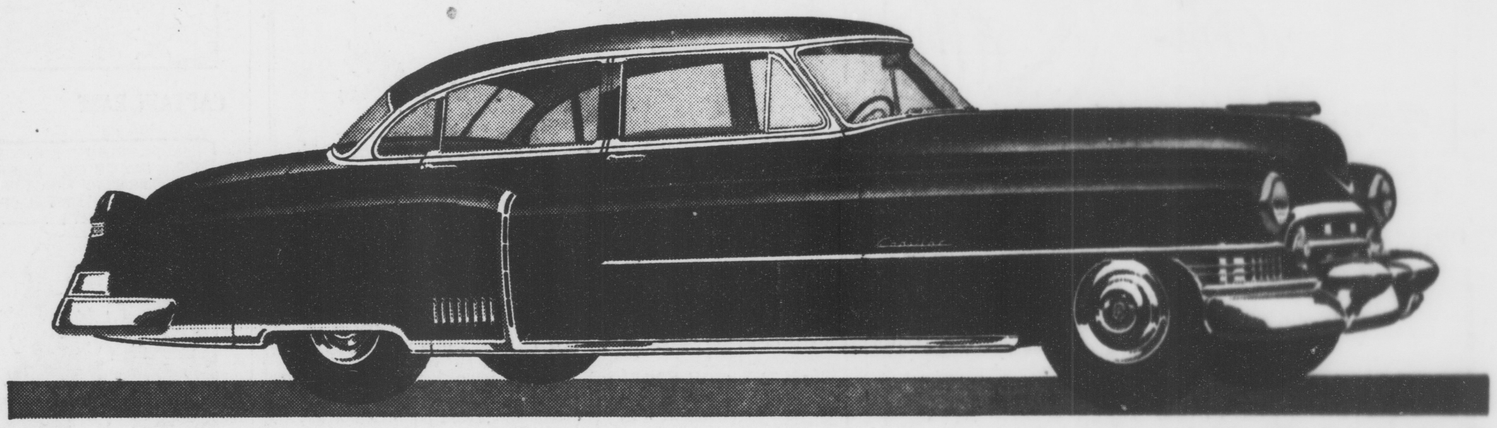

Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking CAMELS!

—that's what noted throat specialists reported in a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days!

Go Ahead and Order It!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

Right at this moment, there are thousands of people in America who are just about ready to end all compromise insofar as motor cars are concerned—and order a Cadillac.

If you are one of these—go ahead and order it!

It will be the wisest motor car decision you ever made—and the facts in support of this statement can be attested by almost everyone who owns a Cadillac.

Every mile you drive, or ride, is a sheer delight. The word for it is wonderful—and the proof of it can be found in an hour at the wheel. To ride is to rest—and to drive is to relax. People who own Cadillacs are free to admit that they actually think up excuses for taking to the highway!

But over and above all this is an argument in favor of Cadillac so practical and conclusive that it should be hard for anyone to ignore:

The lowest-priced model of this great and distinguished motor car is priced competitively with numerous and varied models produced by other manufacturers. Yes—every day—scores of people actually pay the price of a Cadillac —and still don't get one!

Add to this moderate cost the further fact that few cars—of any price—will run farther on a gallon of gasoline—and even economy points to Cadillac!

So—if your heart is set on a Cadillac—come in and order it. There isn't a single logical reason why you shouldn't do so.

Eating Up the Future

By FRANK TRIPP

This is a story of a man who understands inflation better than all of the economists in the world. He is an authority on it; and a victim of it, with no trick solution to offer.

He has come to the conclusion that all the common man can do about inflation is to produce enough to keep up with it. Expert manipulation to control and correct it has accomplished little for him.

Instead he believes that the dog-house in which he abides in his old age was created by man's meddling with the laws of nature and supply and demand. There are no charts, graphs or promises in his analysis. His is a simple, cruel experience story; a course in inflation that anybody can understand.

He once owned a profitable business of many years standing. When he reached 60 the country's economy was stable. What has since happened to it was unforeseen. He had accumulated as much as he felt he needed to see him through.

He didn't aspire to be wealthy; had a wife but no family and enough to live comfortably, he thought. So he sold his business and retired. His friends envied him the life of leisure and travel that he planned.

His then sufficient nest egg consisted of investments, ready cash, a little modest rental real estate and his home. It all looked as secure and enduring as Gibraltar. Today, well past 80, only his home is left and he lived meagerly off the controlled rent that he gets from its second floor. He had to eat up his future.

HE SAW the dollars he had saved halved in purchasing power, then halved again while things he bought soared higher and higher, many beyond his reach. He saw his life's competence disappear four times as fast as he expected and was helpless to prevent it.

He sold his car, quit his clubs, stored his beloved golf sticks, sat on his porch and saw the changing world pass by. When you ask this man who learned the hard way, a way that would have crushed a lesser philosopher; when you ask him for the answer, he gives a simple one. He doesn't fly off in a tirade; he rationalizes his predicament and takes half the blame upon himself.

He just says that in our pyramiding economy no man can preserve what he has without producing a considerable part of what he meantime consumes. He says that these days, when a man thinks he has enough to retire is the time he should stay in the harness and accumulate four times as much.

This man's plan failed because he was producing nothing in a period that cost him his dollars many times faster than he had earned them. His plan had worked in America for 100 years—back when people didn't think that society owed them a living.

His plight should make people think; those who care not how little they produce for the dollars they are paid; who loll in serene confidence that the government will support them.

IT IS their ilk who ruined this man; they and the self-seeking politicians who want their votes. Inflation is a child of the welfare state; of its waste and the high prices that its taxes create; plus the moral irresponsibility it has engendered among the people, says this man who paid, and knows.

It is a fraud that comfort and security can come from anything but one's labor, he says; that America can survive on anything but the productivity of its people; a swindle that the way to beat the rap is to cheat the boss, revile and pester him.

Already men are retiring on social security and old-age pensions to learn the sad facts of this story. Men who didn't plan long enough and big enough on their own; who trusted their fate to government and thought it didn't cost them a cent. Millions will fall for the hoax.

They forget that they are the government and pay the shot, down to the bread they eat; that that's what inflation is. They forget that every day they do not produce more than they consume, another has to do it for them; while they eat up their own future and that of their children.

The humbug cannot go on forever. Some day everybody's future will have been consumed—like the man in the story. Because too many are living off the labor of too few.

More Static in Cold Weather

In warm and humid weather there is so much moisture in the air that static electrical charges are carried away and not accumulate. Static electric effects, therefore, occur most readily in cold, dry weather.

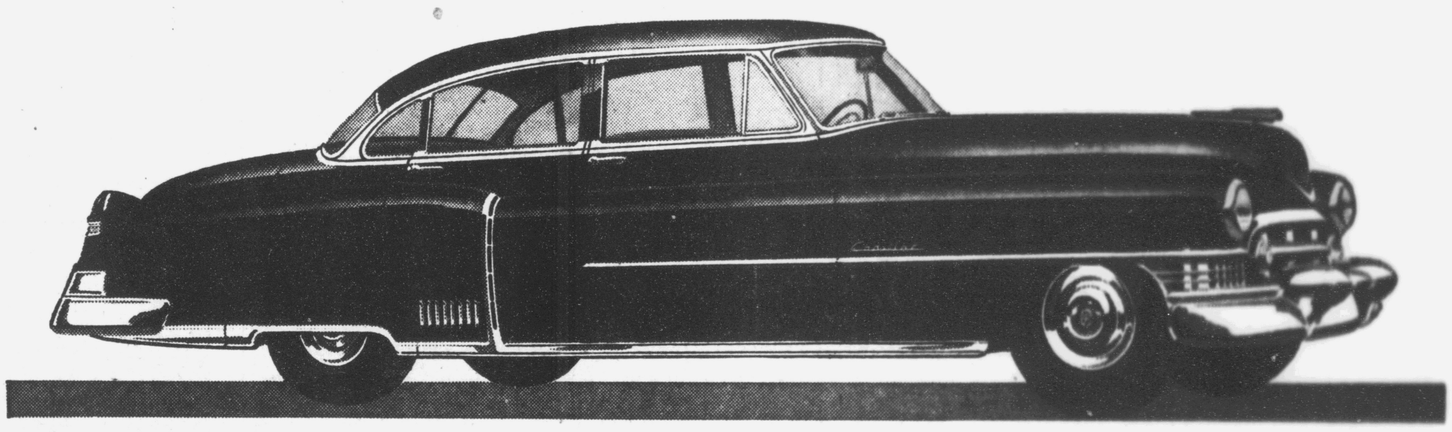

Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking CAMELS!

—that's what noted throat specialists reported in a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days!

Go Ahead and Order It!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

Right at this moment, there are thousands of people in America who are just about ready to end all compromise insofar as motor cars are concerned—and order a Cadillac.

If you are one of these—go ahead and order it!

It will be the wisest motor car decision you ever made—and the facts in support of this statement can be attested by almost everyone who owns a Cadillac.

First of all, consider the car's reputation. Wherever highways lead, there is general recognition that Cadillac is the Standard of the World. Not only is this an endless source of pride and satisfaction to the Cadillac owner—but it is incontestable proof of Cadillac's historic quality. Such a reputation could come only from long-continued superiority.

And then consider what Cadillac brings you in terms of every-day satisfaction.

Every mile you drive, or ride, is a sheer delight. The word for it is wonderful—and the proof of it can be found in an hour at the wheel. To ride is to rest—and to drive is to relax. People who own Cadillacs are free to admit that they actually think up excuses for taking to the highway!

But over and above all this is an argument in favor of Cadillac so practical and conclusive that it should be hard for anyone to ignore:

The lowest-priced model of this great and distinguished motor car is priced competitively with numerous and varied models produced by other manufacturers. Yes—every day—scores of people actually pay the price of a Cadillac —and still don't get one!

Add to this moderate cost the further fact that few cars—of any price—will run farther on a gallon of gasoline—and even economy points to Cadillac!

So—if your heart is set on a Cadillac—come in and order it. There isn't a single logical reason why you shouldn't do so.

A very prosy gentleman, who was in the habit of waylaying Jerrold, met his victim, and, planting himself in the way, said:

Gent — Well, Jerrold, what is going on today?

Jerrold—(darting past the inquirer) I am!

Employer—Do you think you know enough to be useful to this office?

Office Boy — Know enough? Why, I left my last place because the boss said I knew too much.

Interesting to note that General MacArthur, as a five star general, will continue to draw his full pay and allowances, $18,760 a year. Five star generals never retire in the United States and so he will continue to be subject to the orders of military superiors until he dies—but we doubt that in his case.

One can understand the position of the United States government in refusing to permit the entry of people who are not regarded as good security risks.

In Britain, if a pedestrian is proved blamable for an accident involving a motorist he or she has to pay for the damage—which seems reasonable enough. Often, accidents are caused when motorists swerve and hit other cars in avoiding pedestrians who are careless in crossing thoroughfares without watching out for traffic.

First Mosquito—Why are you making such a fuss?

Jacoby on Canasta

Taking a Chance Brings Results

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"I was dealt a natural canasta of sixes," relates a Mentgomery, Ala., correspondent. "Both sides needed 120 points for the initial meld. With the sixes I had a pair of kings, a pair of eights, and a lone ace (after my draw from the stock pile).

"I had to make the very first discard of the hand, and I thought about it quite a bit. I finally discarded the ace. I knew this was dangerous, but reckoned that the next player still had to have a pair of aces and the count to profit from my discard.

"The next player did have the perfect hand — and the heavens fell on me!

"What would an expert do in this situation?"

An expert would discard the ace, hoping for the best, just as my correspondent did. That discard may turn out badly, but it is the wisest choice. Moreover, it would not disturb me greatly if the next player picked up my discard immediately. That's not at all disastrous.

What is the normal future of this hand? You keep discarding whatever you draw until you get a third king or a third eight. Then you are only one draw away from a concealed out. That's one possibility.

Maybe you will draw a wild card before you get a third king or a third eight. Then you have to guess whether to throw a king or an eight. But you're still only one draw away from a concealed out.

Perhaps your partner will make the initial meld while you're waiting. Then you will quickly meld your natural canasta of sixes and thus signal him that you are practically out. He may be able to meld kings or eights, perhaps both, to help you.

One of these should happen fairly quick. The worst that can happen is that one of the opponents may meld out before your side can meld. That's still not a disaster. It may cost you six or seven hundred points—perhaps a thousand. Unpleasant, but not overwhelming.

The way to get yourself massacred is to begin breaking up such a hand. You start by saving the ace and throwing a king or an eight. In a few rounds you have an assortment of odd cards and no play at all for a concealed out. If your partner then fails to meld, you go right to the cleaners. The opponents meld and meld and meld—and you just sit there and take it. That sort of hand may cost you several thousand points—and that is a disaster.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Terrorists Are Jailed

Bombay, India, Sept. 24 (AP)—Ravi Narayan Reddi and 24 others accused as top-ranking Communist terrorists were in Hyderabad jail today. They are blamed for the death of hundreds of officials and landowners in the past six years. The Communists have been virtually in control of jungle areas of the princely state of Hyderabad and have led a peasant campaign against landlords. Hyderabad police announced roundup of the gang yesterday.

Lauds Dever's Stand

Boston, Sept. 24 (AP)—The president of the National Chaplains Association yesterday lauded Gov. Paul A. Dever's apparent stand against capital punishment. The governor during his administration has commuted death sentences imposed on several men. The Rev. Thomas J. Donovan, chaplain at New York's Sing Sing prison, said capital punishment "is supposed to safeguard people on the street, and if it does that it is a good thing."

BOND AND CAPITAL NOTE ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., ADOPTED SEPTEMBER 18TH, 1951, AUTHORIZING THE CONSTRUCTION OF FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS TO THE CITY'S SEWER SYSTEMS, APPROPRIATING $28,000 THEREFOR, INCLUDING THE APPROPRIATION OF $1,608.27 AS A PORTION OF THE DOWN PAYMENT, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $1,891.73 CAPITAL NOTES TO MEET THE PORTION OF THE DOWN PAYMENT NOT PROVIDED BY BUDGETARY APPROPRIATION AND THE ISSUANCE OF $24,500 SERIAL BONDS, OF THE CITY, TO FINANCE THE REMAINDER OF THE APPROPRIATION

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, CONVENED IN SPECIAL SESSION, HEREBY ORDAINS (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Pursuant to a recommendation by Mayor Newkirk, under date of September 6, 1951, and to a formal determination by the Board of Public Works, dated September 4, 1951, and in order to effect a complete separation of the sanitary and storm wastes, including additional shaft and separate flow compartments in the tunnel, in the vicinity of Washington Avenue and Elizabeth Street, the City's sewer systems are hereby authorized to be further improved at an estimated maximum cost of $28,000, in addition to the $30,000 heretofore appropriated by a bond and capital note ordinance of the City adopted November 28, 1950. The estimate of the maximum cost of said object or purpose, including preliminary costs and costs incidental thereto, is $28,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor to the Department of Public Works. The plan of financing includes the sum of $1,608.27 from budgetary appropriation and the issuance of capital notes in the amount of $1,891.73 to provide at least 12% down payment required by law for the current year and the issuance of serial bonds in the amount of $24,500 to finance the remainder of the appropriation and the levy of taxes upon all the taxable real property in the City in amounts sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on the said notes and bonds.

Sec. 2. Capital notes of the City in the principal amount of $1,891.73 and serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $24,500 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 4. of said Local Finance Law, is thirty (30) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided by said Laws as a down payment prior to the issuance of the bonds hereby authorized or of any notes in anticipation of the sale of such bonds, and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $1,608.27 by the appropriation in the budget for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the balance will be provided by the issuance of the capital notes hereby authorized. The City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to withdraw the said sum of $1,608.27 from said budget appropriation and to set aside the proceeds of the sale of said capital notes and to apply said budget appropriation and the proceeds of the said capital notes to the improvements described in Section 1 hereof.

(c) No part of the cost of the improvements authorized by this ordinance has been or shall be specially assessed on property specially benefited thereby.

Sec. 4. Each of the capital notes and each of the serial bonds authorized by this ordinance or any notes issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said capital notes and said serial bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said notes and said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the notes and bonds to mature in each year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in each year.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Local Finance Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to authorizing bond anticipation notes and prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the serial bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the notes and bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or
(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity, is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and in the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law, appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

agreement with several foremen. These foremen get the best craftsmen and in times of labor scarcity are assured of a supply of men for their crews.

"In return for this, these foremen use their influence with their crews, to bring the boys to meetings and have them vote right. Most issues on the meeting floor are decided by a standing vote, and a very agreeable result is obtained when a member votes with both the dispatch agent and his foreman watching him.

"The union hiring hall and dispatch system are illegal. That they still are in existence is more testimony to the fact that the United States laws mean little to the unions. The unions openly defy the judicial system. Might makes right in organized labor, and here indeed is one irresponsible pressure group for the public to watch.

"In bringing this sordid picture before the public, I sincerely believe that I am serving the best interest of both the public and all union rank and file members.

"I do not consider myself anti-union. Few people are."

Some newspapers regularly publish the flagrant pro-union propaganda sold as truthful information and comment by covert union press-agents. These papers are willing parties to a fraud upon their readers. This is a serious corruption in our journalism. It should be faced with honest courage in the frivolous annual deliberations of the magnates of the press.

Shark Disperses Bathers

Miami, Fla., Sept. 24 (AP)—Some 2,500 bathers became runners in a few seconds Sunday when a six-foot shark streaked shoreward in pursuit of a fish dinner. Forrest Rand of Miami said the shark came in swiftly from the open Atlantic "with a large white dorsal fin cutting the surface of the water." The shark's immediate prey was a panic-stricken bonito but the bathers couldn't be sure he wouldn't switch from fish to red meat. Three women splashing in the shallow water screamed and sprinted for the shore 15 feet away while lifeguards quickly ordered the big Sunday crowd out of the water. The shark turned when about five feet offshore and cruised the length of Baker's Haulover Park Beach before putting out to sea.

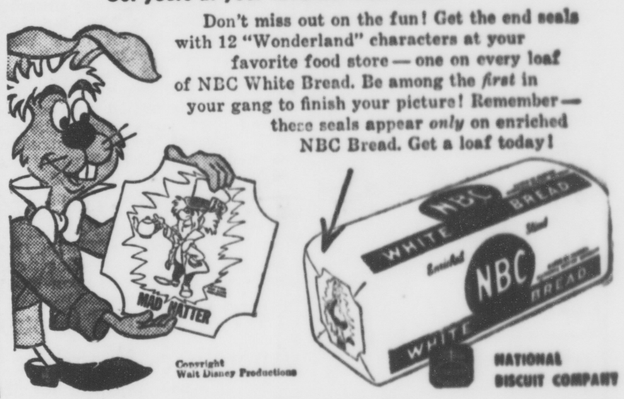

Just Obeyed the Law

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Traffic Patrolman Patrick Dolan commandeered a car last night but failed to catch a motorist who tried to run him down. The driver of the commandeered auto refused to go faster than 25 miles an hour—the speed limit, Dolan said.

"I was dealt a natural canasta of sixes," relates a Mentgomery, Ala., correspondent. "Both sides needed 120 points for the initial meld. With the sixes I had a pair of kings, a pair of eights, and a lone ace (after my draw from the stock pile).

"I had to make the very first discard of the hand, and I thought about it quite a bit. I finally discarded the ace. I knew this was dangerous, but reckoned that the next player still had to have a pair of aces and the count to profit from my discard.

"The next player did have the perfect hand — and the heavens fell on me!

"What would an expert do in this situation?"

An expert would discard the ace, hoping for the best, just as my correspondent did. That discard may turn out badly, but it is the wisest choice. Moreover, it would not disturb me greatly if the next player picked up my discard immediately. That's not at all disastrous.

What is the normal future of this hand? You keep discarding whatever you draw until you get a third king or a third eight. Then you are only one draw away from a concealed out. That's one possibility.

Maybe you will draw a wild card before you get a third king or a third eight. Then you have to guess whether to throw a king or an eight. But you're still only one draw away from a concealed out.

Perhaps your partner will make the initial meld while you're waiting. Then you will quickly meld your natural canasta of sixes and thus signal him that you are practically out. He may be able to meld kings or eights, perhaps both, to help you.

One of these should happen fairly quick. The worst that can happen is that one of the opponents may meld out before your side can meld. That's still not a disaster. It may cost you six or seven hundred points—perhaps a thousand. Unpleasant, but not overwhelming.

The way to get yourself massacred is to begin breaking up such a hand. You start by saving the ace and throwing a king or an eight. In a few rounds you have an assortment of odd cards and no play at all for a concealed out. If your partner then fails to meld, you go right to the cleaners. The opponents meld and meld and meld—and you just sit there and take it. That sort of hand may cost you several thousand points—and that is a disaster.

Terrorists Are Jailed

Bombay, India, Sept. 24 (AP)—Ravi Narayan Reddi and 24 others accused as top-ranking Communist terrorists were in Hyderabad jail today. They are blamed for the death of hundreds of officials and landowners in the past six years. The Communists have been virtually in control of jungle areas of the princely state of Hyderabad and have led a peasant campaign against landlords. Hyderabad police announced roundup of the gang yesterday.

Lauds Dever's Stand

Boston, Sept. 24 (AP)—The president of the National Chaplains Association yesterday lauded Gov. Paul A. Dever's apparent stand against capital punishment. The governor during his administration has commuted death sentences imposed on several men. The Rev. Thomas J. Donovan, chaplain at New York's Sing Sing prison, said capital punishment "is supposed to safeguard people on the street, and if it does that it is a good thing."

Y., ADOPTED SEPTEMBER 18TH, 1951, AUTHORIZING THE CONSTRUCTION OF FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS TO THE CITY'S SEWER SYSTEMS, APPROPRIATING $28,000 THEREFOR, INCLUDING THE APPROPRIATION OF $1,608.27 AS A PORTION OF THE DOWN PAYMENT, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $1,891.73 CAPITAL NOTES TO MEET THE PORTION OF THE DOWN PAYMENT NOT PROVIDED BY BUDGETARY APPROPRIATION AND THE ISSUANCE OF $24,500 SERIAL BONDS, OF THE CITY, TO FINANCE THE REMAINDER OF THE APPROPRIATION

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, CONVENED IN SPECIAL SESSION, HEREBY ORDAINS (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Pursuant to a recommendation by Mayor Newkirk, under date of September 6, 1951, and a formal determination by the Board of Public Works, dated September 4, 1951, and in order to effect a complete separation of the sanitary and storm wastes, including additional shaft and separate flow compartments in the tunnel, in the vicinity of Washington Avenue and Elizabeth Street, the City's sewer systems are hereby authorized to be further improved at an estimated maximum cost of $28,000, in addition to the $30,000 heretofore appropriated by a bond and capital note ordinance of the City adopted November 28, 1950. The estimate of the maximum cost of said object or purpose, including preliminary costs and costs incidental thereto, is $28,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor to the Department of Public Works. The plan of financing includes the sum of $1,608.27 from budgetary appropriation and the issuance of capital notes in the amount of $1,891.73 to provide at least 12% down payment required by law for the current year and the issuance of serial bonds in the amount of $24,500 to finance the remainder of the appropriation and the levy of taxes upon all the taxable real property in the City in amounts sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on the said notes and bonds.

Sec. 2. Capital notes of the City in the principal amount of $1,891.73 and serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $24,500 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 4. of said Local Finance Law, is thirty (30) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided by said Laws as a down payment prior to the issuance of the bonds hereby authorized or of any notes in anticipation of the sale of such bonds, and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $1,608.27 by the appropriation in the budget for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the balance will be provided by the issuance of the capital notes hereby authorized. The City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to withdraw the said sum of $1,608.27 from said budget appropriation and to set aside the proceeds of the sale of said capital notes and to apply said budget appropriation and the proceeds of the said capital notes to the improvements described in Section 1 hereof.

(c) No part of the cost of the improvement authorized by this ordinance has been or shall be specially assessed on property specially benefited thereby.

Sec. 4. Each of the capital notes and each of the serial bonds authorized by this ordinance or any notes issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said capital notes and said serial bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said notes and said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the notes and bonds to mature in each year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in each year.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Local Finance Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to authorizing bond anticipation notes and prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the serial bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the notes and bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity, is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and in the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law, appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

agreement with several foremen. These foremen get the best craftsmen and in times of labor scarcity are assured of a supply of men for their crews.

"In return for this, these foremen use their influence with their crews, to bring the boys to meetings and have them vote right. Most issues on the meeting floor are decided by a standing vote, and a very agreeable result is obtained when a member votes with both the dispatch agent and his foreman watching him.

"The union hiring hall and dispatch system are illegal. That they still are in existence is more testimony to the fact that the United States laws mean little to the unions. The unions openly defy the judicial system. Might makes right in organized labor, and here indeed is one irresponsible pressure group for the public to watch.

"In bringing this sordid picture before the public, I sincerely believe that I am serving the best interest of both the public and all union rank and file members.

"I do not consider myself anti-union. Few people are."

Some newspapers regularly publish the flagrant pro-union propaganda sold as truthful information and comment by covert union press-agents. These papers are willing parties to a fraud upon their readers. This is a serious corruption in our journalism. It should be faced with honest courage in the frivolous annual deliberations of the magnates of the press.

Shark Disperses Bathers

Miami, Fla., Sept. 24 (AP)—Some 2,500 bathers became runners in a few seconds Sunday when a six-foot shark streaked shoreward in pursuit of a fish dinner. Forrest Rand of Miami said the shark came in swiftly from the open Atlantic "with a large white dorsal fin cutting the surface of the water." The shark's immediate prey was a panic-stricken bonito but the bathers couldn't be sure he wouldn't switch from fish to red meat. Three women splashing in the shallow water screamed and sprinted for the shore 15 feet away while lifeguards quickly ordered the big Sunday crowd out of the water. The shark turned when about five feet offshore and cruised the length of Baker's Haulover Park Beach before putting out to sea.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Traffic Patrolman Patrick Dolan commandeered a car last night but failed to catch a motorist who tried to run him down. The driver of the commandeered auto refused to go faster than 25 miles an hour—the speed limit, Dolan said.

Jacoby on Canasta

Taking a Chance Brings Results

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"I was dealt a natural canasta of sixes," relates a Mentgomery, Ala., correspondent. "Both sides needed 120 points for the initial meld. With the sixes I had a pair of kings, a pair of eights, and a lone ace (after my draw from the stock pile).

"I had to make the very first discard of the hand, and I thought about it quite a bit. I finally discarded the ace. I knew this was dangerous, but reckoned that the next player still had to have a pair of aces and the count to profit from my discard.

"The next player did have the perfect hand — and the heavens fell on me!

"What would an expert do in this situation?"

An expert would discard the ace, hoping for the best, just as my correspondent did. That discard may turn out badly, but it is the wisest choice. Moreover, it would not disturb me greatly if the next player picked up my discard immediately. That's not at all disastrous.

What is the normal future of this hand? You keep discarding whatever you draw until you get a third king or a third eight. Then you are only one draw away from a concealed out. That's one possibility.

Maybe you will draw a wild card before you get a third king or a third eight. Then you have to guess whether to throw a king or an eight. But you're still only one draw away from a concealed out.

Perhaps your partner will make the initial meld while you're waiting. Then you will quickly meld your natural canasta of sixes and thus signal him that you are practically out. He may be able to meld kings or eights, perhaps both, to help you.

One of these should happen fairly quick. The worst that can happen is that one of the opponents may meld out before your side can meld. That's still not a disaster. It may cost you six or seven hundred points—perhaps a thousand. Unpleasant, but not overwhelming.

The way to get yourself massacred is to begin breaking up such a hand. You start by saving the ace and throwing a king or an eight. In a few rounds you have an assortment of odd cards and no play at all for a concealed out. If your partner then fails to meld, you go right to the cleaners. The opponents meld and meld and meld—and you just sit there and take it. That sort of hand may cost you several thousand points—and that is a disaster.

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, CONVENED IN SPECIAL SESSION, HEREBY ORDAINS (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Pursuant to a recommendation by Mayor Newkirk, under date of September 6, 1951, and to a formal determination by the Board of Public Works, dated September 4, 1951, and in order to effect a complete separation of the sanitary and storm wastes, including additional shaft and separate flow compartments in the tunnel, in the vicinity of Washington Avenue and Elizabeth Street, the City's sewer systems are hereby authorized to be further improved at an estimated maximum cost of $28,000, in addition to the $30,000 heretofore appropriated by a bond and capital note ordinance of the City adopted November 28, 1950. The estimate of the maximum cost of said object or purpose, including preliminary costs and costs incidental thereto, is $28,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor to the Department of Public Works. The plan of financing includes the sum of $1,608.27 from budgetary appropriation and the issuance of capital notes in the amount of $1,891.73 to provide at least 12% down payment required by law for the current year and the issuance of serial bonds in the amount of $24,500 to finance the remainder of the appropriation and the levy of taxes upon all the taxable real property in the City in amounts sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on the said notes and bonds.

Sec. 2. Capital notes of the City in the principal amount of $1,891.73 and serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $24,500 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 4. of said Local Finance Law, is thirty (30) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided by said Laws as a down payment prior to the issuance of the bonds hereby authorized or of any notes in anticipation of the sale of such bonds, and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $1,608.27 by the appropriation in the budget for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the balance will be provided by the issuance of the capital notes hereby authorized. The City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to withdraw the said sum of $1,608.27 from said budget appropriation and to set aside the proceeds of the sale of said capital notes and to apply said budget appropriation and the proceeds of the said capital notes to the improvements described in Section 1 hereof.

(c) No part of the cost of the improvements authorized by this ordinance has been or shall be specially assessed on property specially benefited thereby.

Sec. 4. Each of the capital notes and each of the serial bonds authorized by this ordinance or any notes issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said capital notes and said serial bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said notes and said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the notes and bonds to mature in each year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in each year.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Local Finance Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to authorizing bond anticipation notes and prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the serial bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the notes and bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or
(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity, is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and in the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law, appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

agreement with several foremen. These foremen get the best craftsmen and in times of labor scarcity are assured of a supply of men for their crews.

"In return for this, these foremen use their influence with their crews, to bring the boys to meetings and have them vote right. Most issues on the meeting floor are decided by a standing vote, and a very agreeable result is obtained when a member votes with both the dispatch agent and his foreman watching him.

"The union hiring hall and dispatch system are illegal. That they still are in existence is more testimony to the fact that the United States laws mean little to the unions. The unions openly defy the judicial system. Might makes right in organized labor, and here indeed is one irresponsible pressure group for the public to watch.

"In bringing this sordid picture before the public, I sincerely believe that I am serving the best interest of both the public and all union rank and file members.

"I do not consider myself anti-union. Few people are."

Some newspapers regularly publish the flagrant pro-union propaganda sold as truthful information and comment by covert union press-agents. These papers are willing parties to a fraud upon their readers. This is a serious corruption in our journalism. It should be faced with honest courage in the frivolous annual deliberations of the magnates of the press.

Over 250 Gather For YMCA's Annual Kick-Off Saturday

Approximately 250 boys aged eight to 16 gathered Saturday morning for the YMCA's annual kick-off party. Many of the number were participating in the Y program for the first time. The group, under the direction of Louis Schafer, physical director, and Clarence Corell, boys' work secretary, assembled in the gymnasium at 10 a. m.

Mr. Schafer explained the program followed in the gymnasium and swimming pool for boys of all ages, stressing its learn-to-swim portion. He reminded them of the importance of swimming as a safety measure to prevent drowning.

"Accidents," he said, "can be many, but drowning can happen only once."

Mr. Schafer also told the boys to explain the Y's swimming program, and the reasons for it, to their parents.

The Y's recreational program, which includes parties, bus trips and other forms of boys' work, was explained by Mr. Corell.

Next on the program were movies of last year's college football and basketball games, followed by a movie short showing Bill Tilden's tennis instruction methods. The kick-off party ended with doughnuts and soda.

Parents or boys wishing more information on the Y program are asked to contact Mr. Schafer, Mr. Corell, or to call the YMCA, 1100. All gymnasium, swimming, club and craft classes will open today.

Dittmar, 269 Smith avenue, to James Bernard Philip, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Philip, 11 Wetmore avenue, Morristown, N. J. Officiating at the single ring ceremony and nuptial Mass was the Rt. Rev. HOME BUREAU

Final School Conducted

Miss Therese Wood, specialist from the College of Home Economics, conducted the first in a series of three training schools Sept. 20 on How to Get the Most for Your Food Dollar for 22 food and nutrition leaders in the Ulster County Home Bureau. Concentrating on the purchase of fruits and vegetables Miss Wood said that all "shopping requires careful thinking through of your purchases, comparative shopping which becomes a game rather than a chore, and to make sure that foods purchased at advantageous prices be carefully stored to avoid waste." The group present prepared an economical meal which consisted of pinwheel casserole, Chinese cabbage salad with French dressing, apple dessert with streusel topping and milk.

"Food choices are only economical when they purchase good nutritious value for the family," said Miss Wood.

Leaders will repeat the lesson in their groups during the coming months.

Miss Helen Rowe conducted the first training school on the cotton dress for 23 leaders Sept. 20. Among the topics included in the day's program were pattern and fabric selection and the taking of figure measurements. Leaders are planning to make winter cotton dresses. In the units when the lessons are taught in the fall, the winter cotton dress will be made. Those units not having the classes until later in the year will make spring cotton dresses.

School on Hooked Rugs

Mrs. George Schmoll of Orange county joined Mrs. William Douglas, county sponsor, and Miss Everice Parsons in the conducting of a training school on hooked rugs. Sixteen leaders were present. Each leader is designing a geometric and a floral rug in preparation for teaching the project in their units. Mrs. Schmoll brought a selection of rugs that were made by women in Orange county to show how successfully they had made their own designs and chosen their color schemes. Among the rugs on display were those loaned by Ulster county women.

WHEN FIANCE'S FAMILY INCLUDED

A mother writes: "My daughter and I cannot agree. When she became engaged I gave her a party, inviting her fiance's family who were,upto then, strangers. At present her friends are giving her showers and in each instance she feels that his family should also be asked. That is where we disagree. Which of us is right.-"

If he has a sister your daughter's age, she would be right. But certainly it is not expected that the older members of his family be invited to a party for young people.

Who Buys Flowers?

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend is getting married soon and she is under the impression that the bridegroom pays for her flowers and the flowers worn by their mothers. I disagreed and say her family is responsible for all these flowers. Right?

Answer: This is a question of locality. According to the custom of yesterday the bridegroom always bought the bride's bouquet and on occasion the flowers worn by both mothers. Today his obligation is to buy the bouttonnieres for his ushers. Further than this he follows the custom of his own community. This may include the bride's bouquet and always includes the flowers she wears away.

"Doctor"

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a man holding a Ph.D. degree announce himself "Doctor" on the telephone?

Answer: If the person with whom he is speaking calls him "Doctor," then it is proper that he announce himself this same way. Otherwise, he announces himself as John Jones.

All Must Understand

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to talk in a foreign tongue in a restaurant when everyone in the immediate group understands and speaks the foreign tongue? All of them do speak English, however.

Answer: It is never discourteous to talk in a foreign language excepting when some of those present do not understand.

HOME BUREAU

Final School Conducted

Miss Therese Wood, specialist from the College of Home Economics, conducted the first in a series of three training schools Sept. 20 on How to Get the Most for Your Food Dollar for 22 food and nutrition leaders in the Ulster County Home Bureau. Concentrating on the purchase of fruits and vegetables Miss Wood said that all "shopping requires careful thinking through of your purchases, comparative shopping which becomes a game rather than a chore, and to make sure that foods purchased at advantageous prices be carefully stored to avoid waste." The group present prepared an economical meal which consisted of pinwheel casserole, Chinese cabbage salad with French dressing, apple dessert with streusel topping and milk.

"Food choices are only economical when they purchase good nutritious value for the family," said Miss Wood.

Leaders will repeat the lesson in their groups during the coming months.

Miss Helen Rowe conducted the first training school on the cotton dress for 23 leaders Sept. 20. Among the topics included in the day's program were pattern and fabric selection and the taking of figure measurements. Leaders are planning to make winter cotton dresses. In the units when the lessons are taught in the fall, the winter cotton dress will be made. Those units not having the classes until later in the year will make spring cotton dresses.

School on Hooked Rugs

Mrs. George Schmoll of Orange county joined Mrs. William Douglas, county sponsor, and Miss Everice Parsons in the conducting of a training school on hooked rugs. Sixteen leaders were present. Each leader is designing a geometric and a floral rug in preparation for teaching the project in their units. Mrs. Schmoll brought a selection of rugs that were made by women in Orange county to show how successfully they had made their own designs and chosen their color schemes.

Among the rugs on display were those loaned by Ulster county women.

WHEN FIANCE'S FAMILY INCLUDED

A mother writes: "My daughter and I cannot agree. When she became engaged I gave her a party, inviting her fiance's family who were,upto then, strangers. At present her friends are giving her showers and in each instance she feels that his family should also be asked. That is where we disagree. Which of us is right."

If he has a sister your daughter's age, she would be right. But certainly it is not expected that the older members of his family be invited to a party for young people.

Who Buys Flowers?

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend is getting married soon and she is under the impression that the bridegroom pays for her flowers and the flowers worn by their mothers. I disagreed and say her family is responsible for all these flowers. Right?

Answer: This is a question of locality. According to the custom of yesterday the bridegroom always bought the bride's bouquet and on occasion the flowers worn by both mothers. Today his obligation is to buy the bouttonnieres for his ushers. Further than this he follows the custom of his own community. This may include the bride's bouquet and always includes the flowers she wears away.

"Doctor"

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a man holding a Ph.D. degree announce himself "Doctor" on the telephone?

Answer: If the person with whom he is speaking calls him "Doctor," then it is proper that he announce himself this same way. Otherwise, he announces himself as John Jones.

All Must Understand

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to talk in a foreign tongue in a restaurant when everyone in the immediate group understands and speaks the foreign tongue? All of them do speak English, however.

Answer: It is never discourteous to talk in a foreign language excepting when some of those present do not understand.

Where is the reception given and what should be served after the christening of a baby? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, here leaflet E-36, "The New Baby," includes answers to the above details. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G. HOME BUREAU

Final School Conducted

Miss Therese Wood, specialist from the College of Home Economics, conducted the first in a series of three training schools Sept. 20 on How to Get the Most for Your Food Dollar for 22 food and nutrition leaders in the Ulster County Home Bureau. Concentrating on the purchase of fruits and vegetables Miss Wood said that all "shopping requires careful thinking through of your purchases, comparative shopping which becomes a game rather than a chore, and to make sure that foods purchased at advantageous prices be carefully stored to avoid waste." The group present prepared an economical meal which consisted of pinwheel casserole, Chinese cabbage salad with French dressing, apple dessert with streusel topping and milk.

"Food choices are only economical when they purchase good nutritious value for the family," said Miss Wood.

Leaders will repeat the lesson in their groups during the coming months.

Miss Helen Rowe conducted the first training school on the cotton dress for 23 leaders Sept. 20. Among the topics included in the day's program were pattern and fabric selection and the taking of figure measurements. Leaders are planning to make winter cotton dresses. In the units when the lessons are taught in the fall, the winter cotton dress will be made. Those units not having the classes until later in the year will make spring cotton dresses.

School on Hooked Rugs

Mrs. George Schmoll of Orange county joined Mrs. William Douglas, county sponsor, and Miss Everice Parsons in the conducting of a training school on hooked rugs. Sixteen leaders were present. Each leader is designing a geometric and a floral rug in preparation for teaching the project in their units. Mrs. Schmoll brought a selection of rugs that were made by women in Orange county to show how successfully they had made their own designs and chosen their color schemes. Among the rugs on display were those loaned by Ulster county women.

WHEN FIANCE'S FAMILY INCLUDED

A mother writes: "My daughter and I cannot agree. When she became engaged I gave her a party, inviting her fiance's family who were,upto then, strangers. At present her friends are giving her showers and in each instance she feels that his family should also be asked. That is where we disagree. Which of us is right.-"

If he has a sister your daughter's age, she would be right. But certainly it is not expected that the older members of his family be invited to a party for young people.

Who Buys Flowers?

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend is getting married soon and she is under the impression that the bridegroom pays for her flowers and the flowers worn by their mothers. I disagreed and say her family is responsible for all these flowers. Right?

Answer: This is a question of locality. According to the custom of yesterday the bridegroom always bought the bride's bouquet and on occasion the flowers worn by both mothers. Today his obligation is to buy the bouttonnieres for his ushers. Further than this he follows the custom of his own community. This may include the bride's bouquet and always includes the flowers she wears away.

"Doctor"

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a man holding a Ph.D. degree announce himself "Doctor" on the telephone?

Answer: If the person with whom he is speaking calls him "Doctor," then it is proper that he announce himself this same way. Otherwise, he announces himself as John Jones.

All Must Understand

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to talk in a foreign tongue in a restaurant when everyone in the immediate group understands and speaks the foreign tongue? All of them do speak English, however.

Answer: It is never discourteous to talk in a foreign language excepting when some of those present do not understand.

Where is the reception given and what should be served after the christening of a baby? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, here leaflet E-36, "The New Baby," includes answers to the above details. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G. Morris Is Hurt In Local Mishap

William J. Morris, of 461 Washington avenue, suffered a laceration under the left eye in a traffic mishap at Main and Wall streets Sunday.

The police report at 3:46 a. m., said a car owned by Carroll Mirris, of 461 Washington avenue, and operated by Kathryn Van-Gaasbeck, 52 Murphy street, headed south on Wall street and turning left into Main, skidded on wet pavement and struck a tree between St. Joseph's Church and the parish house of the First Dutch Reformed Church.

Morris was taken to Kingston hospital where his condition was reported today as "fair." The car was towed from the scene, the report said.

Tuberculosis claims about one-eighth of all deaths the world over.

about the time when the army's Manhattan project was developing the first atomic bomb at Los Alamos.

Unofficial smiles from the FBI and the AEC are given to the souvenir hunter theory.

Observers point out that David Greenglass, now serving a 15-year term for giving atom secrets to Russia, worked at Los Alamos in 1945-46. Dr. Laus Fuchs, convicted by an English court on a similar charge, worked there in 1943.

The 33-pound chunk was found at Dalhart in June by Jodell Golden, 13, Don Monroe, 12, and Walton Fowler, 13. They dug it up from under a tree so they wouldn't hurt their bare feet on a piece sticking out.

After a series of homemade tests, it was turned over to Albert Law, editor of the Dalhart Texan. Law shipped it to the University of New Mexico thinking it might be a meteorite.

Dr. Lincoln LaPaz called in Dr. Carl Beck, a mineralogist, and Dr. Milton Kahn, a radio chemist with three years experience at Los Alamos. They found it was uranium and called the FBI and AEC.

Agents visited Dalhart and turned up the second piece. Both were flown to Los Alamos.

A check revealed that no one had suffered any ill effects from handling the metal.

The announcement caused a stir in Dalhart. An extra edition of Law's paper—normal circulation 2500—sold 2000 copies in an hour. Dalhart's 6000 folks were amazed that they had been handling for three months the stuff of which the atomic bomb is made.

Gen. MacArthur Tops FDR in Boys' Poll

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur rates just ahead of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Babe Ruth as the favorite hero, past or present, of American boys and girls, according to a Boys Athletic League survey.

The league adds that the youngsters also picked baseball players Joe DiMaggio and Jackie Robinson as their favorite athletes, the navy as their favorite military service, and steak with an ice cream dessert as their favorite dinner.

During the six-month poll, the league said yesterday as it disclosed the results, more than 20,000 boys and girls between the ages of 11 and 19 were asked to give their likes and dislikes.

The poll was conducted in cooperation with 102 children's social and welfare agencies in 27 states.

Bard Students Do Own Housework In Economy Move

Annandale-on-Hudson, N., Y., Sept. 24—Bard College students are now caring for their own rooms because of a sharp curtailment of maid service in the dormitories this fall. The new policy is an economy measure, President James H. Case, Jr., pointed out, and follows the practice of many other colleges in recent years.

A generous supply of mops and dust pans, and additional vacuum cleaners have been made easily accessible in the various residence halls to encourage the students to maintain decent standards of cleanliness. The College, however, still assumes responsibility for the maintenance of common areas.

The new plan imposed by the administration has been accepted willingly. To date reports indicate that the students are showing reasonable skill and aptitude in their housekeeping efforts. Performance, however, is being carefully watched by the Institutional Committee of the Community Council, a student group that works closely with the Department of Buildings and Grounds, and it will be their task to call to account the lazy and untidy.

There are more than 1,500 species of fireflies, says the National Geographic Society.

Service for Crows

Plymouth, N. C. (AP)—Do crows read newspapers? W. V. Hays, Washington county farm agent for the State College Extension Service, thinks perhaps they do. Hays says the county wildlife club recently arranged a "crow shoot" for one afternoon at 5 o'clock, when the crows came in to roost—or were supposed to. The event, based on a successful shoot held last year, was well publicized in the local paper. "The crows," says the county agent, "must have read the paper, since only one crow made his appearance. It is thought he was just passing through—which he did in a hurry."

Gen. MacArthur Tops FDR in Boys' Poll

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur rates just ahead of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Babe Ruth as the favorite hero, past or present, of American boys and girls, according to a Boys Athletic League survey.

The league adds that the youngsters also picked baseball players Joe DiMaggio and Jackie Robinson as their favorite athletes, the navy as their favorite military service, and steak with an ice cream dessert as their favorite dinner.

During the six-month poll, the league said yesterday as it disclosed the results, more than 20,000 boys and girls between the ages of 11 and 19 were asked to give their likes and dislikes.

The poll was conducted in cooperation with 102 children's social and welfare agencies in 27 states.

Bard Students Do Own Housework In Economy Move

Annandale-on-Hudson, N., Y., Sept. 24—Bard College students are now caring for their own rooms because of a sharp curtailment of maid service in the dormitories this fall. The new policy is an economy measure, President James H. Case, Jr., pointed out, and follows the practice of many other colleges in recent years.

A generous supply of mops and dust pans, and additional vacuum cleaners have been made easily accessible in the various residence halls to encourage the students to maintain decent standards of cleanliness. The College, however, still assumes responsibility for the maintenance of common areas.

The new plan imposed by the administration has been accepted willingly. To date reports indicate that the students are showing reasonable skill and aptitude in their housekeeping efforts. Performance, however, is being carefully watched by the Institutional Committee of the Community Council, a student group that works closely with the Department of Buildings and Grounds, and it will be their task to call to account the lazy and untidy.

There are more than 1,500 species of fireflies, says the National Geographic Society.

Service for Crows

Plymouth, N. C. (AP)—Do crows read newspapers? W. V. Hays, Washington county farm agent for the State College Extension Service, thinks perhaps they do. Hays says the county wildlife club recently arranged a "crow shoot" for one afternoon at 5 o'clock, when the crows came in to roost—or were supposed to. The event, based on a successful shoot held last year, was well publicized in the local paper. "The crows," says the county agent, "must have read the paper, since only one crow made his appearance. It is thought he was just passing through—which he did in a hurry."

Uranium

about the time when the army's Manhattan project was developing the first atomic bomb at Los Alamos.

Unofficial smiles from the FBI and the AEC are given to the souvenir hunter theory.

Observers point out that David Greenglass, now serving a 15-year term for giving atom secrets to Russia, worked at Los Alamos in 1945-46. Dr. Laus Fuchs, convicted by an English court on a similar charge, worked there in 1943.

The 33-pound chunk was found at Dalhart in June by Jodell Golden, 13, Don Monroe, 12, and Walton Fowler, 13. They dug it up from under a tree so they wouldn't hurt their bare feet on a piece sticking out.

After a series of homemade tests, it was turned over to Albert Law, editor of the Dalhart Texan. Law shipped it to the University of New Mexico thinking it might be a meteorite.

Dr. Lincoln LaPaz called in Dr. Carl Beck, a mineralogist, and Dr. Milton Kahn, a radio chemist with three years experience at Los Alamos. They found it was uranium and called the FBI and AEC.

Agents visited Dalhart and turned up the second piece. Both were flown to Los Alamos.

A check revealed that no one had suffered any ill effects from handling the metal.

The announcement caused a stir in Dalhart. An extra edition of Law's paper—normal circulation 2500—sold 2000 copies in an hour. Dalhart's 6000 folks were amazed that they had been handling for three months the stuff of which the atomic bomb is made.

Kingston High Drops Football Opener to Mont Pleasant, 27 to 13

Ferraro Passes For Maroon TDs; Locals Outmanned

Ponderous Red Line Balks Ground Attack

Kingston High must have gained one consolation from its opening day, 27-13, football defeat at the hands of the mammoth Red Raiders of Mont Pleasant on windswept Mont Pleasant field Saturday in Schenectady.

The opposition won't come any bigger or tougher for the remainder of the 1951 schedule.

Led by a whirling dervish by the name of Walter Jablonski, the Dorpian city school maintained its athletic supremacy over the Maroon by outclassing Coach Bill Burke's greenies by a margin reminiscent of the Raiders' basketball triumphs over Kingston.

The program said the Red Raider line averaged 185 pounds and they looked even bigger on the field.

One Man Gang

Jablonski was unstoppable and accounted for most of Mont Pleasant's 328 yards rushing. He scored all four Raider touchdowns, uncorking a long pass that set up the fourth and final tally in the last period.

The statistics tell the story better than the details. The home gridders outrushed Kingston 328 yards to 76 and picked up 16 first downs to five for the Maroon. Only in the passing department was there a semblance of equality, Kingston picking up 74 yards on five completions and Mont Pleasant 73 on two, one of them a long aerial from Jablonski to end Walter Greco.

With Jablonski doing the heavy damage, Mont Pleasant marched 80 yards in six plays the first time it got possession of the pigskin.

A 15-yard penalty against Kingston for holding figured in a 58-yard trek for the second MP touchdown and the Red Raiders were later to march 69 and 57 yards for additional scores. A pass play from Jablonski to Greco covered 52 yards to the 1-yard line in the final minutes of play and Jablonski bolted through center for the TD.

Good Passing

But all was not gloom in the Kingston defeat. Coach Bill Burke uncovered an effective passer in Jim Ferraro, who hit Charlie Tiano and Harry Craft with touchdown passes, and a better than average kicker in Carmen Massa who averaged 35 yards against a heavy wind.

Kingston marched 50 yards in the second quarter for its first touchdown, the payoff play being a four-yard pass from Ferraro to Craft who caught the ball unmolested in the end zone. Massa kicked the extra point to put the Maroon ahead 7 to 6 but the Red Raiders quickly nullified the edge by storming back 58 yards with the next kickoff.

The second Kingston touchdown was a picture play with a sequence that started on the Maroon 42. Ferraro first hit Don Murphy for a first down on the Mont Pleasant 34 and on the next play he found Charlie Tiano in the open at midfield. Tiano caught the ball around the 10 yard line and outhoofed a host of Mont Pleasant defenders to the goal line.

Ferraro's passing was the only potent threat against the massive Mont Pleasant line that piled up the Kingston running plays before they could get under full steam.

Highland High comes into municipal stadium for the local opener on Friday and by comparison they should seem like midgets. But Highland has always been tough for Kingston and there is no evidence at hand that the situation has changed since last year.

Miss Pepsi Repeats Gold Cup Victory

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP) — Chuck Thompson, veteran speed boat racer, cracked his 36-foot Miss Pepsi, of Detroit, over rough Potomac River waters yesterday at a 79 mile an hour average speed to win the President's Gold Cup race for the second straight year.

Never in serious trouble, Thompson drove his sleek, twin-engine racer at speeds approaching two miles a minute and crossed the line first in each of three heats. In the first heat, his nearest rival, Gale 88, was more than two miles astern.

Miss Pepsi, the only twin-engine craft entered, was favored to win. But it was the first time in 25 years of the event that the same boat and driver had won twice in a row.

Saugerties Wins Old Timers Game, 15-11

LOCAL OLD TIMER BOARD OF STRATEGY

This group of distinguished baseball old timers of Kingston cooked up a lot of strategy prior to the annual clash with Saugerties Sunday at the Athletic Field, but lo, the upriver ancients walked off with the ball game, 15 to 11. Shown in usual order are Tommy Davitt and John McCardle, co-managers; and the once potent battery of Joe Hoffman and James "Babe" Volker. (Joe Kelly Photo)

Freligh Cracks Four Hits on Annual Rampage

Desmond Slams Three-Run Homer

So long as old Ted Freligh is able to drag his aching bones to home plate, the Saugerties Old Timers will be just too much for the Kingston baseball ancients.

For the second straight year, the upriver tossers hung it on the locals and unless Freligh is permanently barred from the annual classic it might develop into a monotonous procession of Saugerties wins.

Playing before one of the banner turnouts of the season at the Athletic Field yesterday, Freligh led Saugerties to an impressive 15 to 11 triumph.

The collection for the KAA Little League baseball program netted the tidy sum of $119.75.

Gets Four Hits

Frelight pounded four singles in five trips to the plate to pace a 19-hit assault on a bevy of Kingston flingers and sent his two-year average for the classic soaring to the .800 mark.

Manager Les Brink and Earl "Gabby" Benjamin each collected three hits for the winners, while Howie Fluhr and Jack Rivenbergh each had two.

The big blow of the game was Bobby Desmond's three-run homer over the left field fence in the fifth inning.

Bill Thomas with a double and single was the top Kingston batsman.

Kingston hopes for revenge for last year's drubbing in Saugerties ran righ when the locals ran up a 5-1 lead in the first two innings but the upriver power began to explode. A six-run rally in the ninth inning off Jimmy Doyle and Bill Thomas put the game out of reach although the Kingston tossers made a gallant but futile bid with three runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Thirty-two old timers of varying vintage were impressed into service by the rival teams. Kingston used 17 including five pitchers —Walt Black, James "Babe" Volker, Eddie Scherer, the 62-year-old phenomenon; Dewey Van Buren and Jimmy Doyle in that order.

Ted Freligh, Joe Buytkins and Harry Swart worked for the winners.

Following the game both clubs were entertained at a reception at Lawton Park.

Trundlers Submit Early Requests for Kingston Tourney

An early request for 120 five-man team reservations to compete in the 27th annual New York State Bowling Association tournament in Kingston next spring has been received by Addison Jones, tournament manager, it was learned Saturday.

Jones made the announcement during a lengthy confab at the Governor Clinton Hotel Saturday afternoon with James A. Burns, tournament manager for the Elmire tourney held earlier this year.

Topping the list was an early letter requesting reservations for 70 five-man teams from Buffalo. Another request has been received for 50 five-man teams from Elmira.

Also received recently was a letter from the secretary of the Rockland County Bowling Association stating that to date a full squad of 14 teams is making plans to bowl in next spring's state tournament.

The 27th annual tournament will open at the Ferraro Bowlodrome and Ruzzo Bowlatorium April 2 and will continue through May 26. Entries close March 1.

During Saturday's meeting with the Elmira tournament manager several important phases of the planning end of the promotion were discussed.

Meeting with Burns and Jones were Joe Magnino, president of the Kingston Bowling Association and Irwin J. Thomas, KBA secretary.

Magic Numbers Three and Four

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York's onrushing Yankees and Brooklyn's back-pedalling Dodgers are all but mathematically certain to meet, for the fourth time in 21 years, in baseball's top classic, the World Series.

Both came closer to clinching their respective championships yesterday. The Yankees increased their American League lead over Cleveland to two and a half games, beating the Red Sox in the rubber game in Boston, 6-1. The revenge-minded Tigers meanwhile thumped the Indians for the third straight time in Detroit 9-1.

The Dodgers snapped a two-game losing streak with a 6-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies and retained their three-game National League lead over the hard-pressing New York Giants. The Polo Grounders, fighting a seemingly losing battle, again whipped the Boston Braves, 4-1.

The magic number is now three for the Yankees and four for the Dodgers. The Yankees, with a four-game bulge on the important losing side over the Indians and third place Red Sox, need win only three of their remaining six to wrap up the flag, even if Cleveland wins its final three and Boston its final games. Two Yankee victories insure at least a tie.

Raschi Wins 20th

Vic Raschi became the fifth American League pitcher, and the 11th in the majors, to win 20 games with an eight-hitter over the Red Sox. It was his third straight 20-game winning season.

Not since 1928 have the majors boasted as many as 11 in this charmed circle. The record number of 20-game winners was 17 in 1903, 1905 and 1920. The American League high of 10 was set in 1907 and equalled in 1920. The National League high of nine was set in 1901 and duplicated in 1903 and 1914.

A single by pinch hitter Johnny Mize in the seventh drove in the tally that broke a 1-1 tie and paved the way for a three-run Yankee inning. Mize also doubled in the two-run eighth as Chuck Stobbs went down to his eighth defeat. Raschi helped his cause with two RBI's on a sacrifice bunt and a two-bagger. It was only the second New York win in Boston in 11 attempts.

Virgil Trucks climaxed a lost week-end for Cleveland, pitching the Tigers to their third straight win over the faltering Indians. Those three victories atoned for the 16 Cleveland victories in 17 previous games with Detroit.

Trucks helped win his 13th game by collecting three hits and driving in two runs. Two of his safeties were squeeze bunts. Vic Wertz climaxed a five-run sixth against loser Mike Garcia with a three-run homer.

22nd for Roe

Preacher Roe, for the second time in a week, halted a panic in Brooklyn, hurling his 22nd victory against only two defeats with a six-hitter against the Phils.

Roy Campanella, who returned to action Saturday following a skulling last Monday, had a perfect day with four for four including his 32nd homer. His first inning homer off Bubba Church gave the Dodgers a lead they never relinquished.

Sal Maglie hurled his 22nd victory for the Giants, holding the Braves to one run despite giving up 13 hits. Bobby Thomson's triple highlighted a two-run eighth. Maglie is the first Giant pitcher to win 22 since Carl Hubbel in 1937.

Murry Dickson won his 20th game for the Pittsburgh Pirates who swapped shutouts with Cincinnati. Dickson won the opener, 3-0, with a five-hitter. Howie Fox pitched the Reds to a second game 2-0 win.

Tom Poholsky and Gerry Staley pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-3 and 5-2 double win over the Chicago Cubs before 18,013 fans who pushed the Redbirds' home attendance over the million mark for the sixth consecutive year.

Philadelphia's Athletics won their 13th doubleheader, tops in the majors, with a 12-4 and 8-3 sweep over the Washington Senators. Gus Zernial regained the RBI leadership from Ted Williams, 127 to 126, by driving in three mates.

A six-run seventh gave the St. Louis Browns an 8-7 victory over the Chicago White Sox in a wild affair in which 37 players saw action, 19 of them Brownies.

BATTING — Roy Campanella, Dodgers—out for nearly a week following a skulling, the sturdy catcher celebrated his second day of return to the lineup with a perfect day at bat—four for four—to lead Brooklyn to a 6-2 triumph over Philadelphia. Roy hammered his 32nd homer in the first inning with a mate aboard.

PITCHING — Murry Dickson, Pirates—shut out Cincinnati with five hits to register his 20th triumph for the seventh place Pittsburgh team.

Kingston High Drops Football Opener to Mont Pleasant, 27 to 13

Ferraro Passes For Maroon TDs; Locals Outmanned

Ponderous Red Line Baths Ground Attack

Kingston High must have gained one consolation from its opening day, 27-13, football defeat at the hands of the mammoth Red Raiders of Mont Pleasant on windswept Mont Pleasant field Saturday in Schenectady.

The opposition won't come any bigger or tougher for the remainder of the 1951 schedule.

Led by a whirling dervish by the name of Walter Jablonski, the Dorpian city school maintained its athletic supremacy over the Maroon by outclassing Coach Bill Burke's greenies by a margin reminiscent of the Raiders' basketball triumphs over Kingston.

The program said the Red Raider line averaged 185 pounds and they looked even bigger on the field.

One Man Gang

Jablonski was unstoppable and accounted for most of Mont Pleasant's 328 yards rushing. He scored all four Raider touchdowns, uncorking a long pass that set up the fourth and final tally in the last period.

The statistics tell the story better than the details. The home gridders outrushed Kingston 328 yards to 76 and picked up 16 first downs to five for the Maroon. Only in the passing department was there a semblance of equality, Kingston picking up 74 yards on five completions and Mont Pleasant 73 on two, one of them a long aerial from Jablonski to end Walter Greco.

With Jablonski doing the heavy damage, Mont Pleasant marched 80 yards in six plays the first time it got possession of the pigskin.

A 15-yard penalty against Kingston for holding figured in a 56-yard trek for the second MP touchdown and the Red Raiders were later to march 69 and 57 yards for additional scores. A pass play from Jablonski to Greco covered 52 yards to the 1-yard line in the final minutes of play and Jablonski bolted through center for the TD.

Good Passing

But all was not gloom in the Kingston defeat. Coach Bill Burke uncovered an effective passer in Jim Ferraro, who hit Charlie Tiano and Harry Craft with touchdown passes, and a better than average kicker in Carmen Massa who averaged 35 yards against a heavy wind.

Kingston marched 50 yards in the second quarter for its first touchdown, the payoff play being a four-yard pass from Ferraro to Craft who caught the ball unmolested in the end zone. Massa kicked the extra point to put the Maroon ahead 7 to 6 but the Red Raiders quickly nullified the edge by storming back 58 yards with the next kickoff.

The second Kingston touchdown was a picture play with a sequence that started on the Maroon 42. Ferraro first hit Don Murphy for a first down on the Mont Pleasant 34 and on the next play he found Charlie Tiano in the open at midfield. Tiano caught the ball around the 10 yard line and outhoofed a host of Mont Pleasant defenders to the goal line.

Ferraro's passing was the only potent threat against the massive Mont Pleasant line that piled up the Kingston running plays before they could get under full steam.

Highland High comes into municipal stadium for the local opener on Friday and by comparison they should seem like midgets. But Highland has always been tough for Kingston and there is no evidence at hand that the situation has changed since last year.

Miss Pepsi Repeats Gold Cup Victory

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP) — Chuck Thompson, veteran speed boat racer, cracked his 36-foot Miss Pepsi, of Detroit, over rough Potomac River waters yesterday at a 79 mile an hour average speed to win the President's Gold Cup race for the second straight year.

Never in serious trouble, Thompson drove his sleek, twin-engine racer at speeds approaching two miles a minute and crossed the line first in each of three heats. In the first heat, his nearest rival, Gale 88, was more than two miles astern.

Miss Pepsi, the only twin-engine craft entered, was favored to win. But it was the first time in 25 years of the event that the same boat and driver had won twice in a row.

Saugerties Wins Old Timers Game, 15-11

LOCAL OLD TIMER BOARD OF STRATEGY

This group of distinguished baseball old timers of Kingston cooked up a lot of strategy prior to the annual clash with Saugerties Sunday at the Athletic Field, but lo, the upriver ancients walked off with the ball game, 15 to 11. Shown in usual order are Tommy Davitt and John McCardle, co-managers; and the once potent battery of Joe Hoffman and James "Babe" Volker. (Joe Kelly Photo)

Freligh Cracks Four Hits on Annual Rampage

Desmond Slams Three-Run Homer

So long as old Ted Freligh is able to drag his aching bones to home plate, the Saugerties Old Timers will be just too much for the Kingston baseball ancients.

For the second straight year, the upriver tossers hung it on the locals and unless Freligh is permanently barred from the annual classic it might develop into a monotonous procession of Saugerties wins.

Playing before one of the banner turnouts of the season at the Athletic Field yesterday, Freligh led Saugerties to an impressive 15 to 11 triumph.

The collection for the KAA Little League baseball program netted the tidy sum of $119.75.

Gets Four Hits

Frelight pounded four singles in five trips to the plate to pace a 19-hit assault on a bevy of Kingston flingers and sent his two-year average for the classic soaring to the .800 mark.

Manager Les Brink and Earl "Gabby" Benjamin each collected three hits for the winners, while Howie Fluhr and Jack Rivenbergh each had two.

The big blow of the game was Bobby Desmond's three-run homer over the left field fence in the fifth inning.

Bill Thomas with a double and single was the top Kingston batsman.

Kingston hopes for revenge for last year's drubbing in Saugerties ran righ when the locals ran up a 5-1 lead in the first two innings but the upriver power began to explode. A six-run rally in the ninth inning off Jimmy Doyle and Bill Thomas put the game out of reach although the Kingston tossers made a gallant but futile bid with three runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Thirty-two old timers of varying vintage were impressed into service by the rival teams. Kingston used 17 including five pitchers—Walt Black, James "Babe" Volker, Eddie Scherer, the 62-year-old phenomenon; Dewey Van Buren and Jimmy Doyle in that order.

Ted Freligh, Joe Buytkins and Harry Swart worked for the winners.

Following the game both clubs were entertained at a reception at Lawton Park.

Trundlers Submit Early Requests for Kingston Tourney

An early request for 120 five-man team reservations to compete in the 27th annual New York State Bowling Association tournament in Kingston next spring has been received by Addison Jones, tournament manager, it was learned Saturday.

Jones made the announcement during a lengthy confab at the Governor Clinton Hotel Saturday afternoon with James A. Burns, tournament manager for the Elmire tourney held earlier this year.

Topping the list was an early letter requesting reservations for 70 five-man teams from Buffalo. Another request has been received for 50 five-man teams from Elmira.

Also received recently was a letter from the secretary of the Rockland County Bowling Association stating that to date a full squad of 14 teams is making plans to bowl in next spring's state tournament.

The 27th annual tournament will open at the Ferraro Bowlodrome and Ruzzo Bowlatorium April 2 and will continue through May 26. Entries close March 1.

During Saturday's meeting with the Elmira tournament manager several important phases of the planning end of the promotion were discussed.

Meeting with Burns and Jones were Joe Magnino, president of the Kingston Bowling Association and Irwin J. Thomas, KBA secretary.

Magic Numbers Three and Four

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York's onrushing Yankees and Brooklyn's back-pedalling Dodgers are all but mathematically certain to meet, for the fourth time in 21 years, in baseball's top classic, the World Series.

Both came closer to clinching their respective championships yesterday. The Yankees increased their American League lead over Cleveland to two and a half games, beating the Red Sox in the rubber game in Boston, 6-1. The revenge-minded Tigers meanwhile thumped the Indians for the third straight time in Detroit 9-1.

The Dodgers snapped a two-game losing streak with a 6-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies and retained their three-game National League lead over the hard-pressing New York Giants. The Polo Grounders, fighting a seemingly losing battle, again whipped the Boston Braves, 4-1.

The magic number is now three for the Yankees and four for the Dodgers. The Yankees, with a four-game bulge on the important losing side over the Indians and third place Red Sox, need win only three of their remaining six to wrap up the flag, even if Cleveland wins its final three and Boston its final games. Two Yankee victories insure at least a tie.

Raschi Wins 20th

Vic Raschi became the fifth American League pitcher, and the 11th in the majors, to win 20 games with an eight-hitter over the Red Sox. It was his third straight 20-game winning season.

Not since 1928 have the majors boasted as many as 11 in this charmed circle. The record number of 20-game winners was 17 in 1903, 1905 and 1920. The American League high of 10 was set in 1907 and equalled in 1920. The National League high of nine was set in 1901 and duplicated in 1903 and 1914.

A single by pinch hitter Johnny Mize in the seventh drove in the tally that broke a 1-1 tie and paved the way for a three-run Yankee inning. Mize also doubled in the two-run eighth as Chuck Stobbs went down to his eighth defeat. Raschi helped his cause with two RBI's on a sacrifice bunt and a two-bagger. It was only the second New York win in Boston in 11 attempts.

Virgil Trucks climaxed a lost week-end for Cleveland, pitching the Tigers to their third straight win over the faltering Indians. Those three victories atoned for the 16 Cleveland victories in 17 previous games with Detroit.

Trucks helped win his 13th game by collecting three hits and driving in two runs. Two of his safeties were squeeze bunts. Vic Wertz climaxed a five-run sixth against loser Mike Garcia with a three-run homer.

22nd for Roe

Preacher Roe, for the second time in a week, halted a panic in Brooklyn, hurling his 22nd victory against only two defeats with a six-hitter against the Phils.

Roy Campanella, who returned to action Saturday following a skulling last Monday, had a perfect day with four for four including his 32nd homer. His first inning homer off Bubba Church gave the Dodgers a lead they never relinquished.

Sal Maglie hurled his 22nd victory for the Giants, holding the Braves to one run despite giving up 13 hits. Bobby Thomson's triple highlighted a two-run eighth. Maglie is the first Giant pitcher to win 22 since Carl Hubbel in 1937.

Murry Dickson won his 20th game for the Pittsburgh Pirates who swapped shutouts with Cincinnati. Dickson won the opener, 3-0, with a five-hitter. Howie Fox pitched the Reds to a second game 2-0 win.

Tom Poholsky and Gerry Staley pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-3 and 5-2 double win over the Chicago Cubs before 18,013 fans who pushed the Redbirds' home attendance over the million mark for the sixth consecutive year.

Philadelphia's Athletics won their 13th doubleheader, tops in the majors, with a 12-4 and 8-3 sweep over the Washington Senators. Gus Zernial regained the RBI leadership from Ted Williams, 127 to 126, by driving in three mates.

A six-run seventh gave the St. Louis Browns an 8-7 victory over the Chicago White Sox in a wild affair in which 37 players saw action, 19 of them Brownies.

BATTING — Roy Campanella, Dodgers—out for nearly a week following a skulling, the sturdy catcher celebrated his second day of return to the lineup with a perfect day at bat—four for four—to lead Brooklyn to a 6-2 triumph over Philadelphia. Roy hammered his 32nd homer in the first inning with a mate aboard.

PITCHING — Murry Dickson, Pirates—shut out Cincinnati with five hits to register his 20th triumph for the seventh place Pittsburgh team.

Kingston High Drops Football Opener to Mont Pleasant, 27 to 13

Ferraro Passes For Maroon TDs; Locals Outmanned

Ponderous Red Line Balks Ground Attack

Kingston High must have gained one consolation from its opening day, 27-13, football defeat at the hands of the mammoth Red Raiders of Mont Pleasant on windswept Mont Pleasant field Saturday in Schenectady.

The opposition won't come any bigger or tougher for the remainder of the 1951 schedule.

Led by a whirling dervish by the name of Walter Jablonski, the Dorpian city school maintained its athletic supremacy over the Maroon by outclassing Coach Bill Burke's greenies by a margin reminiscent of the Raiders' basketball triumphs over Kingston.

The program said the Red Raider line averaged 185 pounds and they looked even bigger on the field.

One Man Gang

Jablonski was unstoppable and accounted for most of Mont Pleasant's 328 yards rushing. He scored all four Raider touchdowns, uncorking a long pass that set up the fourth and final tally in the last period.

The statistics tell the story better than the details. The home gridders outrushed Kingston 328 yards to 76 and picked up 16 first downs to five for the Maroon. Only in the passing department was there a semblance of equality, Kingston picking up 74 yards on five completions and Mont Pleasant 73 on two, one of them a long aerial from Jablonski to end Walter Greco.

With Jablonski doing the heavy damage, Mont Pleasant marched 80 yards in six plays the first time it got possession of the pigskin.

A 15-yard penalty against Kingston for holding figured in a 58-yard trek for the second MP touchdown and the Red Raiders were later to march 69 and 57 yards for additional scores. A pass play from Jablonski to Greco covered 52 yards to the 1-yard line in the final minutes of play and Jablonski bolted through center for the TD.

Good Passing

But all was not gloom in the Kingston defeat. Coach Bill Burke uncovered an effective passer in Jim Ferraro, who hit Charlie Tiano and Harry Craft with touchdown passes, and a better than average kicker in Carmen Massa who averaged 35 yards against a heavy wind.

Kingston marched 50 yards in the second quarter for its first touchdown, the payoff play being a four-yard pass from Ferraro to Craft who caught the ball unmolested in the end zone. Massa kicked the extra point to put the Maroon ahead 7 to 6 but the Red Raiders quickly nullified the edge by storming back 58 yards with the next kickoff.

The second Kingston touchdown was a picture play with a sequence that started on the Maroon 42. Ferraro first hit Don Murphy for a first down on the Mont Pleasant 34 and on the next play he found Charlie Tiano in the open at midfield. Tiano caught the ball around the 10 yard line and outhoofed a host of Mont Pleasant defenders to the goal line.

Ferraro's passing was the only potent threat against the massive Mont Pleasant line that piled up the Kingston running plays before they could get under full steam.

Highland High comes into municipal stadium for the local opener on Friday and by comparison they should seem like midgets. But Highland has always been tough for Kingston and there is no evidence at hand that the situation has changed since last year.

Miss Pepsi Repeats Gold Cup Victory

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP) — Chuck Thompson, veteran speed boat racer, cracked his 36-foot Miss Pepsi, of Detroit, over rough Potomac River waters yesterday at a 79 mile an hour average speed to win the President's Gold Cup race for the second straight year.

Never in serious trouble, Thompson drove his sleek, twin-engine racer at speeds approaching two miles a minute and crossed the line first in each of three heats. In the first heat, his nearest rival, Gale 88, was more than two miles astern.

Miss Pepsi, the only twin-engine craft entered, was favored to win. But it was the first time in 25 years of the event that the same boat and driver had won twice in a row.

Saugerties Wins Old Timers Game, 15-11

LOCAL OLD TIMER BOARD OF STRATEGY

This group of distinguished baseball old timers of Kingston cooked up a lot of strategy prior to the annual clash with Saugerties Sunday at the Athletic Field, but lo, the upriver ancients walked off with the ball game, 15 to 11. Shown in usual order are Tommy Davitt and John McCardle, co-managers; and the once potent battery of Joe Hoffman and James "Babe" Volker. (Joe Kelly Photo)

Freligh Cracks Four Hits on Annual Rampage

Desmond Slams Three-Run Homer

So long as old Ted Freligh is able to drag his aching bones to home plate, the Saugerties Old Timers will be just too much for the Kingston baseball ancients.

For the second straight year, the upriver tossers hung it on the locals and unless Freligh is permanently barred from the annual classic it might develop into a monotonous procession of Saugerties wins.

Playing before one of the banner turnouts of the season at the Athletic Field yesterday, Freligh led Saugerties to an impressive 15 to 11 triumph.

The collection for the KAA Little League baseball program netted the tidy sum of $119.75.

Gets Four Hits

Frelight pounded four singles in five trips to the plate to pace a 19-hit assault on a bevy of Kingston flingers and sent his two-year average for the classic soaring to the .800 mark.

Manager Les Brink and Earl "Gabby" Benjamin each collected three hits for the winners, while Howie Fluhr and Jack Rivenbergh each had two.

The big blow of the game was Bobby Desmond's three-run homer over the left field fence in the fifth inning.

Bill Thomas with a double and single was the top Kingston batsman.

Kingston hopes for revenge for last year's drubbing in Saugerties ran righ when the locals ran up a 5-1 lead in the first two innings but the upriver power began to explode. A six-run rally in the ninth inning off Jimmy Doyle and Bill Thomas put the game out of reach although the Kingston tossers made a gallant but futile bid with three runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Thirty-two old timers of varying vintage were impressed into service by the rival teams. Kingston used 17 including five pitchers—Walt Black, James "Babe" Volker, Eddie Scherer, the 62-year-old phenomenon; Dewey Van Buren and Jimmy Doyle in that order.

Ted Freligh, Joe Buytkins and Harry Swart worked for the winners.

Following the game both clubs were entertained at a reception at Lawton Park.

Trundlers Submit Early Requests for Kingston Tourney

An early request for 120 five-man team reservations to compete in the 27th annual New York State Bowling Association tournament in Kingston next spring has been received by Addison Jones, tournament manager, it was learned Saturday.

Jones made the announcement during a lengthy confab at the Governor Clinton Hotel Saturday afternoon with James A. Burns, tournament manager for the Elmire tourney held earlier this year.

Topping the list was an early letter requesting reservations for 70 five-man teams from Buffalo. Another request has been received for 50 five-man teams from Elmira.

Also received recently was a letter from the secretary of the Rockland County Bowling Association stating that to date a full squad of 14 teams is making plans to bowl in next spring's state tournament.

The 27th annual tournament will open at the Ferraro Bowlodrome and Ruzzo Bowlatorium April 2 and will continue through May 26. Entries close March 1.

During Saturday's meeting with the Elmira tournament manager several important phases of the planning end of the promotion were discussed.

Meeting with Burns and Jones were Joe Magnino, president of the Kingston Bowling Association and Irwin J. Thomas, KBA secretary.

Magic Numbers Three and Four

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York's onrushing Yankees and Brooklyn's back-pedalling Dodgers are all but mathematically certain to meet, for the fourth time in 21 years, in baseball's top classic, the World Series.

Both came closer to clinching their respective championships yesterday. The Yankees increased their American League lead over Cleveland to two and a half games, beating the Red Sox in the rubber game in Boston, 6-1. The revenge-minded Tigers meanwhile thumped the Indians for the third straight time in Detroit 9-1.

The Dodgers snapped a two-game losing streak with a 6-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies and retained their three-game National League lead over the hard-pressing New York Giants. The Polo Grounders, fighting a seemingly losing battle, again whipped the Boston Braves, 4-1.

The magic number is now three for the Yankees and four for the Dodgers. The Yankees, with a four-game bulge on the important losing side over the Indians and third place Red Sox, need win only three of their remaining six to wrap up the flag, even if Cleveland wins its final three and Boston its final games. Two Yankee victories insure at least a tie.

Raschi Wins 20th

Vic Raschi became the fifth American League pitcher, and the 11th in the majors, to win 20 games with an eight-hitter over the Red Sox. It was his third straight 20-game winning season.

Not since 1928 have the majors boasted as many as 11 in this charmed circle. The record number of 20-game winners was 17 in 1903, 1905 and 1920. The American League high of 10 was set in 1907 and equalled in 1920. The National League high of nine was set in 1901 and duplicated in 1903 and 1914.

A single by pinch hitter Johnny Mize in the seventh drove in the tally that broke a 1-1 tie and paved the way for a three-run Yankee inning. Mize also doubled in the two-run eighth as Chuck Stobbs went down to his eighth defeat. Raschi helped his cause with two RBI's on a sacrifice bunt and a two-bagger. It was only the second New York win in Boston in 11 attempts.

Virgil Trucks climaxed a lost week-end for Cleveland, pitching the Tigers to their third straight win over the faltering Indians. Those three victories atoned for the 16 Cleveland victories in 17 previous games with Detroit.

Trucks helped win his 13th game by collecting three hits and driving in two runs. Two of his safeties were squeeze bunts. Vic Wertz climaxed a five-run sixth against loser Mike Garcia with a three-run homer.

22nd for Roe

Preacher Roe, for the second time in a week, halted a panic in Brooklyn, hurling his 22nd victory against only two defeats with a six-hitter against the Phils.

Roy Campanella, who returned to action Saturday following a skulling last Monday, had a perfect day with four for four including his 32nd homer. His first inning homer off Bubba Church gave the Dodgers a lead they never relinquished.

Sal Maglie hurled his 22nd victory for the Giants, holding the Braves to one run despite giving up 13 hits. Bobby Thomson's triple highlighted a two-run eighth. Maglie is the first Giant pitcher to win 22 since Carl Hubbel in 1937.

Murry Dickson won his 20th game for the Pittsburgh Pirates who swapped shutouts with Cincinnati. Dickson won the opener, 3-0, with a five-hitter. Howie Fox pitched the Reds to a second game 2-0 win.

Tom Poholsky and Gerry Staley pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-3 and 5-2 double win over the Chicago Cubs before 18,013 fans who pushed the Redbirds' home attendance over the million mark for the sixth consecutive year.

Philadelphia's Athletics won their 13th doubleheader, tops in the majors, with a 12-4 and 8-3 sweep over the Washington Senators. Gus Zernial regained the RBI leadership from Ted Williams, 127 to 126, by driving in three mates.

A six-run seventh gave the St. Louis Browns an 8-7 victory over the Chicago White Sox in a wild affair in which 37 players saw action, 19 of them Brownies.

BATTING — Roy Campanella, Dodgers—out for nearly a week following a skulling, the sturdy catcher celebrated his second day of return to the lineup with a perfect day at bat—four for four—to lead Brooklyn to a 6-2 triumph over Philadelphia. Roy hammered his 32nd homer in the first inning with a mate aboard.

PITCHING — Murry Dickson, Pirates—shut out Cincinnati with five hits to register his 20th triumph for the seventh place Pittsburgh team.

Family Putter Helps Turnesa

Reading, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP)—Jim Turnesa tossed away a mallet head putter for an ancient family blade held together by friction tape and the results paid off. He's $2,400 richer today.

Turnesa, one of six brothers of golf's most famous family, won the first annual $15,000 Reading Open golf tournament yesterday with a 72-hole total of 280, four under par.

Asked how long the putter was in the family, he replied:

"I might as well admit it. It's my mother's. Gosh, I don't know how old it is, 70 years or more. It sure is older than I am."

How did the 37-year pro from Briarcliff, N. Y., come to be using it:

"Well, I guess that's Jack Burke's fault. I was playing a mallet putter out at Fort Wayne, Ind., when Jack told me 'You ought to use a straight blade putter. Throw that thing away. You couldn't do worse.

So the wiry little Italian went home and dug up the family relic, a broken shaft patched four times.

He brought it back to the Berkleigh Country Club and it worked like a charm. He toured the 6,600 yard layout in sub-par for his first major tournament victory of the year.

CASEY'S MAGIC NUMBER

BREAKING UP THE DOUBLE PLAY

Technicians Aid India

New Delhi (AP)—Twelve American technicians have started work in India under the United States Point Four Program, Finance Minister C. D. Deshmukh told a questioner in Parliament. Of the twelve, six are specialists in agriculture, two in applied geology, one in the manufacture of biological products, one in hydroelectric development, one in social education, and one in the manufacture of sulphuric acid from gypsum.

Fish are found at all depths of the sea, even on the ocean floor, although the plants diminishes as the water gets deeper. Species that live at the greatest depths in the ocean are classified as abyssal fish.

New Football Coaches Make Impressive Debuts in Big Time College Circles

The coaches clearing their first hurdle successfully over the weekend include such big time mentors as Eddie Price, Texas; Jess Hill, Southern California; Bill Murray, Duke; Chuck Taylor, Stanford and Ray George, Texas Aggies.

And not one of them asked to display his coaching skill against a "set-up." They met and disposed of opposition that would have done credit to mid-season rivals.

Price sent his Texas Longhorns against a Babe Parilli-directed Kentucky eleven and won 7-6. Hill's Trojans of Southern California opened their Pacific Coast Conference campaign with a 31-21 triumph over Washington State.

And in the same league Taylor's trained Indians of Stanford nosed out Oregon 27-20, also under a new boss-Len Casanova.

Keeping pace with their big-time coaching brothers in starting new jobs with a victory were Dutch Clark, Detroit; Marvin Bass, of William and Mary; Dave Nelson, Delaware; Tom Rogers, Wake Forest; Larry Siemering, Arizona State at Tempe; Ara Parseghian, Miami (Ohio); Edwin Merrick, Richmond and Bernard Mertes, Bradley.

Bass, taking over at William and Mary after Rube McCray resigned during the school's athletic scandal, showed plenty of offense but little defense in downing Boston University 34-25. Harry Agganis, a recent marine, lived up to expectations as an aerialist for the Terriers.

Murray left little in the way of material when he departed from Delaware for Duke but Nelson made good use of what he had to whip Lehigh, unbeaten last season, 7-0.

Clark, All-America at Colorado College 23 years ago, had a narrow escape before his new Detroit eleven squeezed out a 34-32 decision over Toledo. Incidentally, Don Greenwood of Toledo was one of the eight new coaches who lost their debuts.

Arizona State at Tempe, under Siemering, also defeated another coach making his debut. John Roring, of Utah State. The score was 33-27.

The same thing held true in the Miami (Ohio)-Wichita game, won by the Parseghian-coached eleven 21-13. Wichita was appearing for the first time under Bob Carlson.

Other new coaches who saw their teams defeated in season's openers were Bill Meek, Kansas State; Raymond Curfman, Idaho; Ed Doherty, Rhode Island and Tom Triplett, Muhlenberg.

Coldest Camp

Ottawa (AP)—Men with service at the Canadian army base in Fort Churchill, Man., can claim to have trained at the coldest camp in Canada. The Canadian defense department has compiled figures on climatic conditions in 33 military camps and training areas. They contained surprises for many servicemen. Fort Churchill, with a mean annual temperature of 18 degrees, was shown as the coldest camp. The average temperature for December at the camp was 11 degrees below zero. January is 19 below, February is 17 below and March is six below.

Grand Jury Will Hear 'Blue Laws' Test Case

Owego, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—A test case of the state "blue laws" covering stock car racing on Sunday was to be presented to a grand jury today.

The Tioga county district attorney, Herbert H. Smith, said after a three-car "exhibition" at the Shangri-La Speedway yesterday that he would present "evidence" to the grand jury today.

No admission was charged for the races, track operator Fred Bronson of Elmira said. There was, however, a $2 parking fee for the cars of the patrons.

Smith called the operation an illegal ruse to get around the blue laws.

An estimated 1,500 spectators watched the racing. Among them were several state troopers and deputy sheriffs who, Smith said, will testify before the grand jury.

Family Putter Helps Turnesa

Reading, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP)—Jim Turnesa tossed away a mallet head putter for an ancient family blade held together by friction tape and the results paid off. He's $2,400 richer today.

Turnesa, one of six brothers of golf's most famous family, won the first annual $15,000 Reading Open golf tournament yesterday with a 72-hole total of 280, four under par.

Asked how long the putter was in the family, he replied:

"I might as well admit it. It's my mother's. Gosh, I don't know how old it is, 70 years or more. It sure is older than I am."

How did the 37-year pro from Briarcliff, N. Y., come to be using it:

"Well, I guess that's Jack Burke's fault. I was playing a mallet putter out at Fort Wayne, Ind., when Jack told me 'You ought to use a straight blade putter. Throw that thing away. You couldn't do worse.

So the wiry little Italian went home and dug up the family relic, a broken shaft patched four times.

He brought it back to the Berkleigh Country Club and it worked like a charm. He toured the 6,600 yard layout in sub-par for his first major tournament victory of the year.

WINNERS IN LOWLANDS RIDING CLUB HORSE SHOW

A not too happy manager, Casey Stengel holds up five fingers to signify the number of New York Yankee wins or Cleveland Indians' losses that will give the Bombers the pennant. BREAKING UP THE DOUBLE PLAY

Giants second baseman Eddie Stanky is forced at second but his slide delays Boston Braves second baseman Sibby Sisti's throw enough to prevent doubling Giants' shortstop Al Dark at first. New York beat Boston, 4-1, in the Polo Grounds action.

Technicians Aid India

New Delhi (AP)—Twelve American technicians have started work in India under the United States Point Four Program, Finance Minister C. D. Deshmukh told a questioner in Parliament. Of the twelve, six are specialists in agriculture, two in applied geology, one in the manufacture of biological products, one in hydroelectric development, one in social education, and one in the manufacture of sulphuric acid from gypsum.

New Football Coaches Make Impressive Debuts in Big Time College Circles

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Thirteen of the more than 50 college football coaches who took over new assignments this year won their first games.

The coaches clearing their first hurdle successfully over the weekend include such big time mentors as Eddie Price, Texas; Jess Hill, Southern California; Bill Murray, Duke; Chuck Taylor, Stanford and Ray George, Texas Aggies.

And not one of them asked to display his coaching skill against a "set-up." They met and disposed of opposition that would have done credit to mid-season rivals.

Price sent his Texas Longhorns against a Babe Parilli-directed Kentucky eleven and won 7-6. Hill's Trojans of Southern California opened their Pacific Coast Conference campaign with a 31-21 triumph over Washington State.

And in the same league Taylor's trained Indians of Stanford nosed out Oregon 27-20, also under a new boss-Len Casanova.

Keeping pace with their big-time coaching brothers in starting new jobs with a victory were Dutch Clark, Detroit; Marvin Bass, of William and Mary; Dave Nelson, Delaware; Tom Rogers, Wake Forest; Larry Siemering, Arizona State at Tempe; Ara Parseghian, Miami (Ohio); Edwin Merrick, Richmond and Bernard Mertes, Bradley.

Bass, taking over at William and Mary after Rube McCray resigned during the school's athletic scandal, showed plenty of offense but little defense in downing Boston University 34-25. Harry Agganis, a recent marine, lived up to expectations as an aerialist for the Terriers.

Murray left little in the way of material when he departed from Delaware for Duke but Nelson made good use of what he had to whip Lehigh, unbeaten last season, 7-0.

Clark, All-America at Colorado College 23 years ago, had a narrow escape before his new Detroit eleven squeezed out a 34-32 decision over Toledo. Incidentally, Don Greenwood of Toledo was one of the eight new coaches who lost their debuts.

Arizona State at Tempe, under Siemering, also defeated another coach making his debut, John Roring, of Utah State. The score was 33-27.

The same thing held true in the Miami (Ohio)-Wichita game, won by the Parseghian-coached eleven 21-13. Wichita was appearing for the first time under Bob Carlson.

Other new coaches who saw their teams defeated in season's openers were Bill Meek, Kansas State; Raymond Curfman, Idaho; Ed Doherty, Rhode Island and Tom Triplett, Muhlenberg.

Coldest Camp

Ottawa (AP)—Men with service at the Canadian army base in Fort Churchill, Man., can claim to have trained at the coldest camp in Canada. The Canadian defense department has compiled figures on climatic conditions in 33 military camps and training areas. They contained surprises for many servicemen. Fort Churchill, with a mean annual temperature of 18 degrees, was shown as the coldest camp. The average temperature for December at the camp was 11 degrees below zero. January is 19 below, February is 17 below and March is six below.

Grand Jury Will Hear 'Blue Laws' Test Case

Owego, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—A test case of the state "blue laws" covering stock car racing on Sunday was to be presented to a grand jury today.

The Tioga county district attorney, Herbert H. Smith, said after a three-car "exhibition" at the Shangri-La Speedway yesterday that he would present "evidence" to the grand jury today.

No admission was charged for the races, track operator Fred Bronson of Elmira said. There was, however, a $2 parking fee for the cars of the patrons.

Smith called the operation an illegal ruse to get around the blue laws.

An estimated 1,500 spectators watched the racing. Among them were several state troopers and deputy sheriffs who, Smith said, will testify before the grand jury.

Family Putter Helps Turnesa

Reading, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP)—Jim Turnesa tossed away a mallet head putter for an ancient family blade held together by friction tape and the results paid off. He's $2,400 richer today.

Turnesa, one of six brothers of golf's most famous family, won the first annual $15,000 Reading Open golf tournament yesterday with a 72-hole total of 280, four under par.

Asked how long the putter was in the family, he replied:

"I might as well admit it. It's my mother's. Gosh, I don't know how old it is, 70 years or more. It sure is older than I am."

How did the 37-year pro from Briarcliff, N. Y., come to be using it:

"Well, I guess that's Jack Burke's fault. I was playing a mallet putter out at Fort Wayne, Ind., when Jack told me 'You ought to use a straight blade putter. Throw that thing away. You couldn't do worse.

So the wiry little Italian went home and dug up the family relic, a broken shaft patched four times.

He brought it back to the Berkleigh Country Club and it worked like a charm. He toured the 6,600 yard layout in sub-par for his first major tournament victory of the year.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

23 Attend Third Basketball Drill

A total of 23 boys attended the practice. According to Van Wagenen, the following players are left from last year's varsity: Carl Van Wagenen, Gene Snyder, Bill Kleine, Billy Waterous, Ken Harder, Joe Holdridge, Jr. Two of last year's star players, Don West and Paul Van Wagenen, have already left for their respective colleges. The following boys from the Jayvees will fill the remaining positions: Herb Waterous, Carl Van Wagenen, Skip Meyhew, Dick Peters, Frank Becker, Joe Hilton and Richard Hilton.

The new boys trying out for the Jayvees are Jackie Gosman, Jim Hasbrouck, Werner Polack, Bobbie Kaiser, Ritchie Renninger, Willy Mellin, Teddy Wright and Allen Van Wagenen.

Van Wagenen expects to have a full squad of Varsity and Jayvees of 16 boys.

During Friday's practice, following a general workout, teams of three players rehearsed the fast "figure eight" play. "Get some wind and get some passes!" directed Van Wagenen.

Experienced members of the team went through the exercise swiftly and surely while the novices looked on. In turn the new members tried it, faltering at first, but after a few tries picked up surprising speed and ease. Trio after trio went through the routine, later progressing to "inside cuts," and many of the other intricate plays, which will all go towards the making of some fast and exciting basketball this season.

Proceeds from the ball will go to the scholarship fund of the school. Two costume prizes of $25 will be offered during the evening for the best man's and the best woman's costume.

School resumes Wednesday, Jan. 2, 1952.

Sportsmen Honor Shorts at Party

Short was also presented with an honorary membership card from the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club and Mrs. Short an honorary membership card from the Ladies' Auxiliary of the club. Square dancing followed the supper to music by Bill Harcourt's orchestra.

Son Alters His Story About Death Of His Mother, 44

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—The collegian son of a blonde socialite changed his story today about his mother being an "heiress" who died of the effects of overdieting.

Mrs. Marian Peck Miles died late Saturday night at her 31-room Georgian mansion in fashionable Grosse Pointe Farms. She was 44.

Her son, Butler, 21, told newspapermen his mother had inherited about two-thirds of a $147,000,000 estate left in 1925 by her father, whom he identified as "Canadian financier Francis G. Peck."

He also reported that the purpuraic anemia, from which she died, was caused by overdieting against her doctors' orders.

But today, after no trace had been found of any Canadian fortune left to Mrs. Miles, the son said the facts had been misconstrued.

"Just call it a case of mistaken identity. She was not closely enough related to the man (Peck) to inherit any of his money," he said.

As to the amount of his mother's wealth, young Miles declared: "I doubt that she had much of anything."

The son's belated statements helped to clear an air of mystery that had surrounded the case since Mrs. Miles' condition became serious weeks ago.

Persons represented as doctors and nurses in the home had verified young Miles' original story. His father, Detroit architect Francis Allen Miles, was reported in seclusion today.

Young Miles said today that death was caused by purpuraic anemia—a weakening of the blood vessels. But he said the doctors had changed their original story that the anemia was caused by overdieting. The doctors were not available for comment.

A death certificate reporting the cause of death has not yet been filed.

AnniversaryGroup To Meet Tonight

Harry Rigby, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Kingston's 300th anniversary celebration issued a last minute reminder today asking for a large attendance tonight at the organization meeting to be held in the Governor Clinton Hotel at 8 o'clock. All interested persons, particularly representatives of organizations, should be present and become charter members of the anniversary group.

Rigby will officially turn the meeting and the Tercentenary organization over to Lawrence J. MacAvery, acting chairman of the incorporators, who will preside and ask for the report of the nominating committee and proceed with the election of 21 directors of Kingston's 300th anniversary, Inc. It is planned to hold a meeting of the new board as elected and name permanent officers and the executive committee for the celebration.

Rigby stated that much preliminary progress has been made as authorized by the Citizens Committee and that final plans for the celebration will soon be approved by the board of directors and the personnel of more committees named as rapidly as possible.

Foster Is Sworn

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—William C. Foster today became deputary secretary of defense. He was sworn in at a brief ceremony in the office of Defense Secretary Lovett. Foster was appointed to the defense post after serving as Marshall Plan administrator. During World War 2, he was director of purchases for the Army Service Forces and in 1946 was undersecretary of Commerce. In civilian life, Foster is president of the Pressed and Welded Steel Products Co., of Long Island, N. Y. He is a resident of Scarsdale, N. Y.

Wallace Denies Proposing Linkup Of Reds in China

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace says he did "not recommend any political coalition" between the warring Nationalist and Communist factions in China in 1944.

President Truman last night made public a letter from Wallace, together with the reports he prepared for the late President Roosevelt on his mission to China to recommend measures to strengthen her against the Japanese.

Wallace said it is not true that John Carter Vincent and Owen Lattimore, who accompanied him, "guided" the report along Communist party lines. Testimony that they did has been taken recently by the Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee.

Wallace's report, made public for the first time, said "There seems to be no alternative" to supporting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the Nationalist leader since driven out of China with his forces and now on Formosa.

But he added:

"Chiang, at best, is a short-term investment. It is not believed that he has the intelligence or political strength to run postwar China. The leaders of postwar China will be brought forward by evolution or revolution, and it now seems more likely the latter."

Would Clear Confusion

Wallace, the former vice president who ran unsuccessfully for the presidency in 1948 on the Progressive party ticket, told Mr. Truman he was writing to "clear up any confusion" as to what he tried to do in China and to dispute testimony that Vincent and Lattimore "were relied on by the (Communist) party leadership to 'guide' me along the party line."

He told Mr. Truman to use the documents in any way "which you deem will best minister to the welfare of the United States." The President sent them on to Vice President Barkley with a note that they "may be of interest to the Senate and its committees."

Barkley probably will turn them over to the Internal Security Subcommittee headed by Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.), currently hunting for subversive influences on U. S. Far Eastern policy.

The testimony Wallace disputed was given the subcommittee by Louis Budenz, former Communist now a professor at Fordham University. Budenz testified he had heard "in official Communist party circles" that Vincent and Lattimore were "members of the Communist party traveling with Wallace" and would guide him.

Vincent is a former chief of the State Department's Far Eastern division. He is now American representative at Tangier. Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins University professor, has been an occasional consultant for the State Department.

UN Says Kaesong

The UN officers objected to holding the meeting standing around on the road. By mutual agreement they jeeped into Kaesong.

Ridgway told the Reds Saturday he had instructed his liaison officers to give "careful consideration" to conditions for reopening the talks. He said he wanted to make sure there was some understanding first "in order to minimize the likelihood of further interruptions" caused by continual Red complaints of allied air and ground violations of the Kaesong neutral zone.

But the Communists said Monday their liaison officers lacked authority to handle the matter. They said the "appropriate machinery" should be set up at the first full dress meeting if and when resumed.

De Gasperi Says

independence, sovereignty and dignity of a nation."

The premier paid tribute to American aid to Europe.

"Without your generous contribution," he said, "Europe — at least most certainly the anti-communist front line of continental Europe — would already have collapsed."

Survey Your Rivals As You Start a Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please comment on the bidding of this hand," requests a reader of Port Huron, Mich. "We thought that both North and South were very enterprising and that East was unfortunate. There was a difference of opinion about West.

"Some of us thought that West should have passed from start to finish. One or two members of our club thought that West bid his hand correctly but that he was unlucky. A third opinion was that West should have kept on bidding.

"There was nothing to the play at four spades. South took the ace of diamonds and crossruffed diamonds and hearts. He had to lose a trump and two clubs, but nothing more. Even if West had opened a trump, South would have made his contract. Two rounds of trumps would cut down dummy's ruffing power, but the queen of hearts would set up in time for a diamond discard. There was just no way to beat four spades.

"What is your opinion about the bidding?"

It's very hard to say whether West should bid three hearts. He has fine distribution but miserable strength. It is probably all right for him to bid if East happens to have nothing much in spades; but it will probably turn out badly for

West if East, instead, has strang spades.

West cannot really be sure which is the case. If South is a sound bidder, the chances are that he has good spades and that East, consequently, cannot have too much in that suit. If South is a "sporting" bidder, East may have two or more natural spade tricks.

In most games I would bid with the West hand. In some games I would pass. It would depend on who the players were and what mood I thought they were in.

So far I have been rather vague, but the time has come to make a definite statement. If West does enter the bidding, he has to stay in it. He can't stand for a double of four spades—whether or not North redubles. West knows that he has to bid at the level of three on one queen and two jacks—a fact that East has no way of suspecting. West's hand is useful for offense but worthless for defense.

If West bids five diamonds, he will play the hand at either five diamonds or five hearts—doubled, of course. With normal play he will probably be set two tricks, which is far better than letting South make a redoubled game contract.

come tax records of Dalessio showing incomes of $5,425 in 1945, $3.900 in 1946 and $7,900 in 1947. The witness refused to say how he earned the income.

Paid $10,000 Cash

In the year 1945 when he listed his income as $5,425, Dalessio admitted he bought a house in Staten Island for $24,500, paying $10,000 in cash. Asked where he got this, he said, "I forget."

Meanwhile, the New York World Telegram and Sun said it had learned that the federal government, through the Post Office Department once lent $40,000 to help finance building a garage on property owned by John (Johnny Dee) Dalessio—another of Staten Island's three "Dee" brothers.

Michael Dalessio previously was threatened with a contempt citation if he continued his defiance.

Kosher Butchers May Close 3,400 Shops

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Kosher butchers, charging a huge black market by slaughterers and wholesalers, have threatened to close 3,400 shops in the New York metropolitan area.

The threat to close down unless relief comes from federal and local government agencies was made yesterday at a protest meeting of 600 retail butchers.

The butchers have shops in New York city, parts of Long Island and New Jersey. The meeting was called by the American Federation of Retail Kosher Butchers.

William Gorelick, secretary of the federation, said that forced tie-in sales, short-weighting and false invoicing are general in the wholesale trade and victimize both non-kosher and kosher retailers.

Man, 75, Is Hurt In Bike-Car Crash

Lewis Theil, 75, of Shokan, riding a whizzer bicycle, and a sedan owned and operated by Henry J. Werber, R. D. 4, Kingston, were in collision at Washington and Hurley avenues at 10:42 a. m., today.

Theil was taken to Kingston Hospital in a Conner ambulance, and reports said he suffered "mostly from shock."

The police report said the Werber car was turning left from Washington avenue into Hurley avenue when the bicycle, headed east on Washington avenue was in collision with the right rear fender of the car. Employes of the public works department were notified and removed the bicycle from the scene.

man, has been l t into these charges. He has ed he influenced the loans.

At the outset of today's hearings, Senator Nixon (R-Calif.) demanded that the senators ask Boyle to submit his income tax returns for study.

Nixon told reporters later he had heard that Boyle had received $100,000 from his former law partner, Max Siskind, as a payment for his (Boyle's) share of their former law business.

Siskind has handled American Lithofold business in Washington.

Nixon told his colleagues on the investigating committee that there should be a full exploration of financial dealings between Boyle and Siskind.

Nixon said "it becomes very important to see the income tax returns for 1949 and 1950 filed by both men."

Chairman Hoey (D-N.C.) said the subcommittee would consider Nixon's proposals at an afternoon closed meeting.

Hoey also said he expected to call Siskind as a witness tomorrow, and that Boyle might be heard on Wednesday.

The inquiry centers now on a $565,000 RFC loan to American Lithofold Corp., a St. Louis printing firm. Boyle, as a lawyer, was getting $500 a month from American Lithofold before taking the Democratic party chairmanship. He says he had nothing to do with the RFC loans.

Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), a subcommittee member, told reporters he believes it is plain that "the sale of political influence on RFC loans has become a thriving industry in Washington."

"Certainly it is a well practiced trade," he said.

Three Are Injured As Car Overturns

Three persons were injured when the automobile in which they were riding turned over on Route 32 one-half mile south of Tillson about 10:30 a. m. Saturday, the sheriff's office reported.

Taken to the office of Dr. Virgil DeWitt in New Paltz for treatment were Andrew Van Hooydonck, 69, and his wife, Nora, 58, both of Sussex, N. J., and Mrs. Hooydonck's sister, Katherine Nicholas, 47, of New York.

Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Identification Officer Arthur H. Brown reported the automobile was driven by Miss Gertrude P. Van Hooydonck, 26, of Sussex, who told them she lost control when the automobile skidded sideways, ran up a bank and turned over. Tillson Fire Department was summoned to extinguish a fire which broke out after the auto turned over. Volunteer firemen also assisted state police and sheriff's men in directing traffic.

23 Attend Third Basketball Drill

Woodstock, Sept. 24—Members of the Woodstock basketball teams and others trying out for this season's teams, attended the third strenuous practice at the Woodstock School Friday night under the guidance of Coach Walter Van Wagenen.

A total of 23 boys attended the practice. According to Van Wagenen, the following players are left from last year's varsity: Carl Van Wagenen, Gene Snyder, Bill Kleine, Billy Waterous, Ken Harder, Joe Holdridge, Jr. Two of last year's star players, Don West and Paul Van Wagenen, have already left for their respective colleges. The following boys from the Jayvees will fill the remaining positions: Herb Waterous, Carl Van Wagenen, Skip Meyhew, Dick Peters, Frank Becker, Joe Hilton and Richard Hilton.

The new boys trying out for the Jayvees are Jackie Gosman, Jim Hasbrouck, Werner Polack, Bobbie Kaiser, Ritchie Renninger, Willy Mellin, Teddy Wright and Allen Van Wagenen.

Van Wagenen expects to have a full squad of Varsity and Jayvees of 16 boys.

During Friday's practice, following a general workout, teams of three players rehearsed the fast "figure eight" play. "Get some wind and get some passes!" directed Van Wagenen.

Experienced members of the team went through the exercise swiftly and surely while the novices looked on. In turn the new members tried it, faltering at first, but after a few tries picked up surprising speed and ease. Trio after trio went through the routine, later progressing to "inside cuts," and many of the other intricate plays, which will all go towards the making of some fast and exciting basketball this season.

Mustaparta, safety engineer for Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen, and a special deputy sheriff for the past five years, topped a field of law enforcement officers from all the Hudson Valley, New York city and Long Island territory at a .38 calibre pistol competition during the FBI Law Enforcement Conference for this region. Local officials attending the conference were Special Agent Louis Hurley, FBI; Police Chief Raymond Van Buren of Kingston, Sheriff Schantz, Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, and Identification Officer Arthur H. Brown of the sheriff's office. Delegations from Ellenville and Saugerties village police attended.

Son Alters His Story About Death Of His Mother, 44

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—The collegian son of a blonde socialite changed his story today about his mother being an "heiress" who died of the effects of overdieting.

Mrs. Marian Peck Miles died late Saturday night at her 31-room Georgian mansion in fashionable Grosse Pointe Farms. She was 44.

Her son, Butler, 21, told newspapermen his mother had inherited about two-thirds of a $147,000,000 estate left in 1925 by her father, whom he identified as "Canadian financier Francis G. Peck."

He also reported that the purpuraic anemia, from which she died, was caused by overdieting against her doctors' orders.

But today, after no trace had been found of any Canadian fortune left to Mrs. Miles, the son said the facts had been misconstrued.

"Just call it a case of mistaken identity. She was not closely enough related to the man (Peck) to inherit any of his money," he said.

As to the amount of his mother's wealth, young Miles declared: "I doubt that she had much of anything."

The son's belated statements helped to clear an air of mystery that had surrounded the case since Mrs. Miles' condition became serious weeks ago.

Persons represented as doctors and nurses in the home had verified young Miles' original story. His father, Detroit architect Francis Allen Miles, was reported in seclusion today.

Young Miles said today that death was caused by purpuraic anemia—a weakening of the blood vessels. But he said the doctors had changed their original story that the anemia was caused by overdieting. The doctors were not available for comment.

A death certificate reporting the cause of death has not yet been filed.

AnniversaryGroup To Meet Tonight

Harry Rigby, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Kingston's 300th anniversary celebration issued a last minute reminder today asking for a large attendance tonight at the organization meeting to be held in the Governor Clinton Hotel at 8 o'clock. All interested persons, particularly representatives of organizations, should be present and become charter members of the anniversary group.

Rigby will officially turn the meeting and the Tercentenary organization over to Lawrence J. MacAvery, acting chairman of the incorporators, who will preside and ask for the report of the nominating committee and proceed with the election of 21 directors of Kingston's 300th anniversary, Inc. It is planned to hold a meeting of the new board as elected and name permanent officers and the executive committee for the celebration.

Rigby stated that much preliminary progress has been made as authorized by the Citizens Committee and that final plans for the celebration will soon be approved by the board of directors and the personnel of more committees named as rapidly as possible.

Foster Is Sworn

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—William C. Foster today became deputary secretary of defense. He was sworn in at a brief ceremony in the office of Defense Secretary Lovett. Foster was appointed to the defense post after serving as Marshall Plan administrator. During World War 2, he was director of purchases for the Army Service Forces and in 1946 was undersecretary of Commerce. In civilian life, Foster is president of the Pressed and Welded Steel Products Co., of Long Island, N. Y. He is a resident of Scarsdale, N. Y.

Wallace Denies Proposing Linkup Of Reds in China

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace says he did "not recommend any political coalition" between the warring Nationalist and Communist factions in China in 1944.

President Truman last night made public a letter from Wallace, together with the reports he prepared for the late President Roosevelt on his mission to China to recommend measures to strengthen her against the Japanese.

Wallace said it is not true that John Carter Vincent and Owen Lattimore, who accompanied him, "guided" the report along Communist party lines. Testimony that they did has been taken recently by the Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee.

Wallace's report, made public for the first time, said "There seems to be no alternative" to supporting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the Nationalist leader since driven out of China with his forces and now on Formosa.

But he added:

"Chiang, at best, is a short-term investment. It is not believed that he has the intelligence or political strength to run postwar China. The leaders of postwar China will be brought forward by evolution or revolution, and it now seems more likely the latter."

Would Clear Confusion

Wallace, the former vice president who ran unsuccessfully for the presidency in 1948 on the Progressive party ticket, told Mr. Truman he was writing to "clear up any confusion" as to what he tried to do in China and to dispute testimony that Vincent and Lattimore "were relied on by the (Communist) party leadership to 'guide' me along the party line."

He told Mr. Truman to use the documents in any way "which you deem will best minister to the welfare of the United States." The President sent them on to Vice President Barkley with a note that they "may be of interest to the Senate and its committees."

Barkley probably will turn them over to the Internal Security Subcommittee headed by Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.), currently hunting for subversive influences on U. S. Far Eastern policy.

The testimony Wallace disputed was given the subcommittee by Louis Budenz, former Communist now a professor at Fordham University. Budenz testified he had heard "in official Communist party circles" that Vincent and Lattimore were "members of the Communist party traveling with Wallace" and would guide him.

Vincent is a former chief of the State Department's Far Eastern division. He is now American representative at Tangier. Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins University professor, has been an occasional consultant for the State Department.

UN Says Kaesong

The UN officers objected to holding the meeting standing around on the road. By mutual agreement they jeeped into Kaesong.

Ridgway told the Reds Saturday he had instructed his liaison officers to give "careful consideration" to conditions for reopening the talks. He said he wanted to make sure there was some understanding first "in order to minimize the likelihood of further interruptions" caused by continual Red complaints of allied air and ground violations of the Kaesong neutral zone.

But the Communists said Monday their liaison officers lacked authority to handle the matter. They said the "appropriate machinery" should be set up at the first full dress meeting if and when resumed.

"Without your generous contribution," he said, "Europe — at least most certainly the anti-communist front line of continental Europe — would already have collapsed."

Survey Your Rivals As You Start a Bid

"Please comment on the bidding of this hand," requests a reader of Port Huron, Mich. "We thought that both North and South were very enterprising and that East was unfortunate. There was a difference of opinion about West.

"Some of us thought that West should have passed from start to finish. One or two members of our club thought that West bid his hand correctly but that he was unlucky. A third opinion was that West should have kept on bidding.

"There was nothing to the play at four spades. South took the ace of diamonds and crossruffed diamonds and hearts. He had to lose a trump and two clubs, but nothing more. Even if West had opened a trump, South would have made his contract. Two rounds of trumps would cut down dummy's ruffing power, but the queen of hearts would set up in time for a diamond discard. There was just no way to beat four spades.

"What is your opinion about the bidding?"

It's very hard to say whether West should bid three hearts. He has fine distribution but miserable strength. It is probably all right for him to bid if East happens to have nothing much in spades; but it will probably turn out badly for

West if East, instead, has strang spades.

West cannot really be sure which is the case. If South is a sound bidder, the chances are that he has good spades and that East, consequently, cannot have too much in that suit. If South is a "sporting" bidder, East may have two or more natural spade tricks.

In most games I would bid with the West hand. In some games I would pass. It would depend on who the players were and what mood I thought they were in.

So far I have been rather vague, but the time has come to make a definite statement. If West does enter the bidding, he has to stay in it. He can't stand for a double of four spades—whether or not North redubles. West knows that he has to bid at the level of three on one queen and two jacks—a fact that East has no way of suspecting. West's hand is useful for offense but worthless for defense.

If West bids five diamonds, he will play the hand at either five diamonds or five hearts—doubled, of course. With normal play he will probably be set two tricks, which is far better than letting South make a redoubled game contract.

Paid $10,000 Cash

In the year 1945 when he listed his income as $5,425, Dalessio admitted he bought a house in Staten Island for $24,500, paying $10,000 in cash. Asked where he got this, he said, "I forget."

Meanwhile, the New York World Telegram and Sun said it had learned that the federal government, through the Post Office Department once lent $40,000 to help finance building a garage on property owned by John (Johnny Dee) Dalessio—another of Staten Island's three "Dee" brothers.

Michael Dalessio previously was threatened with a contempt citation if he continued his defiance.

Kosher Butchers May Close 3,400 Shops

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Kosher butchers, charging a huge black market by slaughterers and wholesalers, have threatened to close 3,400 shops in the New York metropolitan area.

The threat to close down unless relief comes from federal and local government agencies was made yesterday at a protest meeting of 600 retail butchers.

The butchers have shops in New York city, parts of Long Island and New Jersey. The meeting was called by the American Federation of Retail Kosher Butchers.

William Gorelick, secretary of the federation, said that forced tie-in sales, short-weighting and false invoicing are general in the wholesale trade and victimize both non-kosher and kosher retailers.

Man, 75, Is Hurt In Bike-Car Crash

Lewis Theil, 75, of Shokan, riding a whizzer bicycle, and a sedan owned and operated by Henry J. Werber, R. D. 4, Kingston, were in collision at Washington and Hurley avenues at 10:42 a. m., today.

Theil was taken to Kingston Hospital in a Conner ambulance, and reports said he suffered "mostly from shock."

The police report said the Werber car was turning left from Washington avenue into Hurley avenue when the bicycle, headed east on Washington avenue was in collision with the right rear fender of the car. Employes of the public works department were notified and removed the bicycle from the scene.

man, has been t t into these charges. He has ed he influenced the loans.

At the outset of today's hearings, Senator Nixon (R-Calif.) demanded that the senators ask Boyle to submit his income tax returns for study.

Nixon told reporters later he had heard that Boyle had received $100,000 from his former law partner, Max Siskind, as a payment for his (Boyle's) share of their former law business.

Siskind has handled American Lithofold business in Washington.

Nixon told his colleagues on the investigating committee that there should be a full exploration of financial dealings between Boyle and Siskind.

Nixon said "it becomes very important to see the income tax returns for 1949 and 1950 filed by both men."

Chairman Hoey (D-N.C.) said the subcommittee would consider Nixon's proposals at an afternoon closed meeting.

Hoey also said he expected to call Siskind as a witness tomorrow, and that Boyle might be heard on Wednesday.

The inquiry centers now on a $565,000 RFC loan to American Lithofold Corp., a St. Louis printing firm. Boyle, as a lawyer, was getting $500 a month from American Lithofold before taking the Democratic party chairmanship. He says he had nothing to do with the RFC loans.

Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), a subcommittee member, told reporters he believes it is plain that "the sale of political influence on RFC loans has become a thriving industry in Washington."

"Certainly it is a well practiced trade," he said.

Three Are Injured As Car Overturns

Three persons were injured when the automobile in which they were riding turned over on Route 32 one-half mile south of Tillson about 10:30 a. m. Saturday, the sheriff's office reported.

Taken to the office of Dr. Virgil DeWitt in New Paltz for treatment were Andrew Van Hooydonck, 69, and his wife, Nora, 58, both of Sussex, N. J., and Mrs. Hooydonck's sister, Katherine Nicholas, 47, of New York.

Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Identification Officer Arthur H. Brown reported the automobile was driven by Miss Gertrude P. Van Hooydonck, 26, of Sussex, who told them she lost control when the automobile skidded sideways, ran up a bank and turned over. Tillson Fire Department was summoned to extinguish a fire which broke out after the auto turned over. Volunteer firemen also assisted state police and sheriff's men in directing traffic.

23 Attend Third Basketball Drill

Woodstock, Sept. 24—Members of the Woodstock basketball teams and others trying out for this season's teams, attended the third strenuous practice at the Woodstock School Friday night under the guidance of Coach Walter Van Wagenen.

A total of 23 boys attended the practice. According to Van Wagenen, the following players are left from last year's varsity: Carl Van Wagenen, Gene Snyder, Bill Kleine, Billy Waterous, Ken Harder, Joe Holdridge, Jr. Two of last year's star players, Don West and Paul Van Wagenen, have already left for their respective colleges. The following boys from the Jayvees will fill the remaining positions: Herb Waterous, Carl Van Wagenen, Skip Meyhew, Dick Peters, Frank Becker, Joe Hilton and Richard Hilton.

The new boys trying out for the Jayvees are Jackie Gosman, Jim Hasbrouck, Werner Polack, Bobbie Kaiser, Ritchie Renninger, Willy Mellin, Teddy Wright and Allen Van Wagenen.

Van Wagenen expects to have a full squad of Varsity and Jayvees of 16 boys.

During Friday's practice, following a general workout, teams of three players rehearsed the fast "figure eight" play. "Get some wind and get some passes!" directed Van Wagenen.

Experienced members of the team went through the exercise swiftly and surely while the novices looked on. In turn the new members tried it, faltering at first, but after a few tries picked up surprising speed and ease. Trio after trio went through the routine, later progressing to "inside cuts," and many of the other intricate plays, which will all go towards the making of some fast and exciting basketball this season.

Son Alters His Story About Death Of His Mother, 44

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—The collegian son of a blonde socialite changed his story today about his mother being an "heiress" who died of the effects of overdieting.

Mrs. Marian Peck Miles died late Saturday night at her 31-room Georgian mansion in fashionable Grosse Pointe Farms. She was 44.

Her son, Butler, 21, told newspapermen his mother had inherited about two-thirds of a $147,000,000 estate left in 1925 by her father, whom he identified as "Canadian financier Francis G. Peck."

He also reported that the purpuraic anemia, from which she died, was caused by overdieting against her doctors' orders.

But today, after no trace had been found of any Canadian fortune left to Mrs. Miles, the son said the facts had been misconstrued.

"Just call it a case of mistaken identity. She was not closely enough related to the man (Peck) to inherit any of his money," he said.

As to the amount of his mother's wealth, young Miles declared: "I doubt that she had much of anything."

The son's belated statements helped to clear an air of mystery that had surrounded the case since Mrs. Miles' condition became serious weeks ago.

Persons represented as doctors and nurses in the home had verified young Miles' original story. His father, Detroit architect Francis Allen Miles, was reported in seclusion today.

Young Miles said today that death was caused by purpuraic anemia—a weakening of the blood vessels. But he said the doctors had changed their original story that the anemia was caused by overdieting. The doctors were not available for comment.

A death certificate reporting the cause of death has not yet been filed.

Wallace Denies Proposing Linkup Of Reds in China

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace says he did "not recommend any political coalition" between the warring Nationalist and Communist factions in China in 1944.

President Truman last night made public a letter from Wallace, together with the reports he prepared for the late President Roosevelt on his mission to China to recommend measures to strengthen her against the Japanese.

Wallace said it is not true that John Carter Vincent and Owen Lattimore, who accompanied him, "guided" the report along Communist party lines. Testimony that they did has been taken recently by the Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee.

Wallace's report, made public for the first time, said "There seems to be no alternative" to supporting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the Nationalist leader since driven out of China with his forces and now on Formosa.

But he added:

"Chiang, at best, is a short-term investment. It is not believed that he has the intelligence or political strength to run postwar China. The leaders of postwar China will be brought forward by evolution or revolution, and it now seems more likely the latter."

Would Clear Confusion

Wallace, the former vice president who ran unsuccessfully for the presidency in 1948 on the Progressive party ticket, told Mr. Truman he was writing to "clear up any confusion" as to what he tried to do in China and to dispute testimony that Vincent and Lattimore "were relied on by the (Communist) party leadership to 'guide' me along the party line."

He told Mr. Truman to use the documents in any way "which you deem will best minister to the welfare of the United States." The President sent them on to Vice President Barkley with a note that they "may be of interest to the Senate and its committees."

Barkley probably will turn them over to the Internal Security Subcommittee headed by Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.), currently hunting for subversive influences on U. S. Far Eastern policy.

The testimony Wallace disputed was given the subcommittee by Louis Budenz, former Communist now a professor at Fordham University. Budenz testified he had heard "in official Communist party circles" that Vincent and Lattimore were "members of the Communist party traveling with Wallace" and would guide him.

Vincent is a former chief of the State Department's Far Eastern division. He is now American representative at Tangier. Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins University professor, has been an occasional consultant for the State Department.

UN Says Kaesong

The UN officers objected to holding the meeting standing around on the road. By mutual agreement they jeeped into Kaesong.

Ridgway told the Reds Saturday he had instructed his liaison officers to give "careful consideration" to conditions for reopening the talks. He said he wanted to make sure there was some understanding first "in order to minimize the likelihood of further interruptions" caused by continual Red complaints of allied air and ground violations of the Kaesong neutral zone.

But the Communists said Monday their liaison officers lacked authority to handle the matter. They said the "appropriate machinery" should be set up at the first full dress meeting if and when resumed.

The premier paid tribute to American aid to Europe.

"Without your generous contribution," he said, "Europe — at least most certainly the anti-communist front line of continental Europe — would already have collapsed."

Survey Your Rivals As You Start a Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please comment on the bidding of this hand," requests a reader of Port Huron, Mich. "We thought that both North and South were very enterprising and that East was unfortunate. There was a difference of opinion about West.

"Some of us thought that West should have passed from start to finish. One or two members of our club thought that West bid his hand correctly but that he was unlucky. A third opinion was that West should have kept on bidding.

"There was nothing to the play at four spades. South took the ace of diamonds and crossruffed diamonds and hearts. He had to lose a trump and two clubs, but nothing more. Even if West had opened a trump, South would have made his contract. Two rounds of trumps would cut down dummy's ruffing power, but the queen of hearts would set up in time for a diamond discard. There was just no way to beat four spades.

"What is your opinion about the bidding?"

It's very hard to say whether West should bid three hearts. He has fine distribution but miserable strength. It is probably all right for him to bid if East happens to have nothing much in spades; but it will probably turn out badly for

West if East, instead, has strang spades.

West cannot really be sure which is the case. If South is a sound bidder, the chances are that he has good spades and that East, consequently, cannot have too much in that suit. If South is a "sporting" bidder, East may have two or more natural spade tricks.

In most games I would bid with the West hand. In some games I would pass. It would depend on who the players were and what mood I thought they were in.

So far I have been rather vague, but the time has come to make a definite statement. If West does enter the bidding, he has to stay in it. He can't stand for a double of four spades—whether or not North redubles. West knows that he has to bid at the level of three on one queen and two jacks—a fact that East has no way of suspecting. West's hand is useful for offense but worthless for defense.

If West bids five diamonds, he will play the hand at either five diamonds or five hearts—doubled, of course. With normal play he will probably be set two tricks, which is far better than letting South make a redoubled game contract.

come tax records of Dalessio showing incomes of $5,425 in 1945, $3.900 in 1946 and $7,900 in 1947. The witness refused to say how he earned the income.

Paid $10,000 Cash

In the year 1945 when he listed his income as $5,425, Dalessio admitted he bought a house in Staten Island for $24,500, paying $10,000 in cash. Asked where he got this, he said, "I forget."

Meanwhile, the New York World Telegram and Sun said it had learned that the federal government, through the Post Office Department once lent $40,000 to help finance building a garage on property owned by John (Johnny Dee) Dalessio—another of Staten Island's three "Dee" brothers.

Michael Dalessio previously was threatened with a contempt citation if he continued his defiance.

Kosher Butchers May Close 3,400 Shops

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Kosher butchers, charging a huge black market by slaughterers and wholesalers, have threatened to close 3,400 shops in the New York metropolitan area.

The threat to close down unless relief comes from federal and local government agencies was made yesterday at a protest meeting of 600 retail butchers.

The butchers have shops in New York city, parts of Long Island and New Jersey. The meeting was called by the American Federation of Retail Kosher Butchers.

William Gorelick, secretary of the federation, said that forced tie-in sales, short-weighting and false invoicing are general in the wholesale trade and victimize both non-kosher and kosher retailers.

Man, 75, Is Hurt In Bike-Car Crash

Lewis Theil, 75, of Shokan, riding a whizzer bicycle, and a sedan owned and operated by Henry J. Werber, R. D. 4, Kingston, were in collision at Washington and Hurley avenues at 10:42 a. m., today.

Theil was taken to Kingston Hospital in a Conner ambulance, and reports said he suffered "mostly from shock."

The police report said the Werber car was turning left from Washington avenue into Hurley avenue when the bicycle, headed east on Washington avenue was in collision with the right rear fender of the car. Employes of the public works department were notified and removed the bicycle from the scene.

Moling Tells

man, has been l t into these charges. He has ed he influenced the loans.

At the outset of today's hearings, Senator Nixon (R-Calif.) demanded that the senators ask Boyle to submit his income tax returns for study.

Nixon told reporters later he had heard that Boyle had received $100,000 from his former law partner, Max Siskind, as a payment for his (Boyle's) share of their former law business.

Siskind has handled American Lithofold business in Washington.

Nixon told his colleagues on the investigating committee that there should be a full exploration of financial dealings between Boyle and Siskind.

Nixon said "it becomes very important to see the income tax returns for 1949 and 1950 filed by both men."

Chairman Hoey (D-N.C.) said the subcommittee would consider Nixon's proposals at an afternoon closed meeting.

Hoey also said he expected to call Siskind as a witness tomorrow, and that Boyle might be heard on Wednesday.

The inquiry centers now on a $565,000 RFC loan to American Lithofold Corp., a St. Louis printing firm. Boyle, as a lawyer, was getting $500 a month from American Lithofold before taking the Democratic party chairmanship. He says he had nothing to do with the RFC loans.

Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), a subcommittee member, told reporters he believes it is plain that "the sale of political influence on RFC loans has become a thriving industry in Washington."

"Certainly it is a well practiced trade," he said.

Three Are Injured As Car Overturns

Three persons were injured when the automobile in which they were riding turned over on Route 32 one-half mile south of Tillson about 10:30 a. m. Saturday, the sheriff's office reported.

Taken to the office of Dr. Virgil DeWitt in New Paltz for treatment were Andrew Van Hooydonck, 69, and his wife, Nora, 58, both of Sussex, N. J., and Mrs. Hooydonck's sister, Katherine Nicholas, 47, of New York.

Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Identification Officer Arthur H. Brown reported the automobile was driven by Miss Gertrude P. Van Hooydonck, 26, of Sussex, who told them she lost control when the automobile skidded sideways, ran up a bank and turned over. Tillson Fire Department was summoned to extinguish a fire which broke out after the auto turned over. Volunteer firemen also assisted state police and sheriff's men in directing traffic.

New Air Show Policy

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—The government will not permit air shows or exhibitions from now on unless they contribute to the advancement of aviation and public confidence in it. The Civil Aeronautics Administration, announcing a new policy yesterday, said it will not sanction aerial acrobatics not under direct radio control; delayed parachute jumping; dog fighting; intentional aircraft crashes; and similar hazardous operations.

Six Groups Seek Answers to Blast

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP) — Six organizations are seeking answers to three questions in relation to the natural gas explosions that took three lives when they ripped suburban Brighton Friday.

Investigators want to know the full answers to the questions: what caused the blasts? What is the total loss? What safety measures can be taken to prevent a similar disaster in the future?

Partial answers have been supplied by Alexander M. Beebee, president of the Rochester Gas & Electric Corp., city and town officials who estimated damages.

Beebee says the blasts apparently were caused when a mixture of gas in a regulator valve vault was ignited by a workman's warning lantern. He said the valves ceased to function allowing the pressure to increase and sending a flow of gas into homes where it was touched off by various means.

The loss total has been estimated at $440,000 to just the 16 homes that were destroyed. Damage to 24 other houses from explosions or fires will hike the total considerably. The total may come close to a million dollar loss.

Safety steps have already been taken by the R.G&E. Beebee says "special protective devices" are being installed in all gas-served homes in the area although this is not general practice in low pressure areas such as the Brighton suburb.

Two children died when their home exploded. They were Mary Anne Maas, 8, and William Maas, 3rd, 4. The third fatality was Mrs. Louis Meyer, 77, who suffered a heart attack as she was being removed from her home.

Organizations seeking more facts and figures are:

The gas company, headed by Beebee.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The State Public Service Commission.

The Monroe county district attorney's office.

The Brighton town board.

Except for the gas company, none of the investigators has made a report for publication.

One scheduled probe was cancelled last night. Monroe county Coroner Dr. Richard A. Leonardo, called off an inquest he had slated for Saturday in favor of the district attorney's investigation.

Fed Infant Beer

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP)—Officers hope to learn today if a year-old baby died because a beer-drinking teen-ager fed it half a bottle of brew. The child, Leslie Fletcher, died Saturday night. A 17-year-old boy was placed in jail without charge after he told Detective Capt. Will Fritz that he gave the infant boy the beer—then tried to revive it with orange soda pop.

The regulation state course of 11 sessions, including the latest training films, will begin Tuesday, Oct. 9, and continue each Tuesday night. Subjects will include, duties of auxiliary police, the New York state vehicle and traffic law, fires and accidents, aerial, incendiary and atomic bombs, prevention of sabotage and other associated subjects.

There is still need for more auxiliary policemen and volunteers are urged to sign up at the defense office in the city hall Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in order to be eligible for this outstanding course.

Congress to Hear Acheson

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson reports to Congress this week on the Ottawa conference amid signs of some opposition to admitting Greece and Turkey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) said Acheson will brief the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, probably early in the week, on his meeting with fellow North Atlantic Council members.

Man Killed at Red Hook

Red Hook, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Wallace D. Paynter, 23-year-old army private, was killed yesterday when a car in which he was a passenger plunged off the Rock City-Rhinebeck highway. Paynter's brother, Edward, 28, suffered a broken leg and internal injuries. They had been visiting her parents' home here. Paynter, on furlough from Camp Polk, La., was to have returned to camp today.

Six Groups Seek Answers to Blast

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP) — Six organizations are seeking answers to three questions in relation to the natural gas explosions that took three lives when they ripped suburban Brighton Friday.

Investigators want to know the full answers to the questions: what caused the blasts? What is the total loss? What safety measures can be taken to prevent a similar disaster in the future?

Partial answers have been supplied by Alexander M. Beebee, president of the Rochester Gas & Electric Corp., city and town officials who estimated damages.

Beebee says the blasts apparently were caused when a mixture of gas in a regulator valve vault was ignited by a workman's warning lantern. He said the valves ceased to function allowing the pressure to increase and sending a flow of gas into homes where it was touched off by various means.

The loss total has been estimated at $440,000 to just the 16 homes that were destroyed. Damage to 24 other houses from explosions or fires will hike the total considerably. The total may come close to a million dollar loss.

Safety steps have already been taken by the RG&E. Beebee says "special protective devices" are being installed in all gas-served homes in the area although this is not general practice in low pressure areas such as the Brighton suburb.

Two children died when their home exploded. They were Mary Anne Maas, 8, and William Maas, 3rd, 4. The third fatality was Mrs. Louis Meyer, 77, who suffered a heart attack as she was being removed from her home.

Organizations seeking more facts and figures are:

The U. S. Bureau of Mines.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The State Public Service Commission.

The Monroe county district attorney's office.

The Brighton town board.

Except for the gas company, none of the investigators has made a report for publication.

One scheduled probe was cancelled last night. Monroe county Coroner Dr. Richard A. Leonardo, called off an inquest he had slated for Saturday in favor of the district attorney's investigation.

Fed Infant Beer

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP)—Officers hope to learn today if a year-old baby died because a beer-drinking teen-ager fed it half a bottle of brew. The child, Leslie Fletcher, died Saturday night. A 17-year-old boy was placed in jail without charge after he told Detective Capt. Will Fritz that he gave the infant boy the beer—then tried to revive it with orange soda pop.

Defense School Starts October 9

Sherwood E. Davis, director of Civil Defense in Kingston, announced today that the state police will again conduct the regulation Defense School for auxiliary police of the city of Kingston.

The instructors will be headed by Lt. W. F. Driscoll, who arranged for the course in cooperation with Chief of Police Raymond A. Van Buren of the Kingston Police Department.

The regulation state course of 11 sessions, including the latest training films, will begin Tuesday, Oct. 9, and continue each Tuesday night. Subjects will include, duties of auxiliary police, the New York state vehicle and traffic law, fires and accidents, aerial, incendiary and atomic bombs, prevention of sabotage and other associated subjects.

There is still need for more auxiliary policemen and volunteers are urged to sign up at the defense office in the city hall Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in order to be eligible for this outstanding course.

Congress to Hear Acheson

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson reports to Congress this week on the Ottawa conference amid signs of some opposition to admitting Greece and Turkey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) said Acheson will brief the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, probably early in the week, on his meeting with fellow North Atlantic Council members.

Man Killed at Red Hook

Red Hook, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Wallace D. Paynter, 23-year-old army private, was killed yesterday when a car in which he was a passenger plunged off the Rock City-Rhinebeck highway. Paynter's brother, Edward, 28, suffered a broken leg and internal injuries. They had been visiting her parents' home here. Paynter, on furlough from Camp Polk, La., was to have returned to camp today.
